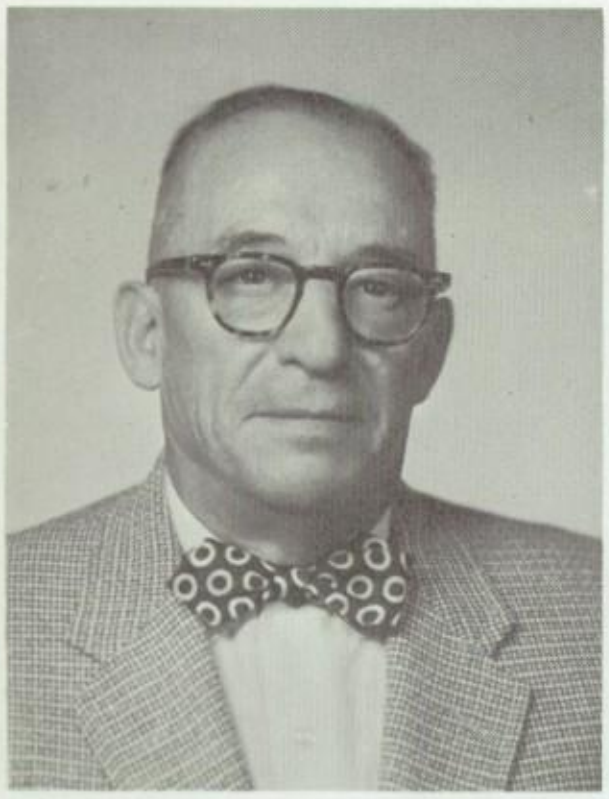
Two Deserving, Retiring Teachers Receiv



Mr. and Mrs. Marineau have two boys, both of whom were outstanding athletes. Tom, the elder, graduated from OSU where he also obtained his Masters Degree and is now Teaching Principal at Linnton Elementary School. Nick, the younger son, also attended OSU and graduated from the Oregon Dental School and now practices dentistry in Portland.

Fred Marineau was born in Mason, Wisconsin in 1897. He attended high school at Couer d'Alene, Idaho, where he played in all four sports and had the honor of being elected captain of three major sports in his senior year.

After high school he served in the Army during World War I, much of which was overseas with the 146th Field Artillery. When once more a civilian he attended the University of Idaho, where he played basketball, baseball and was assistant frosh coach during his junior and senior years. His graduate work was done at the University of Oregon.

Mr. Marineau's history is one of championship teams and long stays wherever he coached. He began his career in Weiser, Idaho, and was also at Rupert and Nampa, Idaho, where he had two state titles. He came to Portland in 1936 and was assigned to Benson as Head Coach in three major sports. Fred's best team of that period was the 1940 football team which tied Jeff and Grant for the City Championship.

In 1941 Mr. Marineau served in World War II entering as a Captain of the 32nd Special Service Company attached to the 9th Air Force in England. After D-Day he went to France with his company and transferred to Athletic Division General Headquarters in Paris. He was promoted to Major in charge of all requisitioning and distributing of athletic equipment to troops in the European Theatre of Operation.

After being released from the Army again, he returned to Benson as track coach, Director of Athletics, and physical education instructor.

Mr. Marineau was a regular contributor to the Coaching Journal magazine and invented a jumping and vaulting standard now used throughout the Portland school system. He had a part in bringing about many improvements in the P.E. department, including a revision of the plan for teaching health on a half-year everyday basis, the installation of the fold-a-way bleacher seats in the gymnasium, and the addition of young instructors who are efficient and energetic.

In 1957, Mr. Marineau transferred to Madison High School and has been very happy there in his assignment as Physical Education Director. Upon retirement he expects to do a lot of fishing and hunting.

Husky Mr. Marineau takes time out for a picture during his busy basketball career with the Idaho Vandals.

Dressed in his best suit with his hair slicked down, "Lefty" poses for a picture in his early teens.

Dedication From Federalist Staff

Mrs. Marjorie McDonald has had many great achievements; she not only taught Russian, but she also taught Latin in 1921. In 1924 when Mrs. McDonald returned to Portland she was asked to substitute at Washington, where she stayed for 33 years. Until 1944 Mrs. McDonald taught only shorthand and typing. If Mrs. McDonald's deeds in the past are any indication of future accomplishments she may well become another Michelangelo.

An interesting and unusual teaching career of 43 years ends this June with the retirement of Mrs. Marjorie McDonald, Madison's Russian language teacher.

Born Marjorie Campbell in Akron, Indiana, 65 years ago, Mrs. McDonald came to Portland with her parents in 1912 and has lived in the house they purchased ever since then. The house may seem large for one person now but she had five brothers and sisters.

In 1915 Mrs. McDonald entered Reed College. She spent three years at Reed but graduated from the University of Oregon in 1919 with a B.A. in English. During this senior year she was interscholastic women's singles tennis champion.

The year 1943 was a turning point in Mrs. McDonald's life in more than one way. In February of that year, Mrs. McDonald and her husband heard a speaker on Russia and were so enthralled that they decided to study the language, hoping to visit the U.S.S.R. someday. But in July of the same year Mr. McDonald died suddenly.

But Mrs. McDonald did continue study and in September, 1943, she was hired by the Soviet government to teach some of the 300 members of the Russian Trade Commission to speak English. In 1944 with the beginning of a Russian class at Washington Mrs. McDonald became the first high school Russian teacher in the United States.

In 1949 Mrs. McDonald took a pshychological test offered her by a friend, the results: "You think the door is locked but it is only closed." Mrs. McDonald opened this door and began to travel. The same year she went to Australia. In 1954 she took a leave of absence and studied at the University of London and in 1959 she made her first trip to Russia.

These are past experiences. What will be her future ones? Plans include a final trip to Russia. Substitute teaching is a possibility. During the past few years Mrs. McDonald has begun painting. Sometimes she copies works and sometimes she does her own creative work. Return to art school is in her plans.

Margie was only six months old when this picture was taken on a barreled chair with tassels, a family favorite.

At eighteen Mrs. McDonald was a fashionable miss decked out in her Easter best. She is shown with an armful of roses from her family's garden.

Responsibility In Action

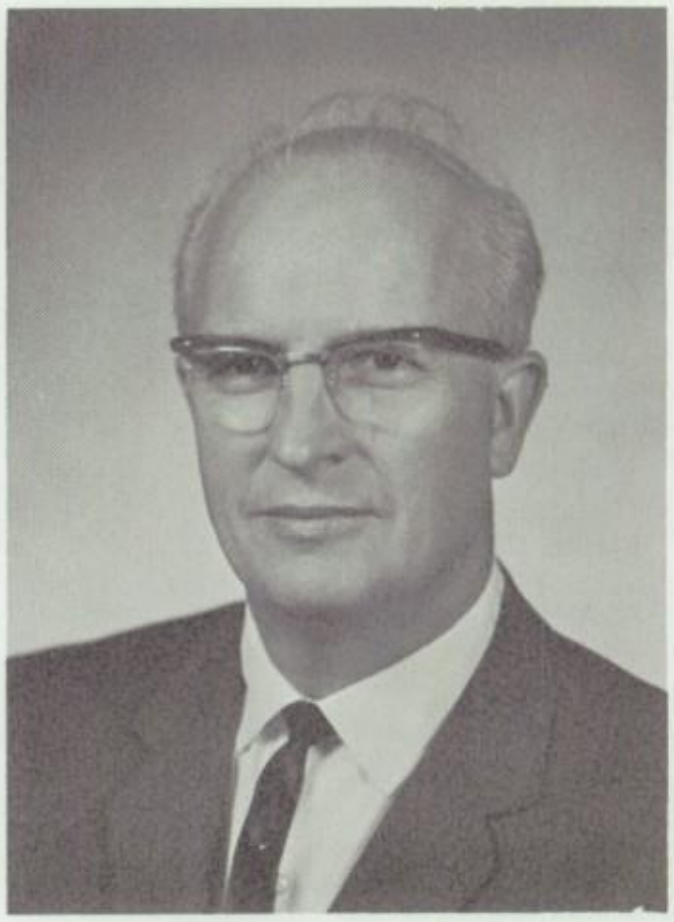
When asked the question, "How do you like being principal so far?" his quick reply was, "Love it! It's a real challenge.

"The biggest problem facing us at the present time is the matter of planning a schedule for an anticipated increase in enrollment. There is a room shortage now, but by next year the situation may become critical. We are studying various approaches to see which would best meet our needs."

Mr. Erickson is pleased with the progress of the student-participation program as organized by the executive council, and hopes to see continued progress toward developing the slogan, "Responsibility in Action."

He feels that a highly competent faculty continues to do an outstanding job in meeting the educational needs of our pupils. The constant development of new courses, procedures, and techniques on the part of the faculty is indicative of the added interest and effort being provided for the best possible academic program.

For these and many other reasons, Mr. Erickson considers it a real challenge to have a part in the work at Madison High School.



Mr. Walter E. Erickson

Mr. Erickson, a principal enjoyed by all, is seen here by our yearbook photographer talking about one of his many favorite pictures hanging in his office.

Living up to the slogan, "Responsibility in Action" takes many hours of hard work. Much of Mr. Erickson's time is taken up in paper work.

3 Administrators Aid New Principal

Since Madison's beginning in 1957, the school has benefitted greatly by the presence of Miss Georgia Dean, our energetic administrative vice principal. Her heavy schedule includes the guidance and counseling program, the keeping of the school master calendar, assignment of dates for school activities and the preparation and distribution of the weekly calendar. In addition, hers is the responsibility of the club social recreation program and close work with the social recreation adviser in reference to all student club activities.

The advancement of Madison's Girls' League has been furthered greatly by the assistance of Miss Dean. Also included among her many duties is the task of advising the P.T.A., Junior Achievement and the Junior Red Cross. Indeed, Madison is greatly dependent upon the time, effort, and guidance of this amiable member of our administration.

New on the administrative staff this year is Mr. Cyril Butterfield. As Vice-Principal and dean of boys, one of his more obvious duties concerns problems of the boys. However, his job consists of much more than this. Among other things, he is supervisor of all drives, ticket sales, collection of book rentals, and student body card sales. He also supervises all sports banquets, opening football games, and other athletic contests.

It was Mr. Butterfield that called all fire and air raid drills, as well as locker checks. The 40 year old ex-assistant Supervisor of Personnel, is also advisor to both the Boys' League and Dads' Club. The organization of graduation depends upon Mr. Butterfield. These were just some of the many responsibilities of the 5'9" newcomer who was born in Illinois in 1923.

Mrs. Sue Bushnell, finishing her third year as Curriculum Vice Principal, has two main areas of responsibility: curriculum and supervision. Mrs. Bushnell organizes and works with the Madison High School Curriculum Council. She also works toward implementation and the continuing improvement and evaluation of the school's curriculum. She submits all book orders and is responsible for the curriculum materials with which student and teachers work. This includes library and bookroom materials.

Under supervision Mrs. Bushnell works with probationary, student, and substitute teachers. Mrs. Bushnell organizes the many new courses that are offered at Madison.

9 Counselors Guide 4 Classes

Mr. James V. Blake
Freshman Boys' Counselor

Mrs. Delpha Hammerle
Freshman Girls' Counselor

Mrs. Margaret Holland
Assistant Counselor

Mrs. Delpha Hammerle is counseling the majority of the freshmen girls for the first year and is enjoying it. She shares the job with Mrs. Margaret Holland. Mr. James Blake is the freshmen boys counselor.

Mr. Allen Widestrom

Miss Gwen Kohns

Miss Gwen Kohns counsels about three-fourths of the sophomore girls and Mrs. Margaret Holland counsels about one-fourth of the girls. Mr. Allan Widestrom is the sophomore boys counselors.

Mr. Roger Mockford
Junior Boys' Counselor

Mrs. Amelia Auld
Junior Girls' Counselor

Mrs. Amelia Auld and Mr. Roger Mockford, junior class counselors, have helped this class plan and successfully carry out many activities. Among these are three class parties and the spring formal.

Mrs. Charlotte Winter and Mr. Duane Fiskum have guided the senior class through four years at Madison and saw them graduate on June 12th. The class of '63 has received advice and guidance from their counselors that will be useful for many years.

Mr. Duane Fiskum
Senior Boys' Counselor

Mrs. Charlotte Winter
Senior Girls' Counselor

Counselors Busy On The Job

Counseling a student body of 2436 students is not an easy job. These nine teachers spend from three to six periods a day plus many hours before and after school guiding Solon students. Their time and effort is greatly appreciated.

When it's time for forecasting Mr. Allen Widestrom is always busy. He is pictured here discussing a sophomore boy's schedule with the Dean of Boys, Mr. Cyril Butterfield.

Mrs. Amelia Auld is often seen checking the plans for the day with the counseling area's secretary, Mrs. Doyne McKinney.

Mr. Duane Fiskum and Mr. Roger Mockford occasionally find time in their busy schedule to rest for a minute and talk.

Mrs. Charlotte Winter is shown here as she is often seen . . . giving counsel to one of the senior girls.

Six Secretaries Aid Administration

Miss Marguerite Sykes

Mrs. Sharon McCourt

Mrs. Bethel Edmon

Mrs. Shirley Lombard

Mrs. Roberta Shoop

Mrs. Doyne McKinney

Head secretary Miss Sykes leads a very busy schedule. She is personal secretary to Mr. Walter E. Erickson, school principal. Also she takes full responsibility of keeping the office running smoothly. Mrs. McCourt waits on the counter, takes care of the cut slips and tardies, and all emergency excuses. Mrs. Edmon checks the attendance records and waits on the counter. Mrs. Lombard is personal secretary to the vice-principals, checks the attendance records, and waits on the counter. Mrs. Shoop answers incoming calls, does all filing, waits on the counter, sorts the mail and does all photostat work. Mrs. McKinney does all of the clerical typing, filing, and is personal secretary for all of the counselors.

Librarians Offer Services

Librarians Mrs. Constance Wickwire, Mrs. Retha Bowne and Mrs. Marian Smith are continually aiding students in their quest for knowledge. Mrs. Wickwire, who has now been here for four years, is the head librarian. Her assistants, Mrs. Bowne and Mrs. Smith, have both been here six years. They all agree that their busiest job is after Christmas vacation and after spring vacation, when all of the students bring back their books.

Mrs. Marian Smith

Mrs. Smith Keeps $$$ Records

Mrs. Jessie Smith

Madison's student store is supervised by Mrs. Jessie Smith. The store handles all necessary school supplies including special art supplies for the art department, work books, and pocket reading. The store is also a bank for all school activities such as proceeds from dances and games. All of Madison's bills are paid through this main office, also the fees which are collected at the beginning of the year are paid here. Mrs. Smith was quoted as saying they handle about $100,000 dollars a year.

30,000 Books Circulated

Textbooks for the past five years at Madison have been in the capable hands of Mrs. Peggy Kernan. Over 30,000 books are handled each year in this room, and along with this they handle all the audio-visual equipment.

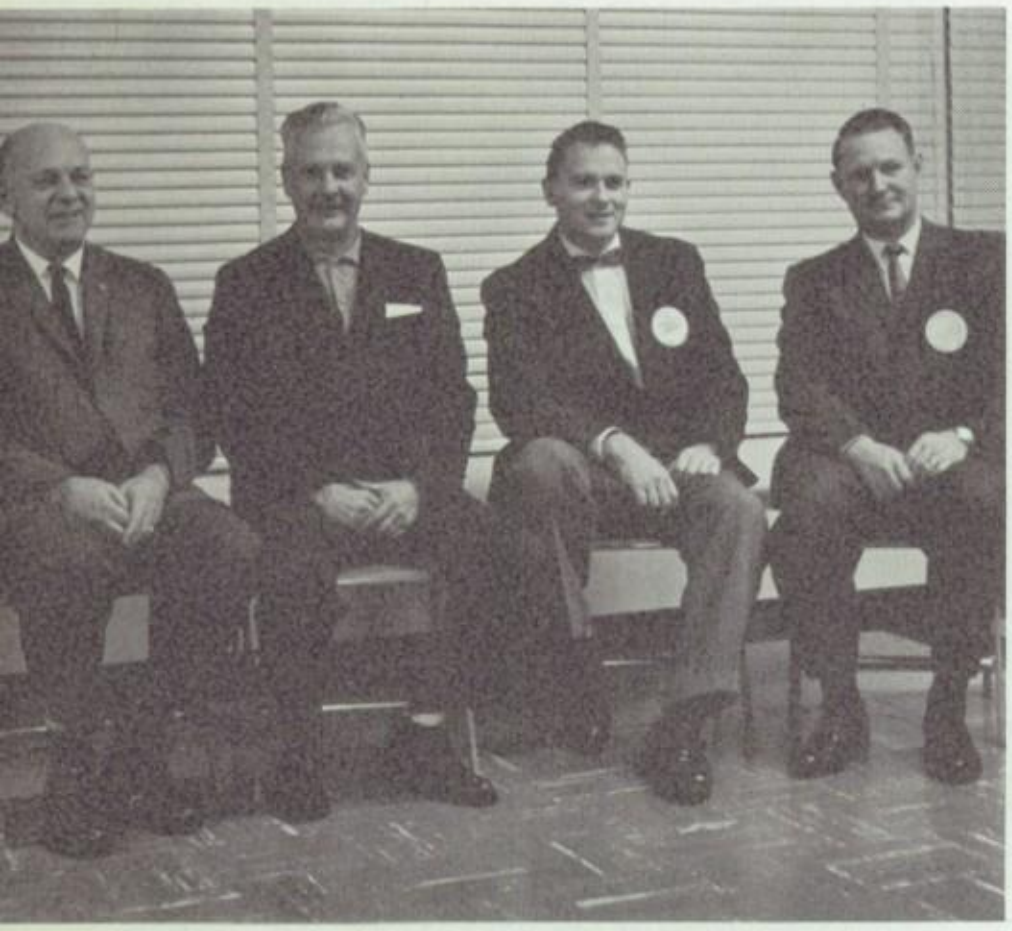
Family Festival High Point of Dads' Year



The Dads' Club officers have had a very successful year. They are: John Stimson, Treasurer; Gordon Messner, Vice President; Don Loghry, Secretary; and Dick Taylor, President.

The Dads' Club has had a very successful year. Starting with the Football season, they had several Dads patroling for control purposes and seating problems. They helped the P. T. A. with their Pancake Breakfast which is the high point of the P. T. A. year.

The Dads' Club sponsored the Father-Son Banquet of which 450 boys had a night out with Dad. The Dads' Club also sponsored the Father-Daughter Banquet in which over 500 girls ate dinner and enjoyed a fashion show, with their first love, Dad. The Dads' Club also sponsored the Japanese wrestlers when they were here.

From February 16, until the middle of April, the Dads' Club was busy with the building of the Madison Mad House, the main door prize drawing at the Family Festival May 3 and 4. The Family Festival is the biggest event of Madison's Dads.

All the work that the Madison High Dads' Club has contributed has been for the purpose of scholarships for the outgoing Seniors. There are six scholarships given and five Grants for Aid. The scholarships are worth 500, 300, and 200 dollars. The grants are worth 100 dollars. Each year the amount changes depending on the amount of money the Dads' Club makes during the year and the need of scholarships and grants.

On May 31, the Dads' Club held the annual Dads' Club Honor Assembly in which many Seniors were awarded scholarships, grants, and certificates of honor for the grade point average of four point.

It is hard to believe that such a prominent organization as this only has 300 members. We would like to commend the Dads' Club on a job well done for 1963.

Mr. Cyril Butterfield, Madison's Vice Principal, talks to a group of Dads' Club members at one of their Tuesday meetings.

P.T.A. Plans Terrific Affairs

The P.T.A. has undertaken a number of events this ear. Their main event was the annual Pancake Breakst, on Sunday, November 4. Many board members took rt in feeding 1,480 people a breakfast which consisted pancakes, ham, eggs, milk or coffee.

This year the P.T.A. reached a new high of 1,250 embers. At one of their meetings this year Dr. Roy euallen, Chancellor of the State Higher System of Edution, was guest speaker. The P.T.A. also had foreign change night featuring Madison's two special students, James and Atun Sukawati, along with an exchange udent from Parkrose.

A wassail party was held after the Christmas proam on Thursday, December 20, with a full house joying cookies and a hot drink.

Mothers of the P.T.A. assisted with the eye tests that ere given and also helped with the athletic exams. The T.A. helped the Dads' Club with the Family Festival securing pies and cakes, and also by serving. All in the P.T.A. this year has done a wonderful job.

Senior Officers Lead Class of '63

We, the members of the senior class, have taken part in the numerous activities offered in the school the past four years. Led by Mel Griffin, our freshman year was very prosperous. In February our class held our first class party. With the theme "Little Bit of New Orleans", it successfully drew over three hundred class members. The fun started with dancing and games followed by a spaghetti feed. Later in the evening we attended the basketball game.

With Tom Waugh as our leader our sophomore year, we were able to continue our exciting time at Madison. The year began with the "Sophomore Sock Hop". Later in the year we had a joint Sophomore-Freshman Talent Assembly. The assembly was very successful and was repeated for the P.T.A.

Ron Lucas led our class in our third year at Madison. In November we held our class party called the "Mystery Mix". The evening began with a dinner followed by attending the school play, "Speaking of Murder", with a dance afterward. The nautical myth of King Neptune, ruler of the depths, was used as the theme for the annual spring formal sponsored by our class. "King Neptune's Ball" was a complete success and everyone had fun planning this big dance.

Our final year at Madison was led by Pete Martindale. This year began with a reception for all the new students. At the end of the football season a football queen was selected from our class. During the basketball season we sponsored two aftergame dances. Also, the seniors challenged the faculty to a basketball game. The traditional "Senior Week" was held in April along with the senior assembly at the end of this week.

These are just a few memories which our fellow classmates will treasure from their high school days at James Madison High School.

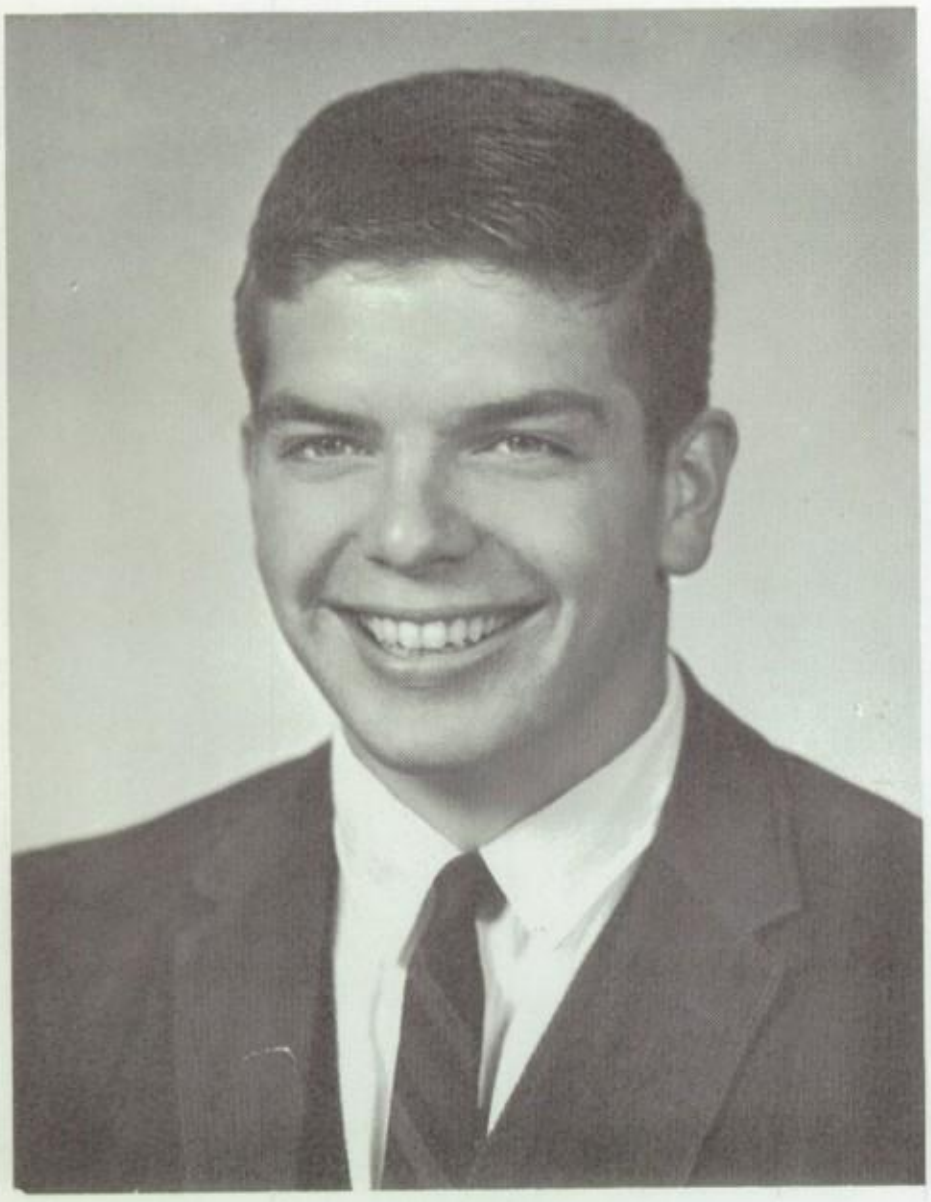
Coach Jim Smith beams with approval as he congratulates Madison wrestlers Jeff Batchelor and Tom Stevens for their state title. Stevens placed first in state in the 136 lb. weight class. Batchelor placed fourth in the 123 lb. weight class.

Hart Leads Sophomores



JOHN HART
President

The sophomore class, graduating in 1965, numbers 711 students and is the largest class at Madison.

To start off the year a reception for all new students was given by the class officers.

During the time when the freshmen and juniors were taking Iowa Tests, the sophomores either attended a workshop in which parliamentary procedure was discussed or went to the zoo in connection with their science classes.

On December 7, the sophomore class sponsored The Bunny Hop, an after game social. Buttons were sold and all in all the event was very successful.

Changes in certain positions of the Sophomore cabinets were necessitated by the moving of the vice-president and treasurer. Karen Gray was appointed treasurer for Shari Loy who moved to Parkrose. Vice-President Gib Stewart, who moved to San Francisco, was replaced by Glenna Nickoloff.

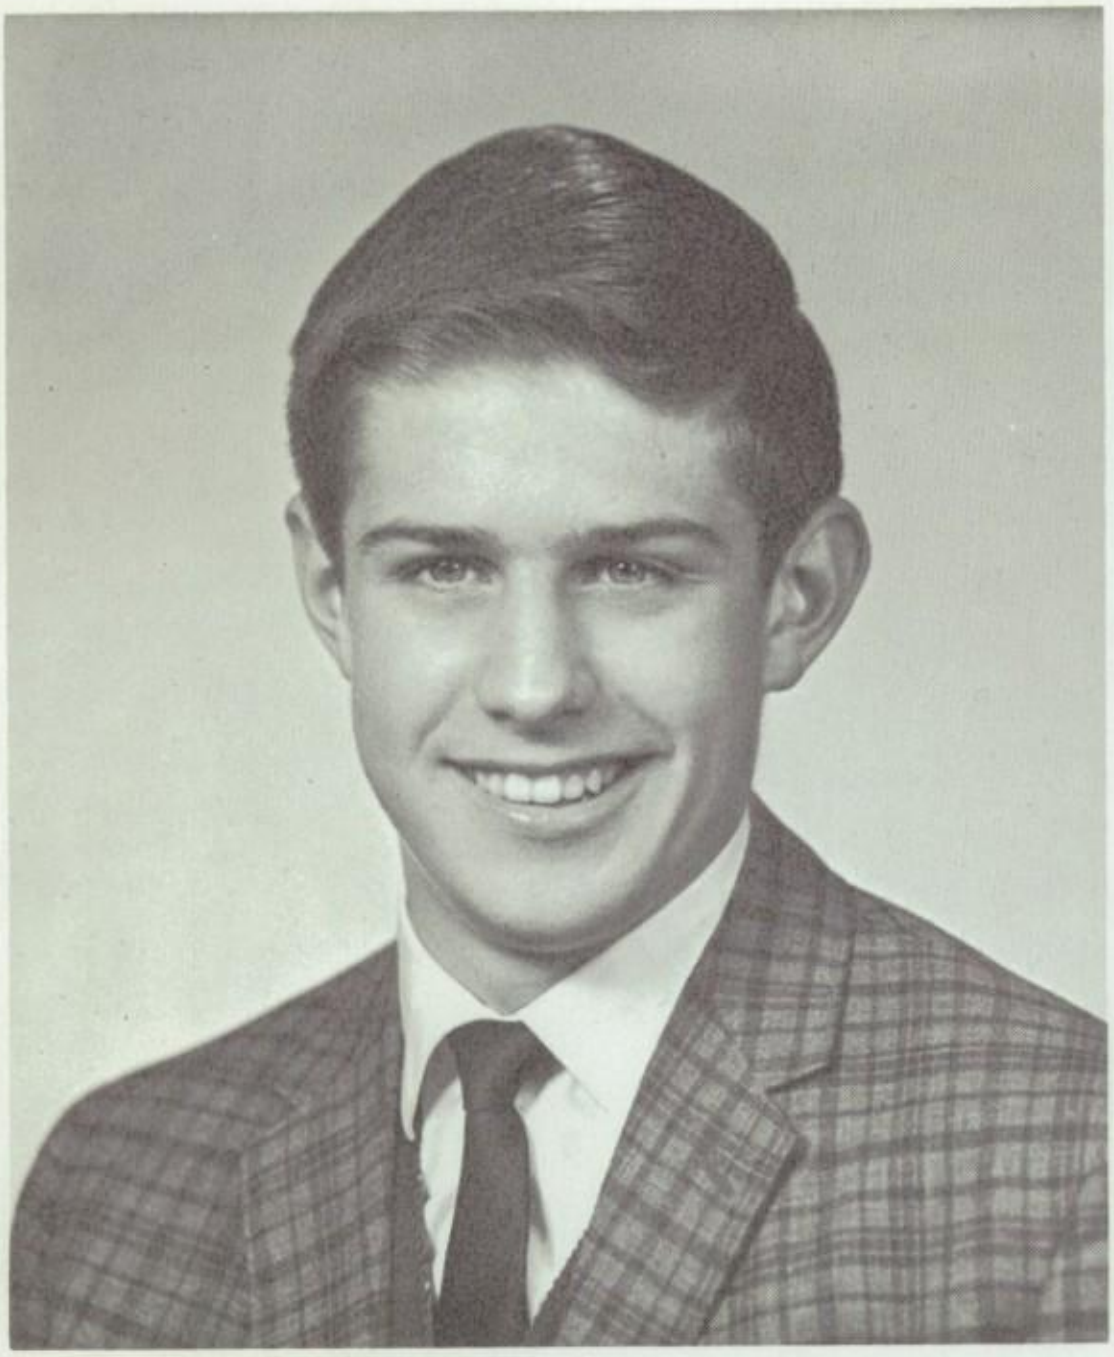
Dressler Leads Class of '66



MIKE DRESSLER
President

The freshman class this year numbers 643. The class of '66 made history this year by their election guide, which contained six pages. There were 77 candidates seeking the seven offices. Fourteen officers were elected.

A class party was held on Friday evening, October 12, (the Columbus Day storm) in the cafeteria. About 350 freshmen ate hamburgers and fries or fish and chips along with ice-cream.

During the Christmas season the freshmen took the responsibility of decorating all the bulletin boards throughout the school. The group planned the after-game dance held on January 18 with over 500 students attending. As a pre-dance sales promotion, "Winter Wonderland" buttons were sold for 25c. This entitled the purchaser free admission to the dance.

The freshman class is one of the few classes that held a meeting once a month. A cabinet (14 officers) met bi-weekly to discuss current class projects and problems.

Another honor that was given to the freshman class is the fact that the freshman football team won the P. I. L. Championship.

Counseling the freshman class this year were Mr. James Blake, Mrs. Delpha Hammerle and Mrs. Margaret Holland.

COUNCIL PLANS MADISON CURRICULUM

This year at Madison, several new programs went under way. One of the new projects was the introduction of the New Key program, which is being used to teach the modern languages. In the English Department, provisions for individual differences in the study of literature, language, and composition (oral and written) are provided for in their new program. Throughout the business education department, vocational courses are taught which, on satisfactory completion, the students are able to obtain good positions in the stenographic and clerical fields. The teachers of the social studies department provide necessary facts and concepts to create or reinforce fundamental beliefs so our students may apply their maximum learning to all future situations which they will encounter as adults in this constantly changing world. In the physical education program, fourteen different sports are taught, including rhythms and modern dance for seven weeks.

At Madison we are honored to have a hard working faculty organization. This organization, the Curriculum Council, consists of a group of teachers that continually study the curriculum for the purpose of improving the educational opportunities offered to Madison students. Most teachers serve three years on the Curriculum Council committee. There are fifteen members of the committee. Mrs. Sue Bushnell is consultant for the committee and Mr. Ed Gottlieb is chairman. The council meets once a week on Tuesday. The Curriculum interpretation day for freshman is one of the plans developed by the council.

MATICH HEADS ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Helen Matich, head of the English department, is shown here with her junior English students. Among their studies this year are American literature and improved style in composition makeup.

Provisions for individual differences in the study English in literature, language, and composition (oral a written) are provided for in our new program this ye These courses are designed to challenge and rewa any student of varying ability. There is a sequen planned to include the main kinds of literature each ye in narrative, drama, and poetry. The study of at lea one novel each year as well as the study of one Shak spearean play are also included. A sequential plan f poetry, from the narrative to the lyric poems, both Am erican and British, is provided in this new program.

There is also a successive program in the study language, its nature and development. A major emphas is put upon sentence structure in the ninth grade. Th program includes a study of the dictionary in the tent dialect in the eleventh, and the history of the Englis language in the twelfth.

Composition has major emphasis: ninth grade, bas sentence structure in the context of a paragraph; tent additional sentence skills and a focus on paragrap structure; eleventh and twelfth, organization and d velopment of longer papers with attention to more com plex problems of rhetoric.

Speech has a definite order: ninth grade, forms discussion . . . panel, symposium, forum; tenth, speec analysis; eleventh and twelfth, oral interpretation.

MRS. HELEN MATICH
English Department Chairman

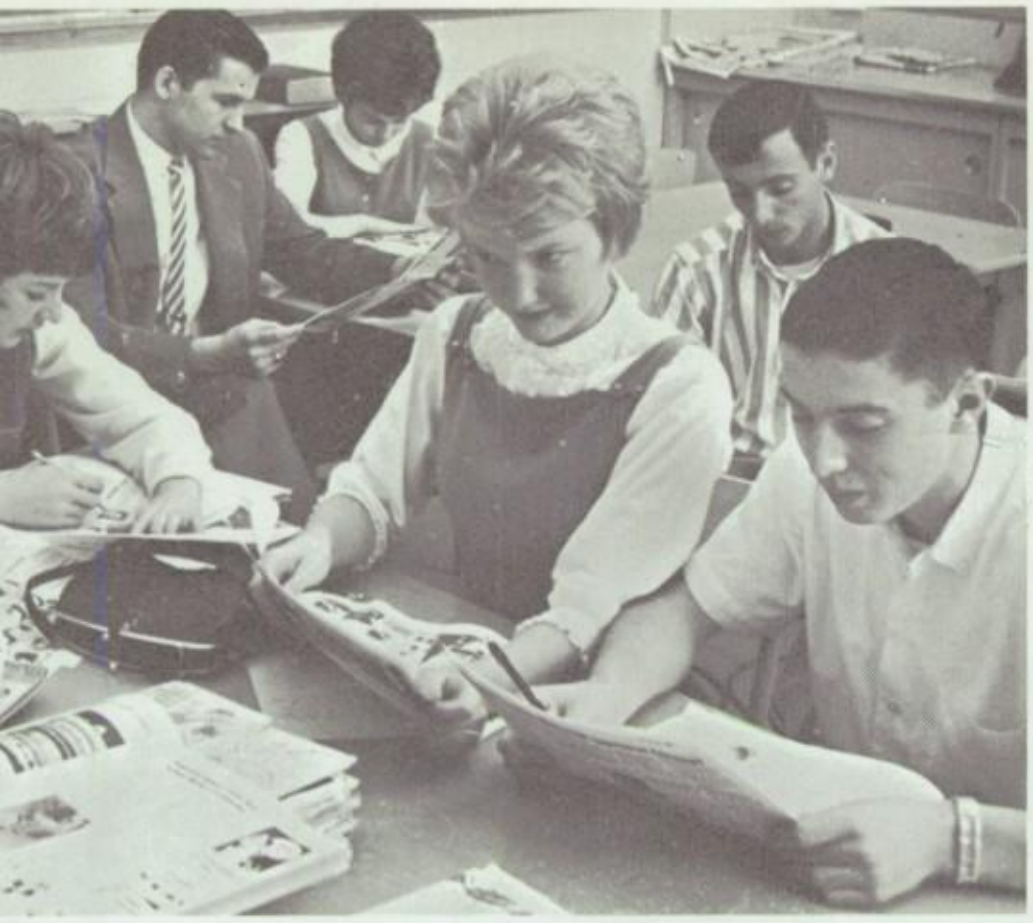
In Mrs. Judith Seabert's junior English class Sue Pjesky and Dick Taug practice their new vocabulary on the blackboard.

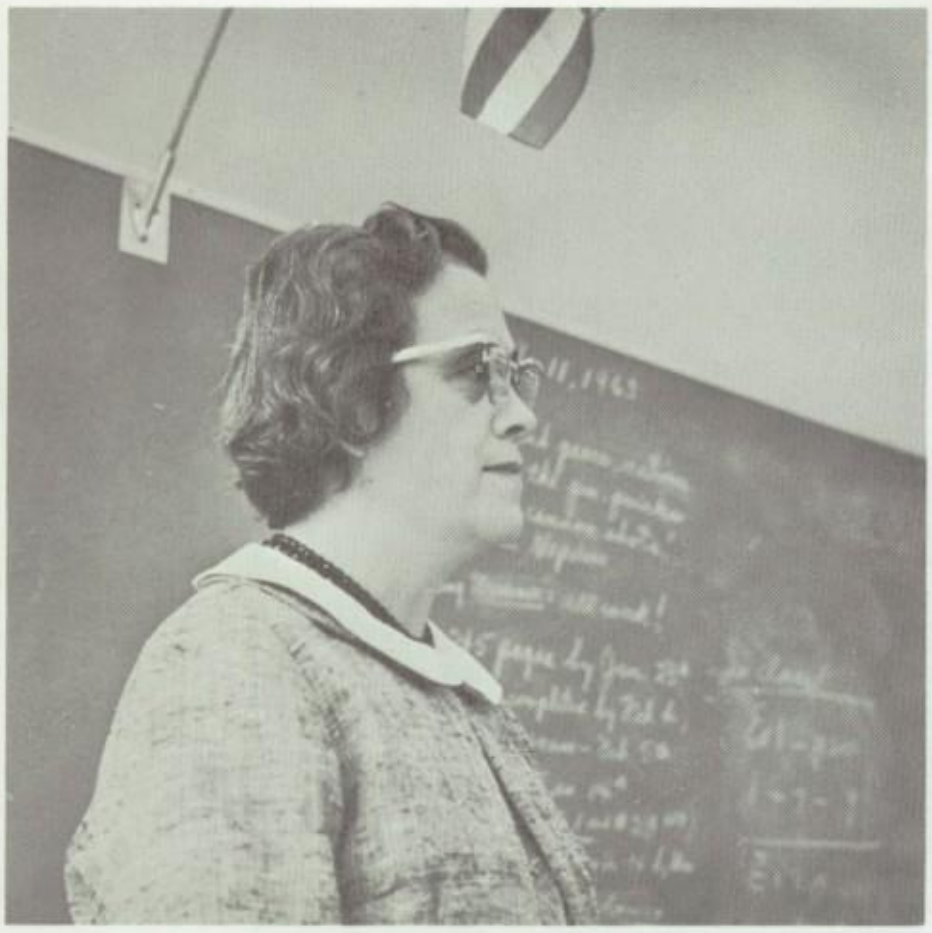


Mr. Joe Kovach teaches two beginning journalism classes, two advanced newspaper classes and two yearbook classes. He and his third period class look over a new edition of the Constitution.

Mrs. Melba Sparks is shown in her drama class as she is congratulated by her students on one of her productions. Mrs. Sparks directs and produces about eight plays a year including one-act plays, children's plays, and larger productions.

Mr. William Olsen, shown here with his sophomore English class, has a full and interesting course of study for this year. Among the books on the schedule for this year are A Tale of Two Cities and Julius Caesar. Through the year all his classes have done a great deal of writing in an attempt to become more proficient in proper theme composition.

John Gustafson and Dick Curtis are taping their speech in Miss Dorothy Youngblood's first period Speech class.



Mrs. Helen Moreland, who has been teaching at Madison since the first year that the school was opened, is giving her 7th period sophomore English class an assignment.

Mrs. Mildred Peterson is shown here in her first and second period freshman combined class. This year the students have studied ancient European cultures and present day Africa and Asia.

Miss Sandra Bewley, who is in her second year of teaching at Madison, is instructing her 3rd period junior English class. Miss Bewley's classes read various books which are assigned throughout the year such as the House of Seven Gables.

Mr. Bill Thomas signs Steve Hertner's admittance slip, unwillingly, in his 5th period senior English class.

In Miss Dorothy Youngblood's forensics class, Mark Perry is presenting a speech for complimentary and constructive criticisms. For practice, the class holds regular serious debates on various topics every Thursday evening. The students in this class have had at least one year of speech and have participated in regular city wide debates and speech meets.

Mrs. Janice Schukart's schedule includes three senior classes, one EE class and two sophomore classes. She is shown with two of her students in her fourth period sophomore EE English class.

One of Mrs. Norma Cramer's favorite senior English topics is Hamlet. In the past years she has taken five courses in Hamlet and recently completed a sixth, so her senior students can always be sure to have a thorough understanding of Shakespeare's great play. Shown here with her are Jana Mitchell, Jane Deck, Curt Snider and Janet Volchok.

Mrs. Elizabeth Barnes is listening to book reports in her seventh period junior English class. Some of the books that are read during the junior year are The Scarlet Letter and Main Street.

MADISON HONORED BY HERSH

Mr. Alan Hersch, Madison's exchange teacher from England, teaches four junior English classes and one sophomore class. This, of course, is his only year here and we at Madison are proud to have him.

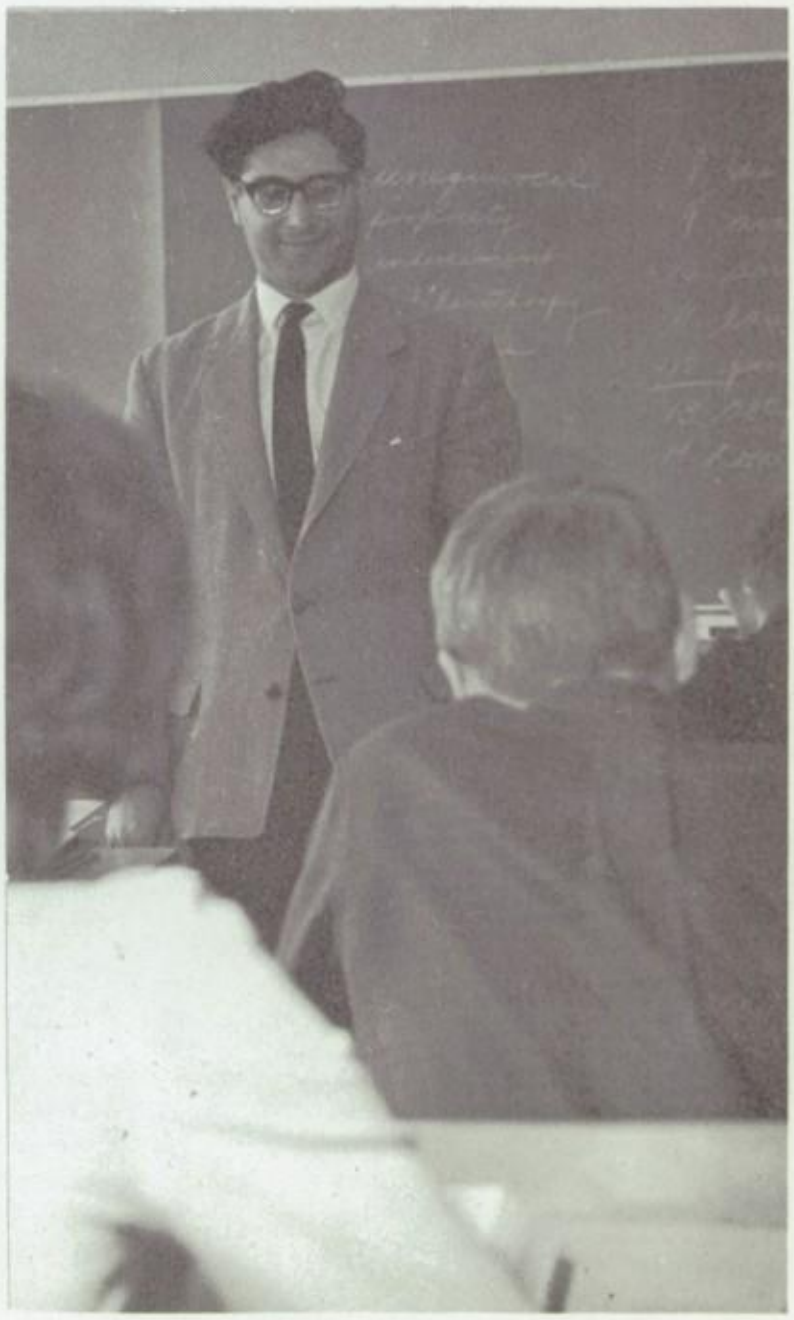
Mr. Alan Hersh poses for his first American formal picture by Stacey Wong.

Mr. Alan Hersh, who is the exchange teacher from England, is taking the place of Mr. Robert Rowe as English teacher at Madison High School this year. Mr. Hersh is very qualified for his position, having one B.A. degree and three Intermediate degrees.

This young instructor, who is only 28 years of age, has taught for exactly seven years. Two of his seven years of teaching were spent in Birmingham at Hall Green Technical College to which he will return this summer.

A few noticeable differences pointed out authoritatively by Mr. Hersh were: students tend to be more conservative concerning behavior and dress in Britain; school uniforms are worn and boys remain apart from the girls during school hours in those schools which are coeducational. Student government is the same as at Madison except that there are prefects which help the teachers to maintain discipline.

Madison High School is very proud of Mr. Hersh and wishes him the best of luck in his future years of teaching.



Smiling Mr. Hersh is carrying on an informal discussion on the meaning of new vocabulary words with one of his English classes.

643 ENROLLED IN FROSH COMBINED CLASSES

Miss Shirley Petery, who is the freshman combined department chairman, is having a discussion with four of her 3rd and 4th period students. The discussion is on the exploration of the world.

Upon entering Madison High School, freshmen are enrolled in combined English and social studies classes. Of Madison's faculty, nine are freshman combined teachers. Four of the combined classes follow pilot programs, so their studies are experimental. At the beginning of the year, the freshmen are introduced to Madison by studying its rules and regulations. During the year, freshmen learn about the civilizations and cultures of Europe, Asia and Africa.

At the beginning of the year the over-all picture of the English language is studied, including grammar, note-taking and vocabulary development, and literature that fits in with the subjects taught in social studies. The students also read many selections of poetry and such books as The Odyssey. In their study of grammar, the pilot classes learn about paragraph and sentence structure involved in composition. Later in the year, discussion forms and parliamentary procedure are examined.

MRS. SHIRLEY PETERY
Department Chairman

In the freshman combined program the use of many charts and maps is stressed. Here Miss Mildred Peterson is pictured in her third period class with several of her pupils as they plot different parts of the world on the globe and maps.

Mr. Richard Unger is pointing out the countries surrounding the Mediterranean Sea to several of his pupils in his seventh period freshman combined class.

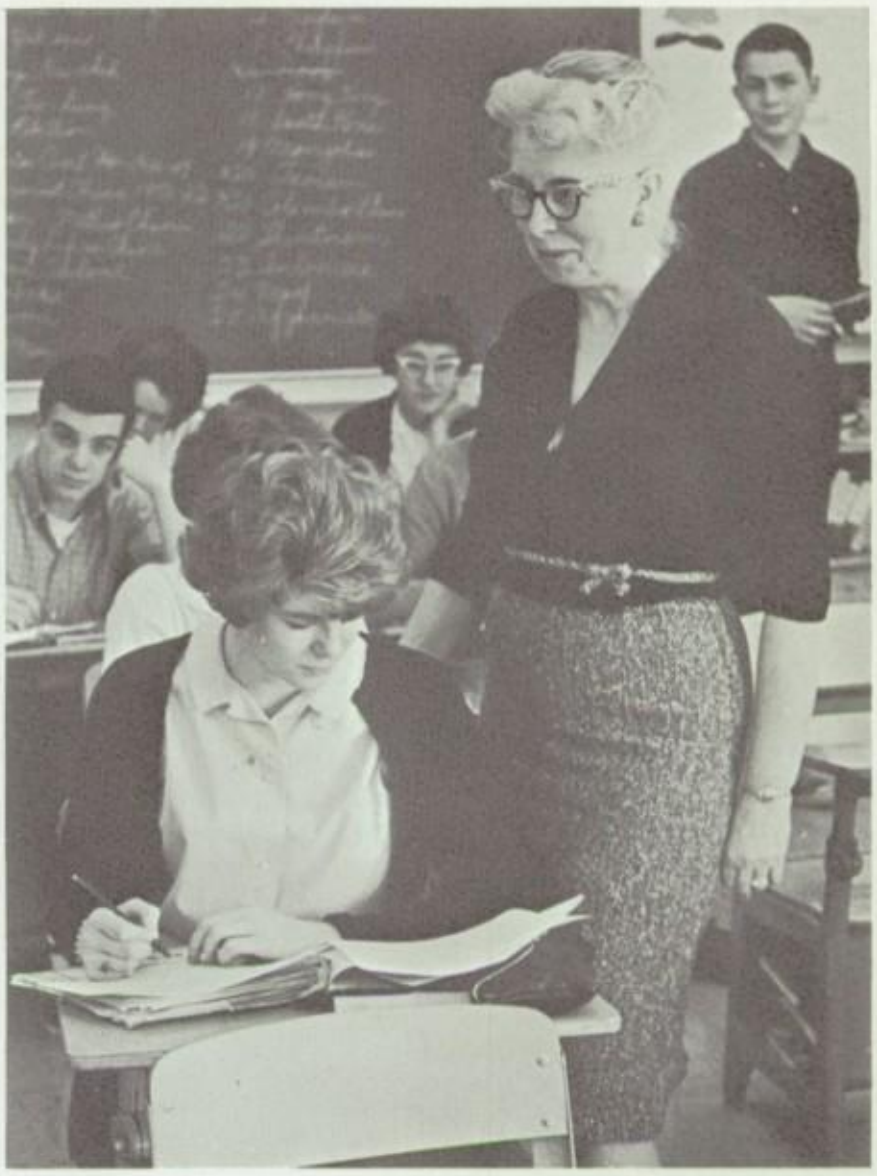
Several of Mrs. Betsy Hibbard's students are checking out news articles to take home. The freshman combined program stresses the use of many news articles to keep them informed on current events.

During the freshman year the students study many parts of the world. This study is accomplished through their freshman combined classes. Here several girls are preparing a bulletin board on ancient Greece.

Mrs. Betsy Hibbard, one of Madison's nine freshman combined teachers, is shown with Ken Rhoten as they look over her seventh period classes' notebooks.

"It's News" is the title of the current events bulletin board in Mrs. Helen Robertson's freshman combined class. Here Mrs. Robertson is explaining an interesting article to Dave Sweeney and Jarma Mills in their first and second period class.

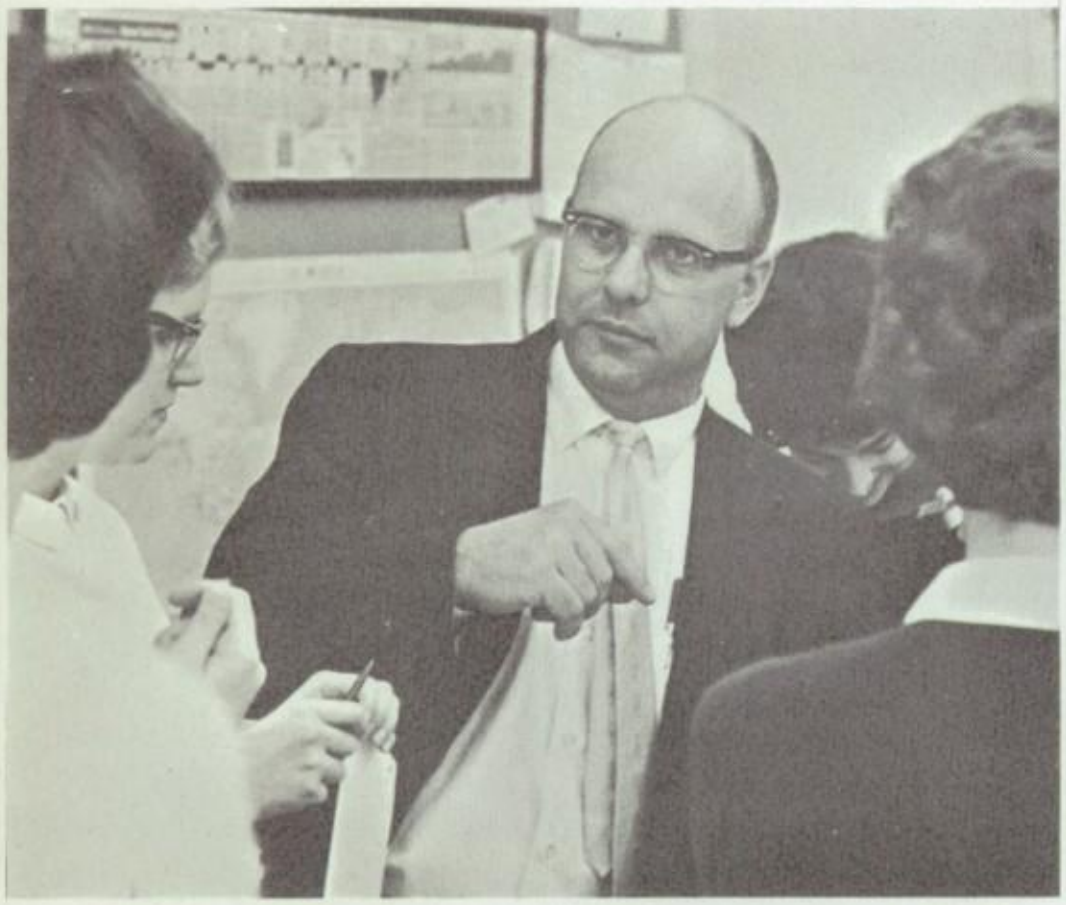
Mr. Elmer Drake, here with his freshman combined class of first and second period, is helping Ralph Miller and Carolyn Lowe. His daily schedule also includes another combined class and a senior English class.



Needing Mrs. McKay Meindle's help with an assignment from her English book, is Karen Jones. This is Mrs. Meindle's sixth and seventh period freshman combined class.

Mr. Peter Smith instructs two freshman combined classes and two photography classes. Mr. Smith's classes enjoy many filmstrips and movies along with their various social studies units, such as "The Civilization and Culture of Europe."

LIVING INTELLIGENTLY IS A RESPONSIBILITY



Mr. Ben Jarrett, social studies department chairman, teaches three of Portland's six senior social studies pilot classes. Since his favorite subject is economics, his classes spent sixteen weeks studying in this field. With this subject, he must spend much time explaining in small groups, as this seventh period group is pictured.

We in social studies are to provide necessary facts and concepts to create or reinforce fundamental beliefs so our students may apply their maximum learning to all future situations which they will encounter as adults in this constantly changing world.

At Madison High School three years of social studies are required. This includes freshmen combined, junior and senior social studies. Freshman year the social studies classes study the culture and civilization of Europe, Asia and Africa. The classes have various projects and have many movies and filmstrips. During the junior year the history of the United States is studied, starting with early explorations and discovery of America. The junior classes study the Civil War and the two World Wars, ending with the Korean War and current events. During the senior year current and social problems are studied that pertain to world affairs.

MR. BEN JARRETT
Social Studies Department Chairman

In a pose familiar to his students, Mr. Ben Jarrett leads the seventh period senior class in discussion.

During their study of Westward Expansion, the students of Mr. Fred Livesay's class are taught about the annexation of many territories such as the Texas annexation.

. Ariss Englund, a new Senator faculty member this r, teaches junior social studies. Many students of her ses have been heard saying "She makes learning "

Mr. Wolff von Schmidt, one of Madison's senior social studies teachers explains an important assignment on current affairs.

Mrs. Benona Dawson, Solon English and social studies teacher, keeps a busy schedule. It includes two junior history classes, one senior American problems class, one senior English class, and an effective reading class.

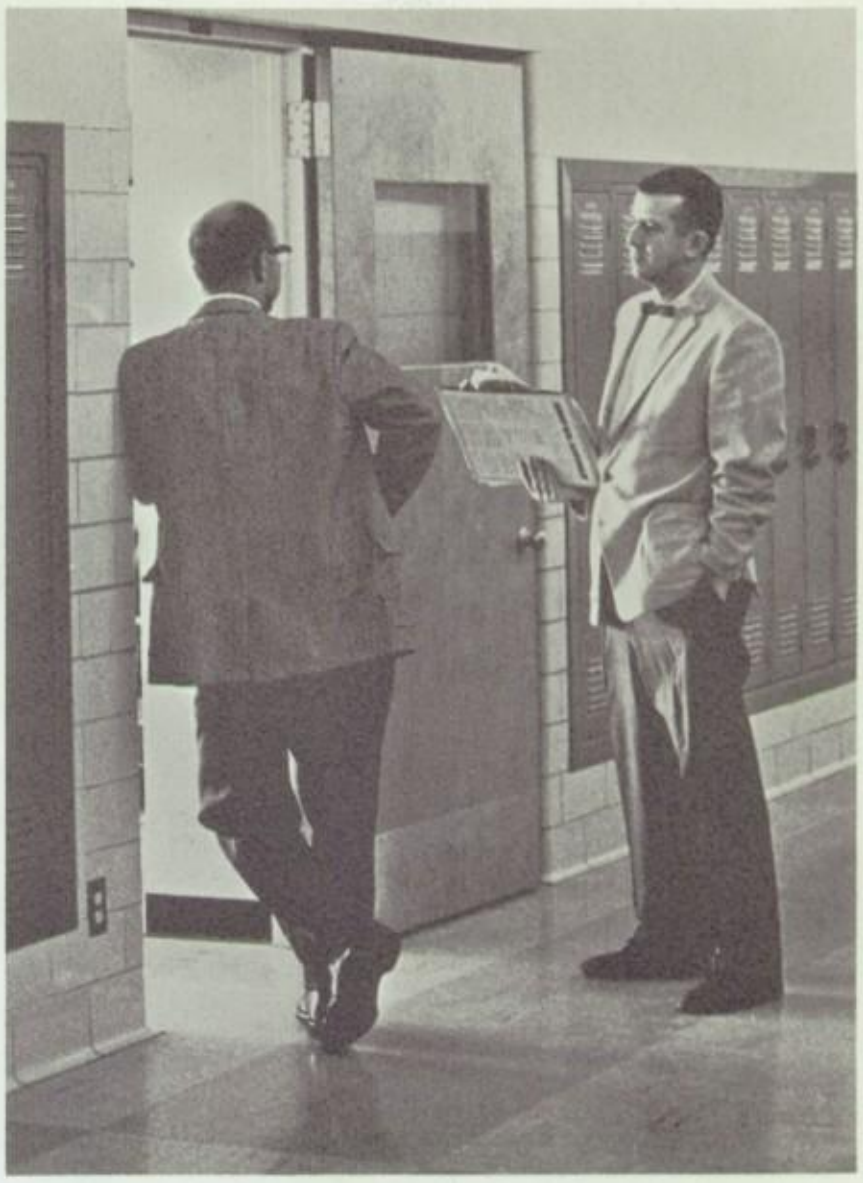
Al James, Sharon Peterson, Betsy Herron, Maria Sudar, Lynda Hamilton and Lucille Gerriets, winners of the Kraemer Essay Contest, are being congratulated by Mr. Bill Thomas for their excellent work. Norman Thompson and Greg D'Agostine are not pictured.

Mr. Bill Wiitala, junior social studies teacher, has five history classes. His busy schedule also includes coaching Madison's championship baseball team.

Mrs. McKay Meindle, one of Madison's nine freshman combined teachers, stresses the use of many magazine and newspaper articles for their studies along with current text books.

In Mr. Fred Livesay's social studies classes, the students are given the chance to decide for themselves on controversial subjects. Ernie Woodcock and Greg Lynott have just finished a debate on the two top political candidates for United States Senate.

Mr. John O'Donnell is shown here in one of his two senior social studies classes. Areas covered this year in American problems include sociology, government, and economics.



Mr. Donn Gassaway, (right), one of Madison's social studies teachers, has five junior history classes including two pilot classes. With his busy schedule he still finds time to coach the Solon winning varsity basketball team and confer with Mr. Ben Jarrett (left).

Mr. Delbert Ensign's 3rd period junior Social Studies is taking notes as he lectures to them on the "Causes and Development of the Civil War."

MATH DEPARTMENT HEADED BY DUCKERING

Mr. Verle Duckering, the math department chairman, is shown with his students in his seventh period SMSG geometry class.

VERLE DUCKERING
Chairman, Mathematics Departm

Mrs. Jacque Arellano has taught at Madison since its beginning. She is the full-time woman teacher in the Math Department. In the fall she will leave Madison to teach at Marylhurst College.

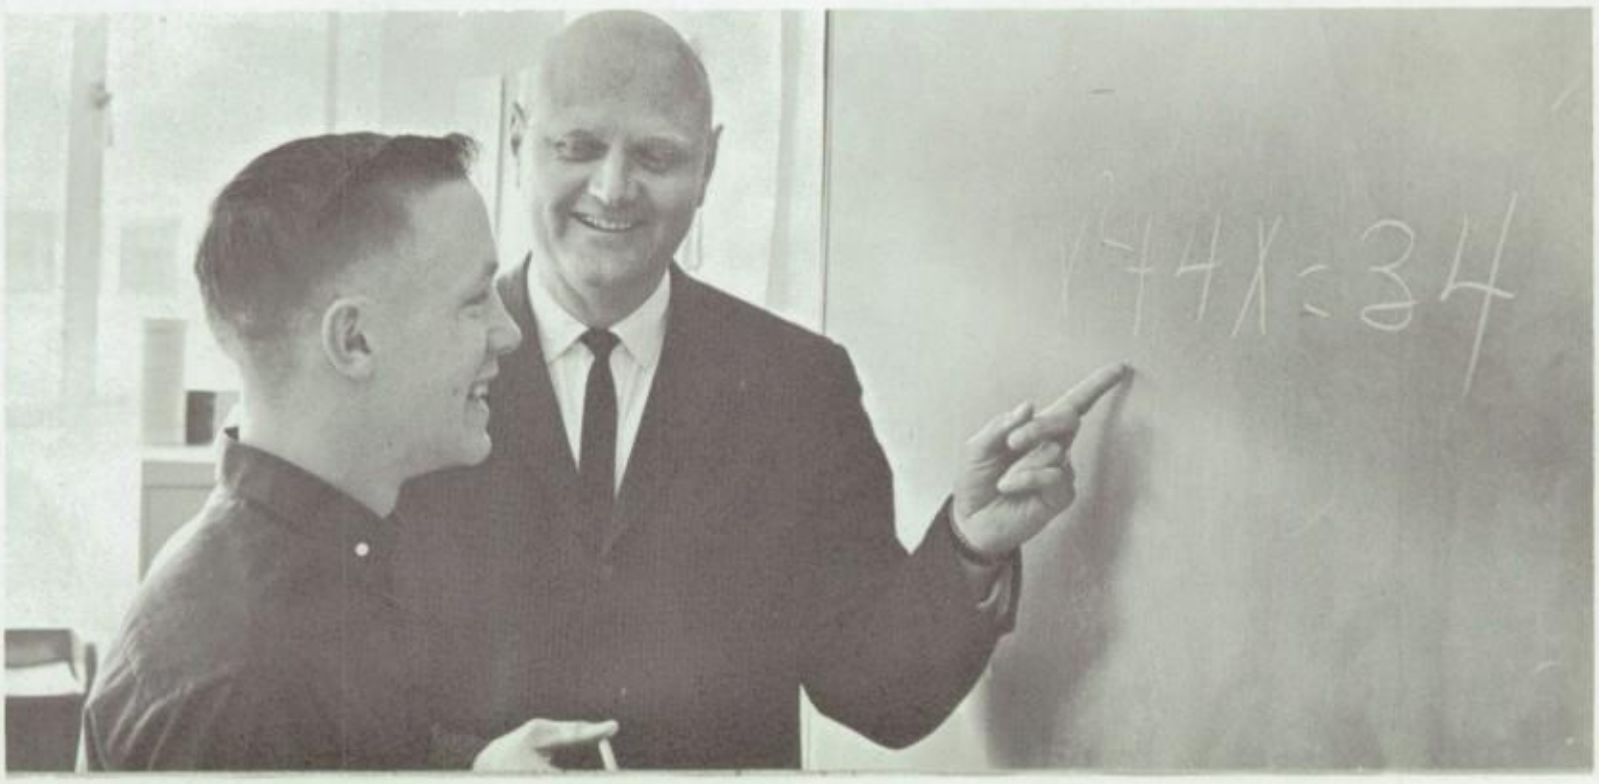
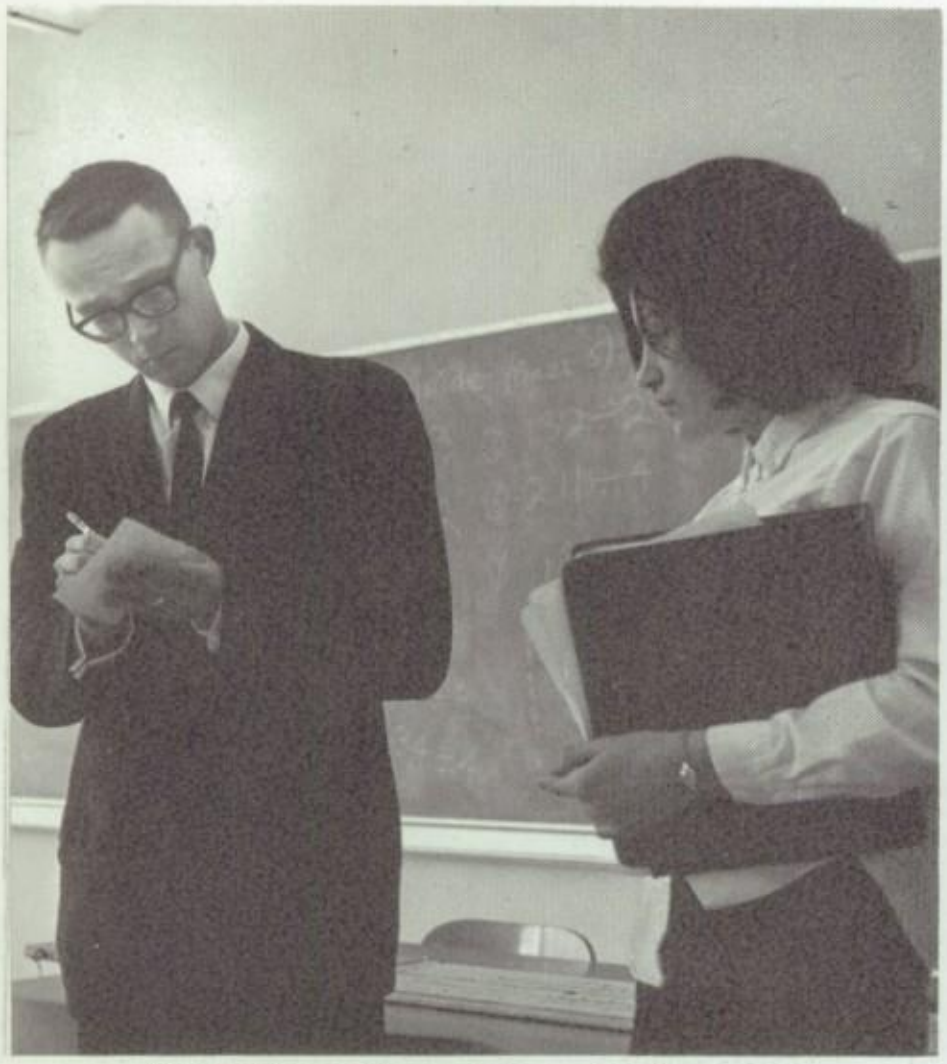
Shown is Mr. Ronald Aronson giving aid to several students on a difficult problem. A member of the Math Department, Mr. Aronson teaches five math classes daily.

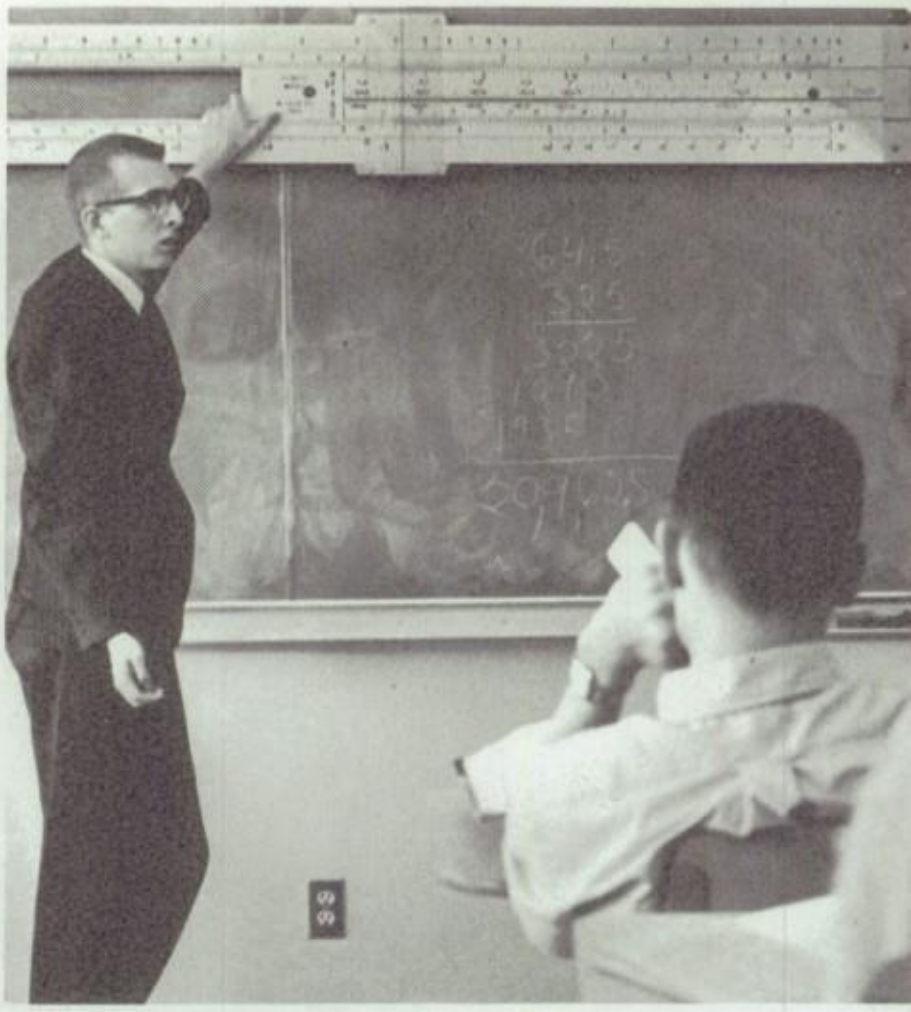
Mr. Joseph Brugato, popular member of the Math Department, teaches five classes each day. He is shown here with David Cox, one of his students.



Mr. Warren Bolin has been a member of the Madison faculty since its beginning in 1957. Shown here in a typically jolly mood, Mr. Bolin gives help to one of his students.

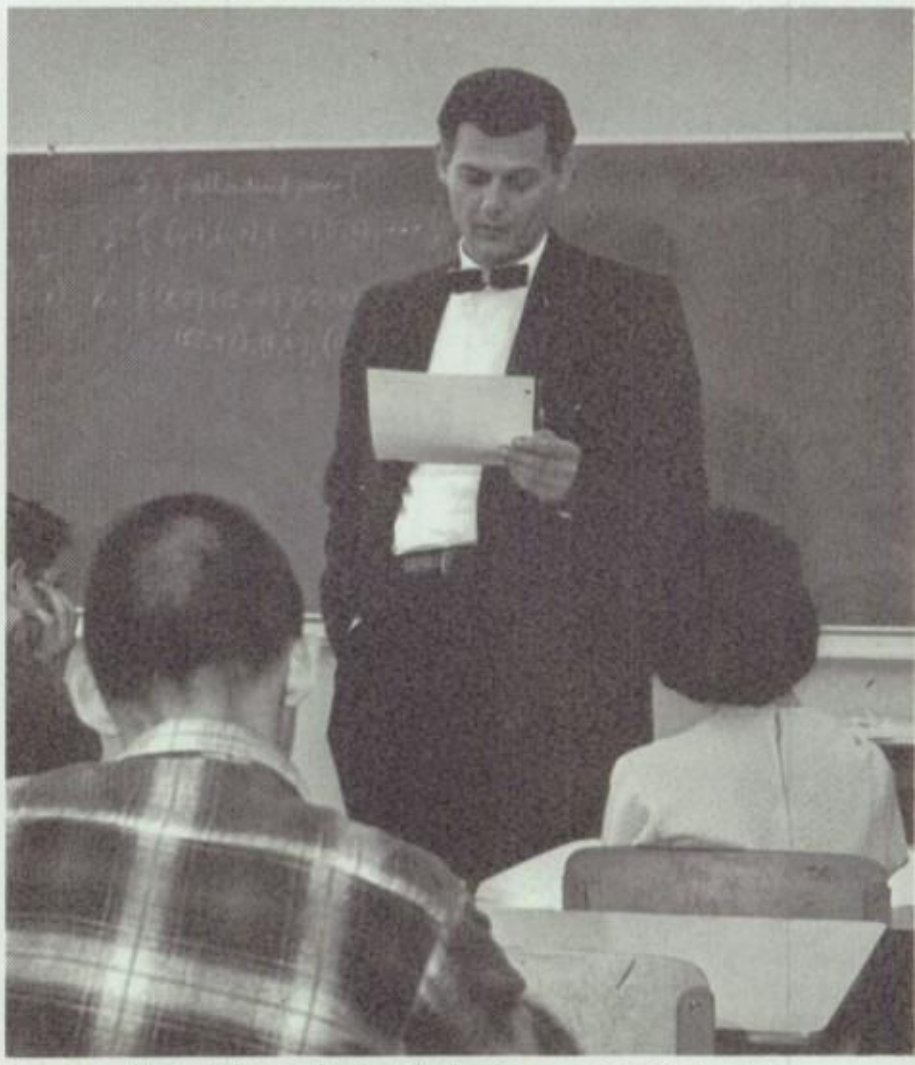


Mr. Richard Edmonds is in his first year of teaching at Madison. Here he is shown questionly signing a conference slip for one of his math students.



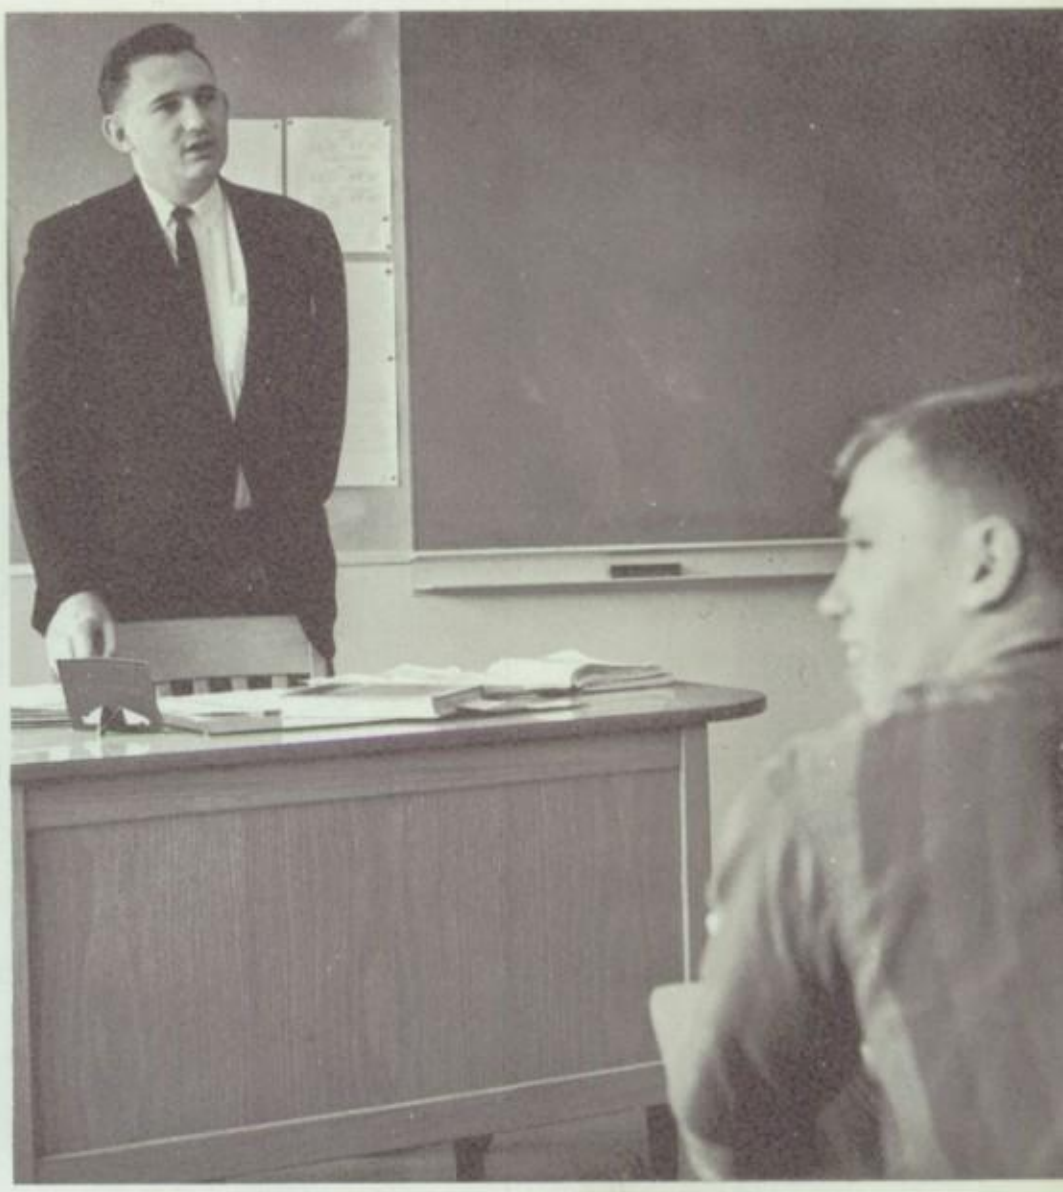
Mr. Thomas Swanson is an intern with a Bachelor's degree and is teaching as part of the work required for a Master's in teaching from Reed College. Here he is using this giant slide rule in teaching his senior math class.

Mr. Duane Fiskum teaches math in his spare class period when not counseling. This is a second-year algebra class which adds variety to his day of counseling the senior boys.

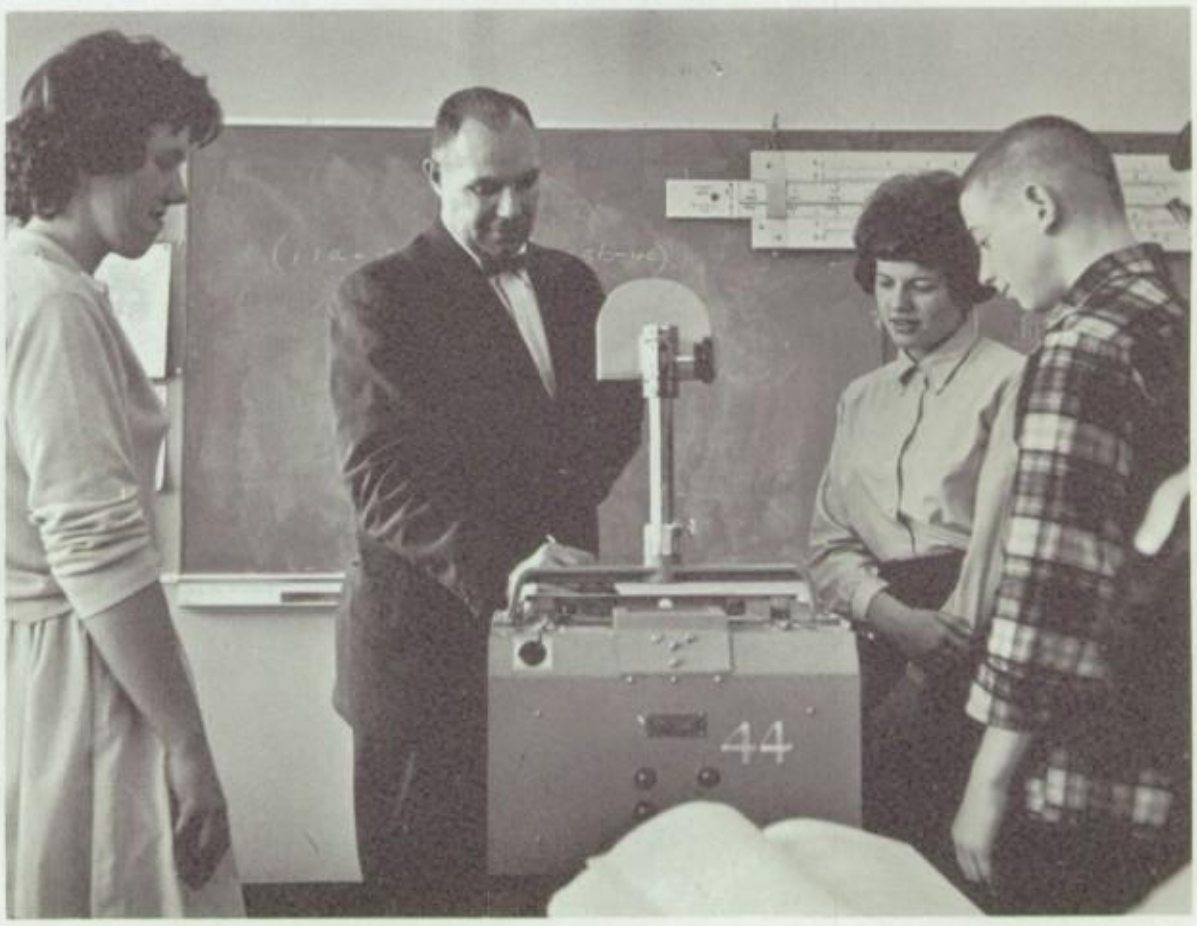


Mr. Edward Gottlieb has a varied day with an algebra class, a senior math class, and a couple of periods of supervision of the interns who are studying to be math teachers.

Carolyn Natella, who is teaching at Madison for the first time this year, teaches one regular general math class and two special general math classes.



Mr. Daryl Nehler, graduate of Portland State, has been teaching math at Madison for two years. He teaches three geometry classes and two algebra classes. He is pictured here making an explanation to his algebra class as they listen attentively.



Mr. Frank Londos shows three of his first year algebra students one of the machines used in the math department to make the teaching of graphs, long formulas, and equations easier. They are from left to right Janet Baldwin, Mr. Londos, Karen Kissell and Jim E tchison.

ANDERSEN IS ASSISTED BY 8 IN BUSINESS DEPARTMEN

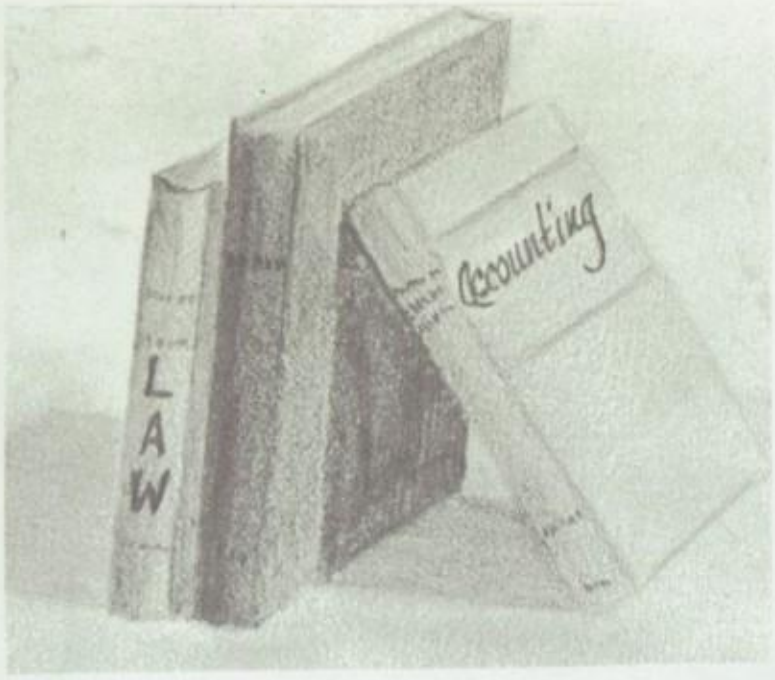
Madison High School has a well-rounded Business Education program. For the underclassmen, general business and beginning typing are taught. The upper classmen have an opportunity to take bookkeeping, business law, personal typing and recordkeeping.

For those students desiring to enter the business world, Madison offers courses in first and second year shorthand, advanced typing and office machines. Many students upon satisfactory completion of these vocational courses are able to obtain good positions in the stenographic and clerical fields.

MISS MARY ANDERSEN
Department Chairman

Miss Mary Andersen is pictured in her seventh period typing class as she helps one of her students. Mrs. Andersen is assisted by eight other teachers in the business department.

One of Madison's veterans, Mrs. Gertrude Bean, teaches one bookkeeping class and one general business class in the morning. During the afternoon she teaches one typing class and two general business classes.



Mr. Jack Wright has a full schedule of classes throughout the day. His day begins with three typing classes and one business law class. In the afternoon Mr. Wright teaches one business law class and one general business class. In his business law classes the students hold regular courts of law in which students take both sides of the case and the class acts as a jury.

Miss Mary Andersen, who is the Business Administration Department chairman, is helping a student on an assignment in one of her two office practice classes. Miss Andersen also teaches three typing classes during the day.

Mrs. Marjorie McDonald, who is retiring from the teaching profession this year, teaches one typing class. Here she is pictured instructing students in her 7th period class.

Mrs. Charlotte Winter is shown in her second year typing class. In second year classes the students learn the finer points of typing.

Mrs. Norma Zimmerman is one of Madison's nine business administration teachers. Mrs Zimmerman teaches three general business classes, two shorthand classes, and one typing class.

Miss Dorothy Hart teaches a full schedule of business classes. Her schedule includes four typing classes and two shorthand classes. Miss Hart received her B.S. degree at Oregon State University.

Miss Joan Weller teaches two shorthand classes and three typing classes. Here she is getting in a time-write just before the 3:00 bell.

Mrs. Minnie Weene, who teaches business law and bookkeeping, is helping one of her students in the second period bookkeeping class. Her classes go through the entire course of bookkeeping so that they might be able to have a better understanding of the way a business is run.

ART STRESSES CREATIVE ACTIVITIES

Mr. Robert Hughitt, chairman of the art department, teaches six art classes. Of those classes, two are general art and one is an understanding art course where the students have a chance to learn and understand art. He also advises the art work for the yearbook, teaches one art ee class and one art crafts ceramics class. Here he is shown with two girls from his art staff class, Bobbi Prodehl and Bev Ferrington.

We of the art department believe that individual creative activity in students is one of the most important experiences that a person can have. Art is related to almost everything we come in contact with, and all students need to gain an appreciation and understanding of it.

The criteria of good art, accordingly, must relate to the expressions of individuals, and of the time and place in which they live. In the classroom we do our best to show the student the underlying character of what is going on in contemporary art, and ultimately to discover to what extent the student can develop an independent and personal approach in his own work.

In the creative process one does not arrive at his own intuitive perception until he is challenged, provoked and nudged out of habitual cliches of seeing. Our main goal is to expose the student, to new ways of viewing and creating. Through art experiences designed to offer a high standard of artistic achievement.

We offer the following classes in which we carry this out. Art General beginning and advanced, design, crafts, ceramics, art metal beginning and advanced, commercial, EE art, art staff, art staff yearbook, and understanding art.

The art courses are designed to provide pleasure for some and to offer background for those students going on to make a career in art.

MR. HUGHITT
Department Chairman

In Miss Fultz E. E. class Jerri-Jo Ruggenberg is using Kathy Frazer and Glenda Stillman as models for one of her projects.

Miss Marjory Goldsmith teaches four general art classes, one crafts and one art crafts ceramics class. She attended Portland State where she earned her Bachelor of Science degree.

Mr. Thomas Pileggi instructs both boys and girls in five classes of art metal. His only diversification is one general art class. Here he is instructing Virginia Harbin and Wanda Turri basic points of drawing.

Miss Nancy Fultz teaches three morning classes, art ee and two art general classes. During the afternoon she instructs one art design class, one art commercial and advises the art staff. Here she is showing two of her students, Jerri-Jo Ruggenberg and Diane Disselhorst, a skull.

ART IS LIFE

The very texture of every enduring work of art must imbed the glowing life of its own times and the embers of the past. If it does not cover space as history, it must plumb the depths of emotion in an individual to reach the universal perception.

Wooldridge Organizes Science

Mr. Keith Wooldridge, one of Madison's chemistry instructors and head of the Science Department, has each of his five classes filled to capacity. He is pictured here with senior Lynn Larson demonstrating the use of a ring stand.

The science department of Madison High School has been pre-occupied with exploration of several new programs. These are:

1. Experimental approach to general science
2. Applied science
3. Designs of the Cosmos (Physical Science)
4. Biological sciences curriculum study
5. Chemical bond and chemical education material study
6. Physical science study committee physics

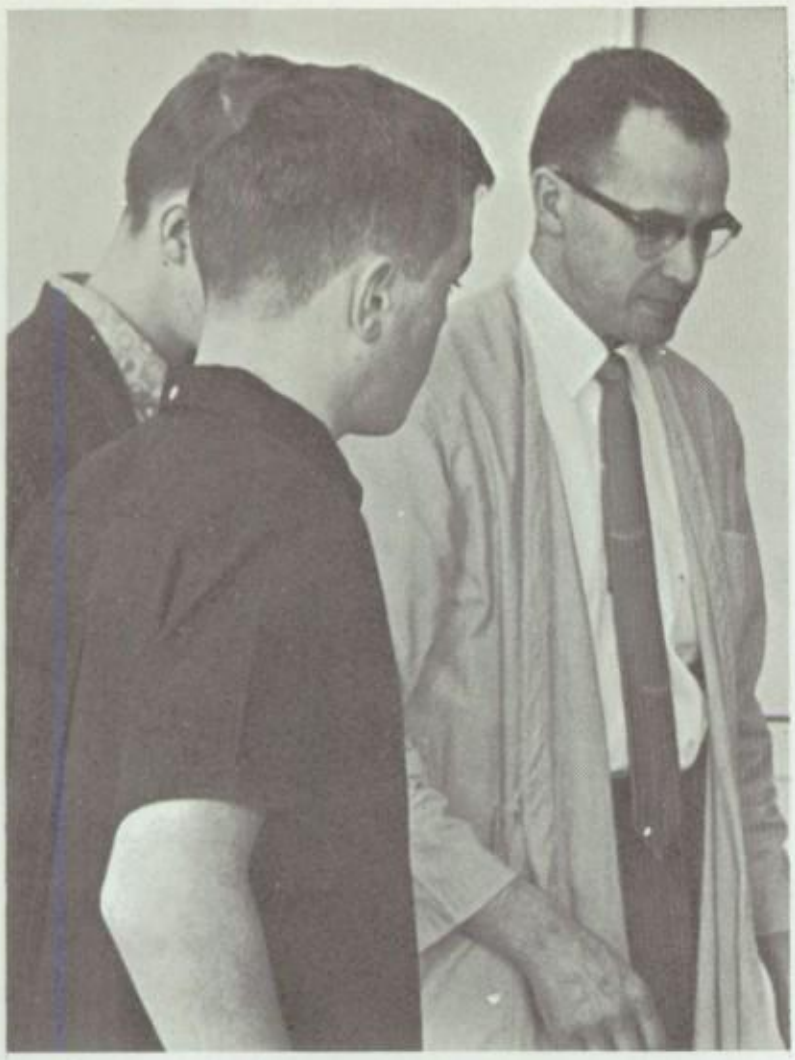
Most of these programs require a certain amount of new and different equipment and supplies. In areas where we are particularly pleased with results we are setting up for the new program as rapidly as possible.

One of the most important efforts has been the re-education of our teachers through inservice courses, National Science Foundation Institutes, etc.

Each program has its merits within itself as set up; however, we at Madison shall probably be lending our major efforts in the coming year to adaptation of these programs to us as a school, forecasting and even course content may well lead into a service 1-4 year program without specific course titles.

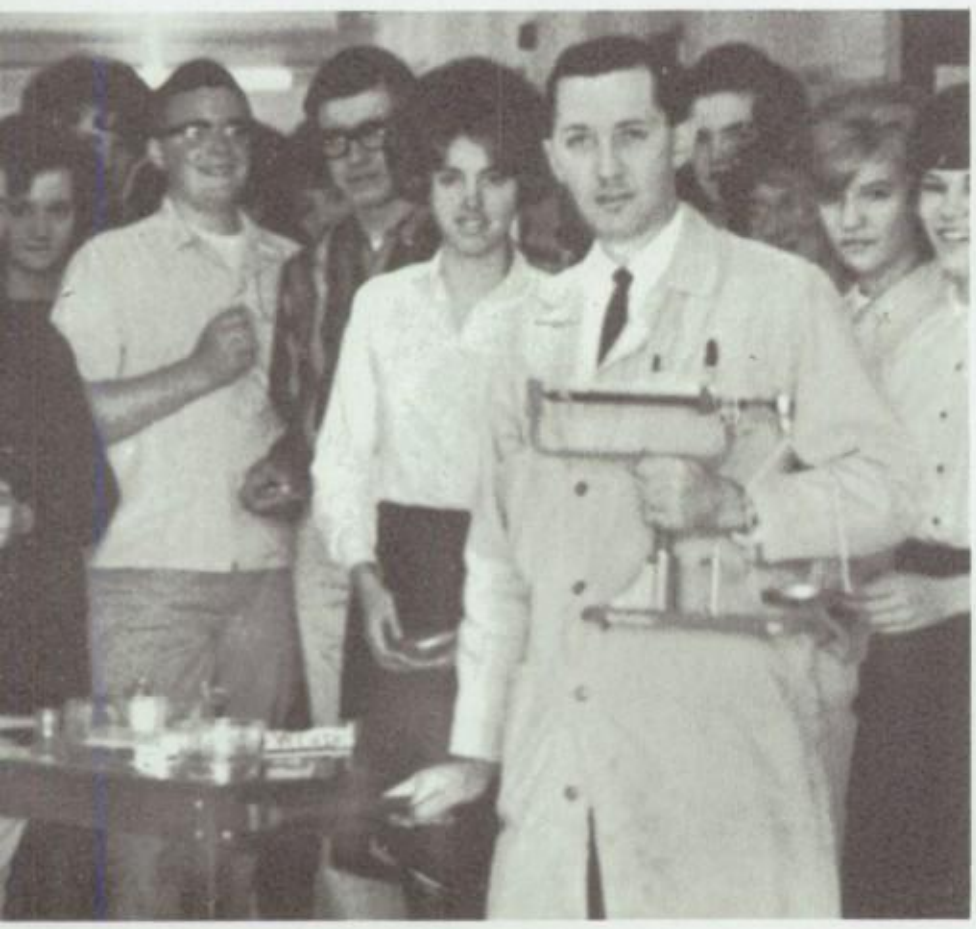
MR. C. K. WOOLDRIDGE
Department Chairman

Mr. Philip Blair, a Solon general science teacher, covers over six units of study during the year. Included in the curriculum are, of course, many tests, of which one on sound is being given to freshmen in this picture.

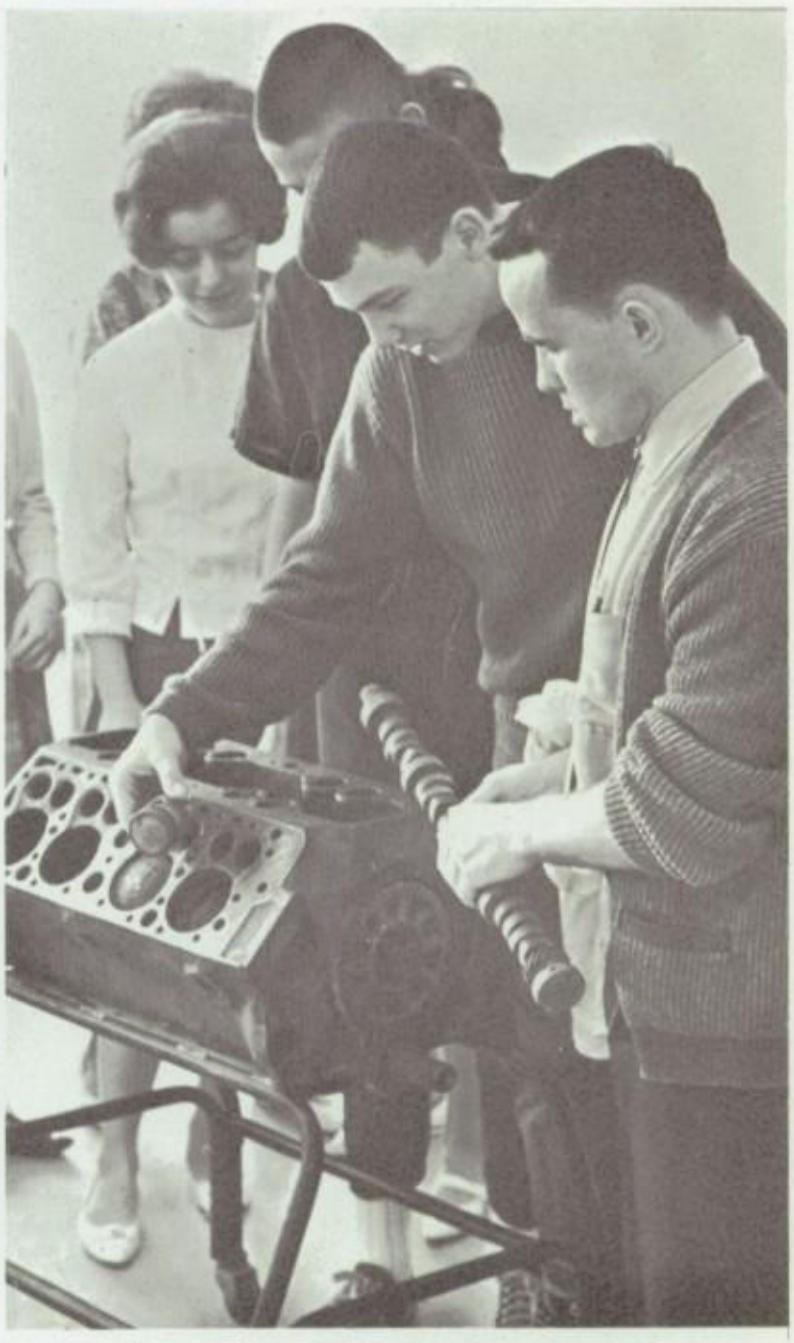


Mr. Ralph Ennis, the Solon physics teacher, is shown demonstrating an experiment in the study of momentum caused by an explosion.

Mrs. Hildur Amundsen, Madison's second year biology teacher, spends many hours explaining small creatures to her students. She is pictured here showing a Chamelon to Erma Cooper.



Mr. Wallace Girts, a Senator biology and general science instructor, is always on the move. Says Mr. Girts, "My room is the science hall".



Mr. Jim Smith teaches general science when he's not occupied with the Solon champion wrestling squad. His class studies several units during the year, including weather, atomic energy and plant life.

Science Department Instructors Number Twelve

Mr. Gerald Lyons, the Senator varsity football coach, doubles as a general science teacher for the Solon freshmen. Among several activities for the study of weather are informative films. Mr. Lyons is operating the projector for his class.

Mrs. Joyce Anderson is another Madison teacher who plays a double role. She teaches math in the morning and a chemistry class and another math class in the afternoon.

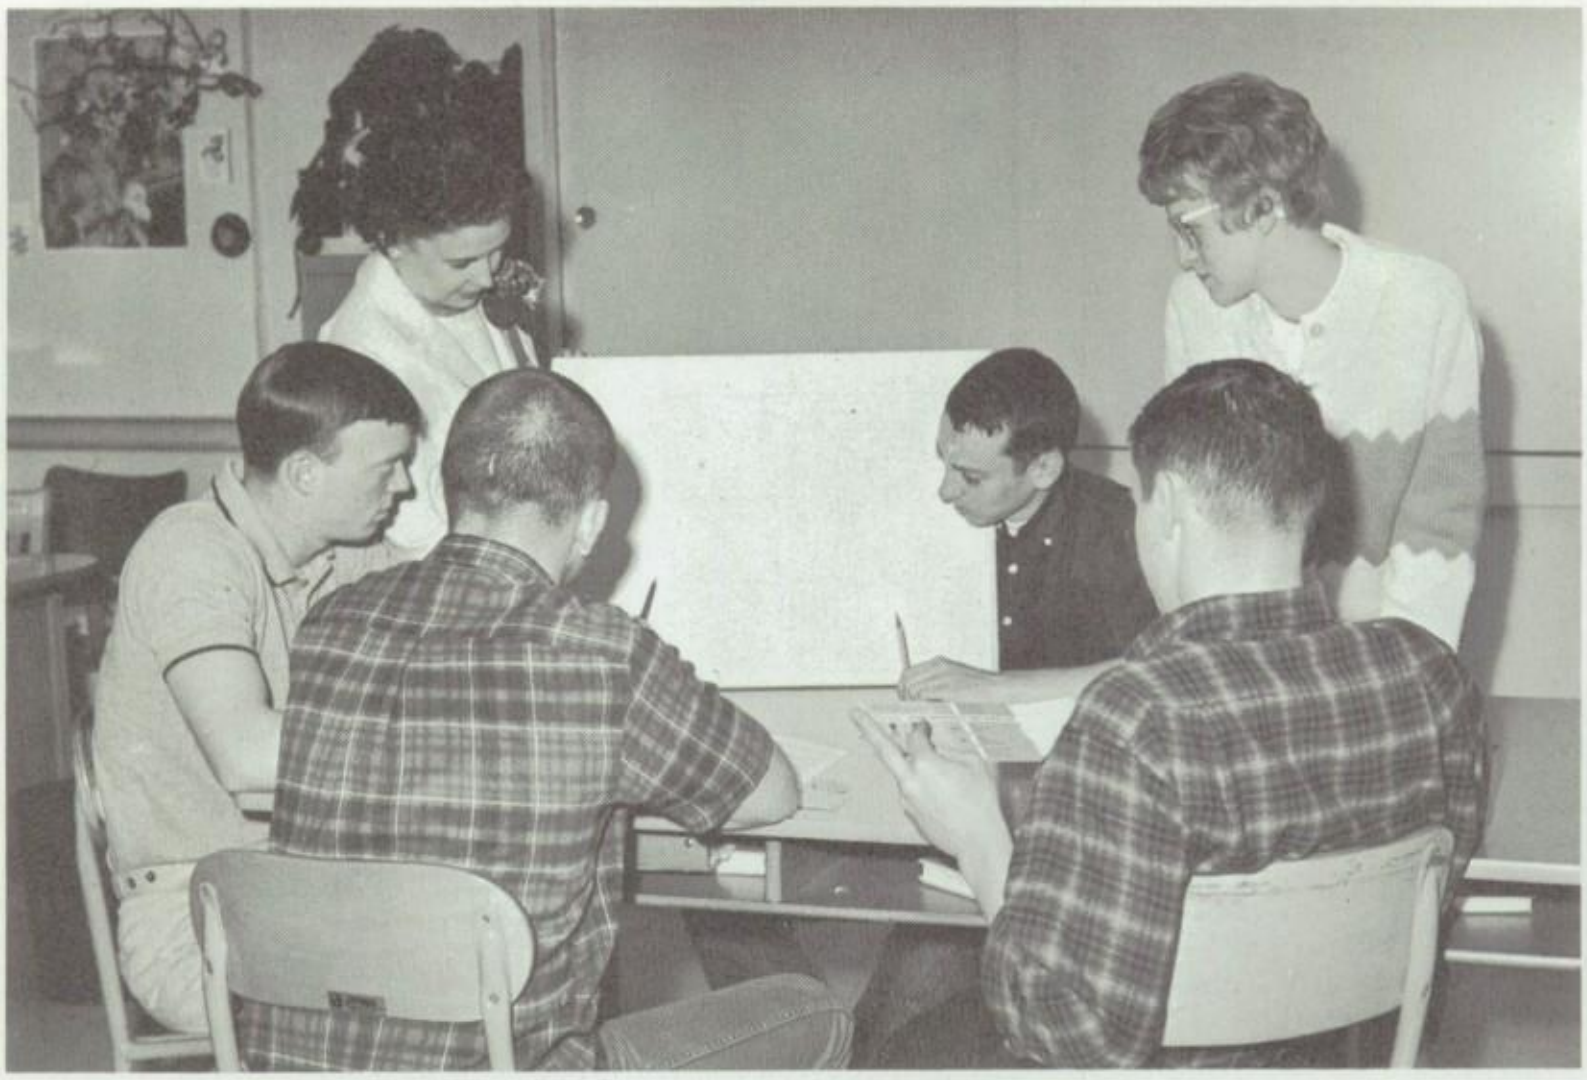
Mr. Robert Damberg is Madison's physiology teacher. This is only the fourth year for this class and it is already one of the most popular science courses in Madison.

Miss Myrna Mangels, one of Madison's biology teachers, has an interesting schedule. She teaches on a college system having one class only twice a week for two periods. The other three the class has English or study hall. She, of course, teaches regular class on regular schedule. Miss Mangels is shown here with Carol Calkins preparing a slide.

Mr. James Norton uses many films in his planned program throughout the year. Pictured here he is setting up the screen to show his freshmen general science class movies on weather.

Mr. Peter Smith, Madison's photography instructor, is often engaged in explanations of developing procedure. He is pictured with David Linfoot, left and Kent Yost at the developing table in the photo lab.

3 INSTRUCT CLASSES OF HOME EC



Miss Elma Shuck instructs five classes of home-ec. She has three co-educational classes, which are boys and girls mixed. Here she can also teach the boys the requirements of a good home. She is also the chairman of the home-ec department.

The home economics department at James Madison is practically bursting at the seams and that is the way we like it. For you see, we are bounding with 600 interested girls and boys electing home economics to improve their understanding of themselves; to become worthy home members; to increase their skills and widen their knowledge of the basic unit of society — the home.

In an atmosphere provided by two special and two general home economics rooms a total of 13 modern kichens fully equipped complete with labor saving devices, the latest laundry equipment; 33 sewing machines and related equipment, visual aids, films, magazines, texts — and 3 well trained instructors — we have:

Planned, prepared, served and evaluated breakfasts, luncheons, dinners, snacks and teas;

Planned, prepared, stitched and worn dresses, skirts, shirts, suits and coats;

Planned, practiced and presided with charm at social and business functions;

Planned, recorded, studied and evaluated personal money management as a consumer;

Planned, practiced and increased skill in care of the sick and injured in the home;

Planned, studied, observed and cared for small children;

Planned, studied and evaluated housing in light of need from the beginning family to the senior citizen; in order to become a better family member now—perhaps assist with a rewarding career and always to prepare for a future homemaker.

MISS ELMA SHUCK
Department Chairman

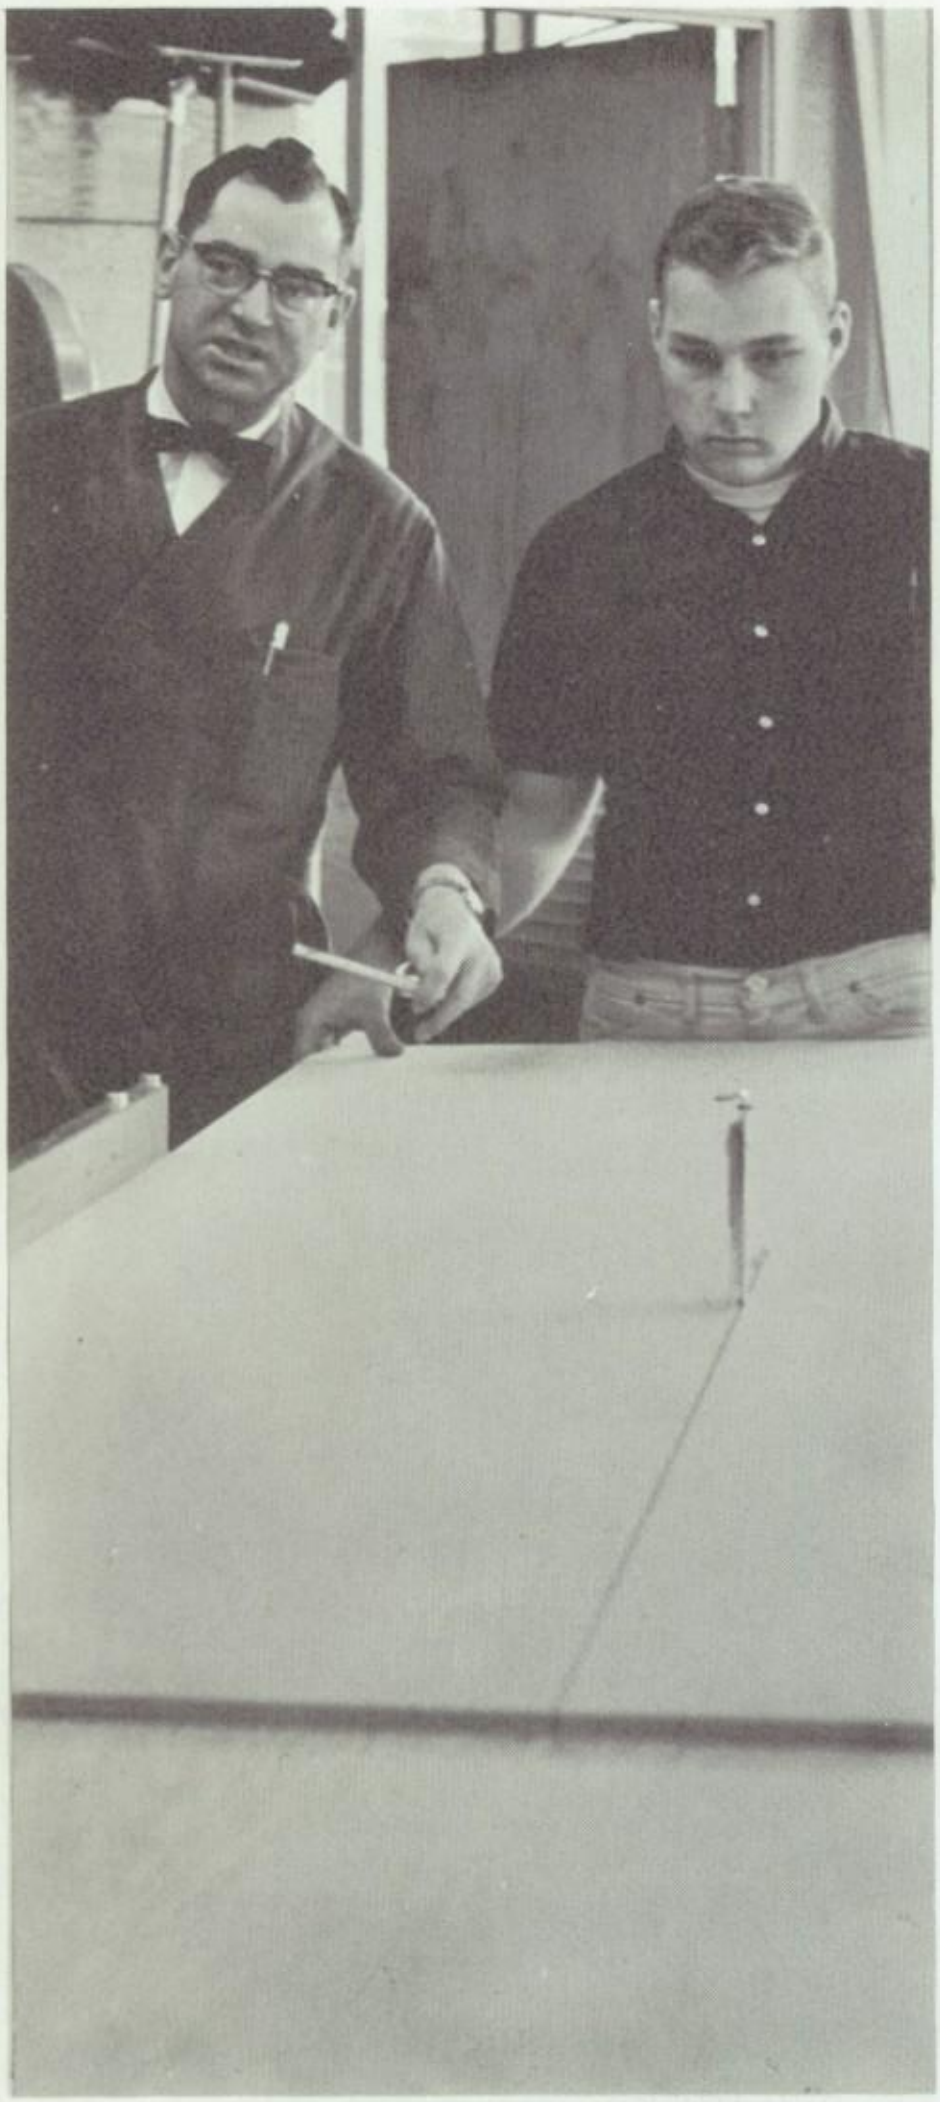
Mrs. Hope Bennett instructs six classes of home-ec. She teaches sophomore and senior girls. Here she is showing Judy Anderson and Pat Baird how to set in a sleeve.

Mrs. Mary Ann Cairns is pictured here with junior, Judy Wolgamot, who is showing her the basic needs in sewing. Mrs. Cairns teaches six home-ec classes consisting of freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior girls.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS LEAD BY PETERSON



Mr. Floyd Peterson, industrial arts department chairman, is working with one of his students on a cabinet for a stereo. The students in his classes make some very fine articles out of wood.

Industrial Arts is a part of the general education program of your school. The science classes introduce you to the world of science—mathematics to the world of numbers—and the industrial arts to the world of industry. It is a phase of general education that concerns itself with the materials, processes, and products of manufacture. The learnings come through the students' experineces with tools and materials.

Industrial Arts is basically a shop or laboratory subject area that provides experiences in which the learning takes place through the sense of feeling or touch in conjunction with seeing and hearing; and it derives its content from the world of work,—and there is dignity in being able to work with your hands.

The Industrial Arts curriculum provides opportunities for you to develop orderly, careful workmanship, and good design; to encourage self-reliance, self-discipline, and resourcefulness through planning and executing practical projects; and develop safe practices through proper use of tools, machines, and shop facilities. The project is a means or vehicle whereby the student applies his learning and develops his skill.

The fields of Industrial Arts are: drawing, woodworking, metalworking, and electronics. Mr. Floyd Peterson heads the department.

Mr. Charles Hatcher is pictured in his period industrial arts class. Mr. Hatcher received his Masters of Arts degree from the University of Minnesota.

Mr. Gordon Johnson is teaching in his third period industrial arts class. Mr. Johnson has been at Madison since its opening in 1957.

Tim Freed is being instructed by Mr. Charles Hatcher in his third period industrial arts class.

Mr. Floyd Peterson is shown instructing Dick Nagel in his seventh period shop class. In the shop classes the students make many articles out of wood.

Mr. Cecil Tuttle is pictured in his seventh period mechanical drawing class. Mr. Tuttle received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Washington State University.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION STRESSES FOURTEEN SPORTS

The Physical Education Program for Girl's P.E. is similar to the Boy's P.E. Program. A total of 14 different sports are taught during the three semester course. Freshman year is begun with orientation and testing for 1 week, followed by Hockey and Speedaway for three weeks each. As the wet weather begins the classes begin to study indoor sports such as: Basketball for 4 weeks, Apparatus Skills for 5 weeks, Tumbling for 2 weeks, Rhythms and Modern Dance for 7 weeks, and Volleyball for 6 weeks. During the spring the girls study Track and Softball for three weeks each.

Sophomore year the girls have one semester of Physical Education and one semester of Health Education. Some of the sports that are studied and practiced during the sophomore year are; Tennis, Speedaway, Tumbling, Badminton, Apparatus, and Golf.

Miss Sharon Norris assists Linda Hopper over the buck in the Apparatus room during Miss Norris' seventh period P.E. class.

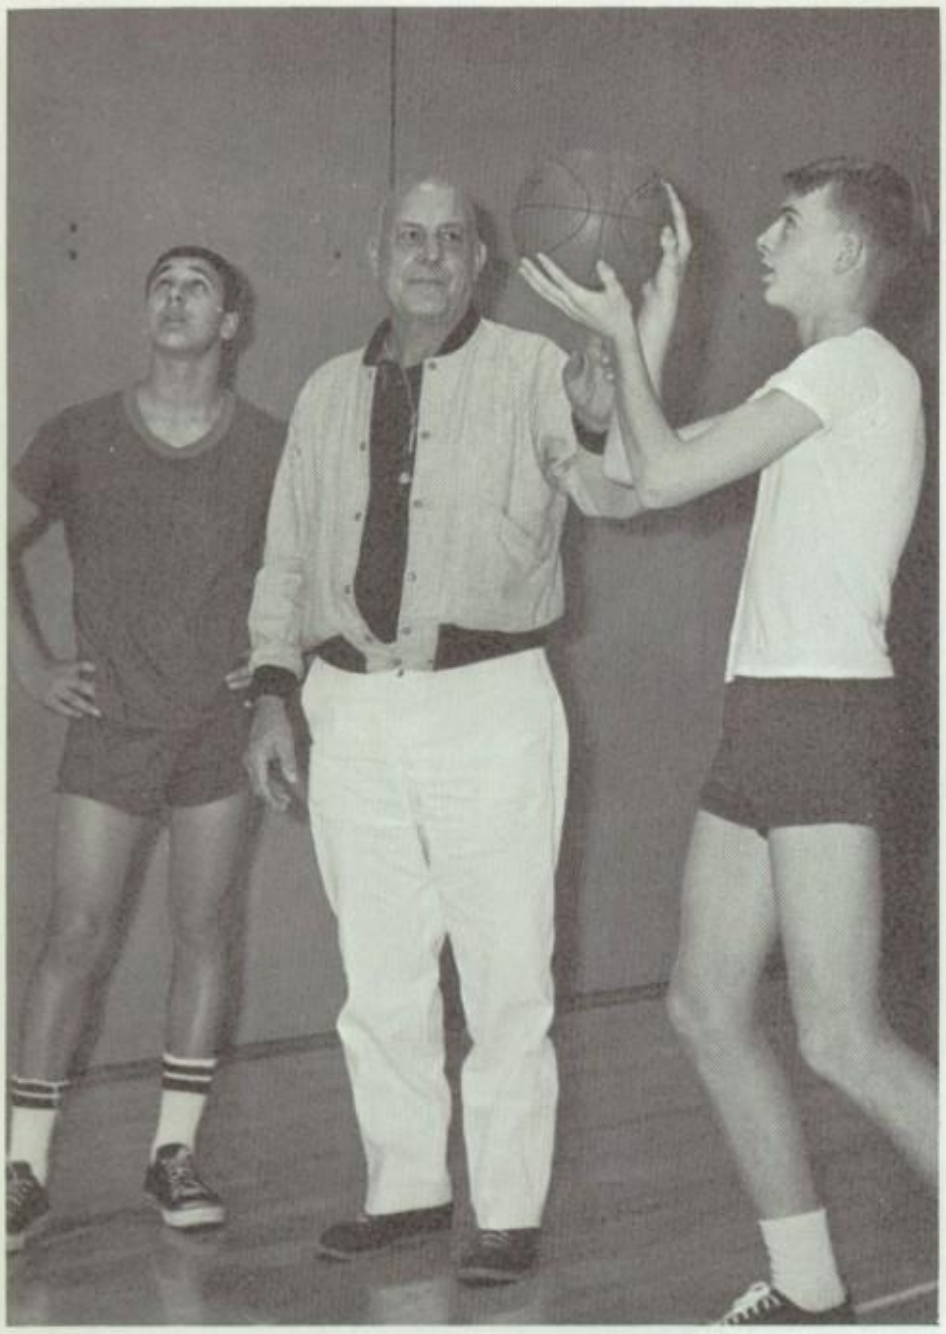
Top Left
Mrs. Gledhill teaches four sophomore health classes. The classes study the health and care of the human body. Also during the health course drivers training is studied.

Bottom Left
Mrs. Barbara Gledhill is shown in her fourth period freshman combined P. E. class. The freshmen study modern rhythms and dance for seven weeks; here several of her students are seen doing "the slop."

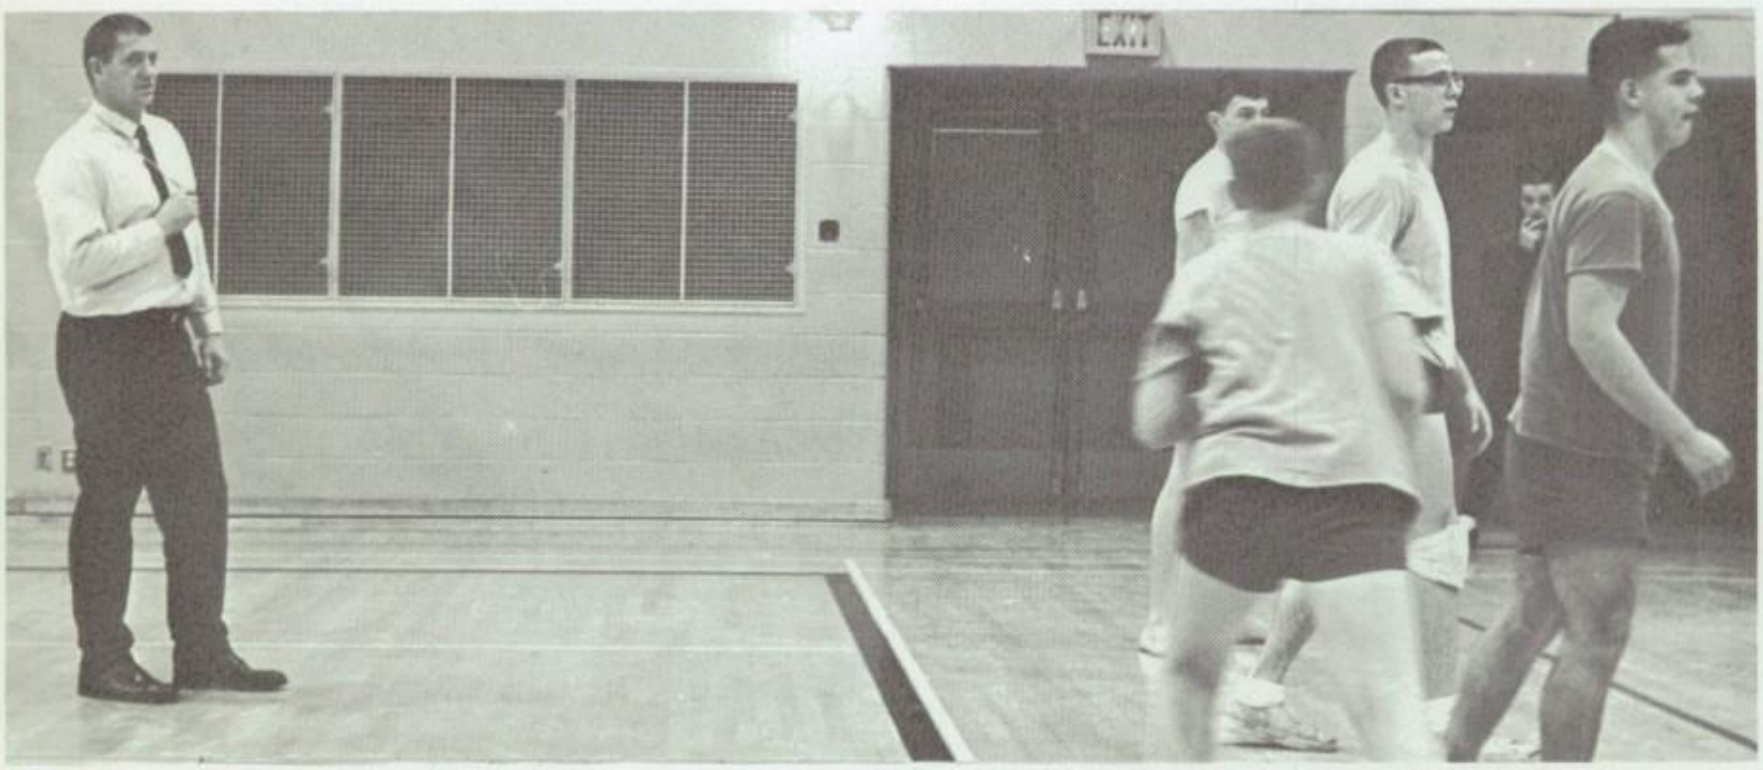
ACTIVITIES VARY IN BOY'S' P. E.



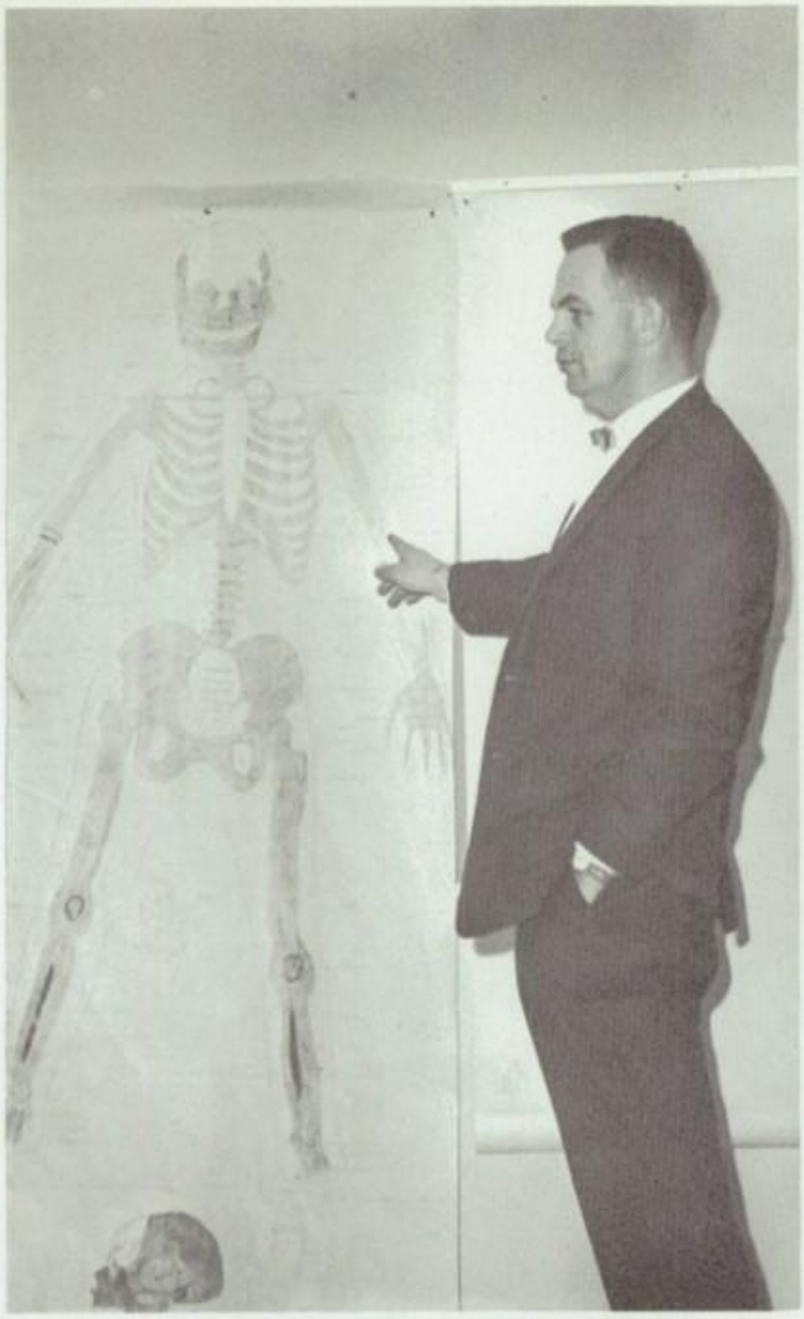
Mr. Gerald Exley is shown in his seventh period boys' physical education class. He is instructing George Greegores and Jeff Hamm in the fundamentals of basketball.

A total of 14 different sports are included in our Physical Education Program at Madison High School during our three semesters of P.E. The students begin freshman year with orientation and testing for one week. The program is planned so that the indoor sports will be taught during the wet weather and the outdoor sports during the dry weather. Some of the outdoor sports that are taught during the freshman year are: Track for three weeks during the first semester and three weeks during the second semester; Soccer for three weeks during the first semester; Tennis for four weeks; Rhythms for four weeks with the girls P.E. classes; and Speedball and Volleyball for three and six weeks.

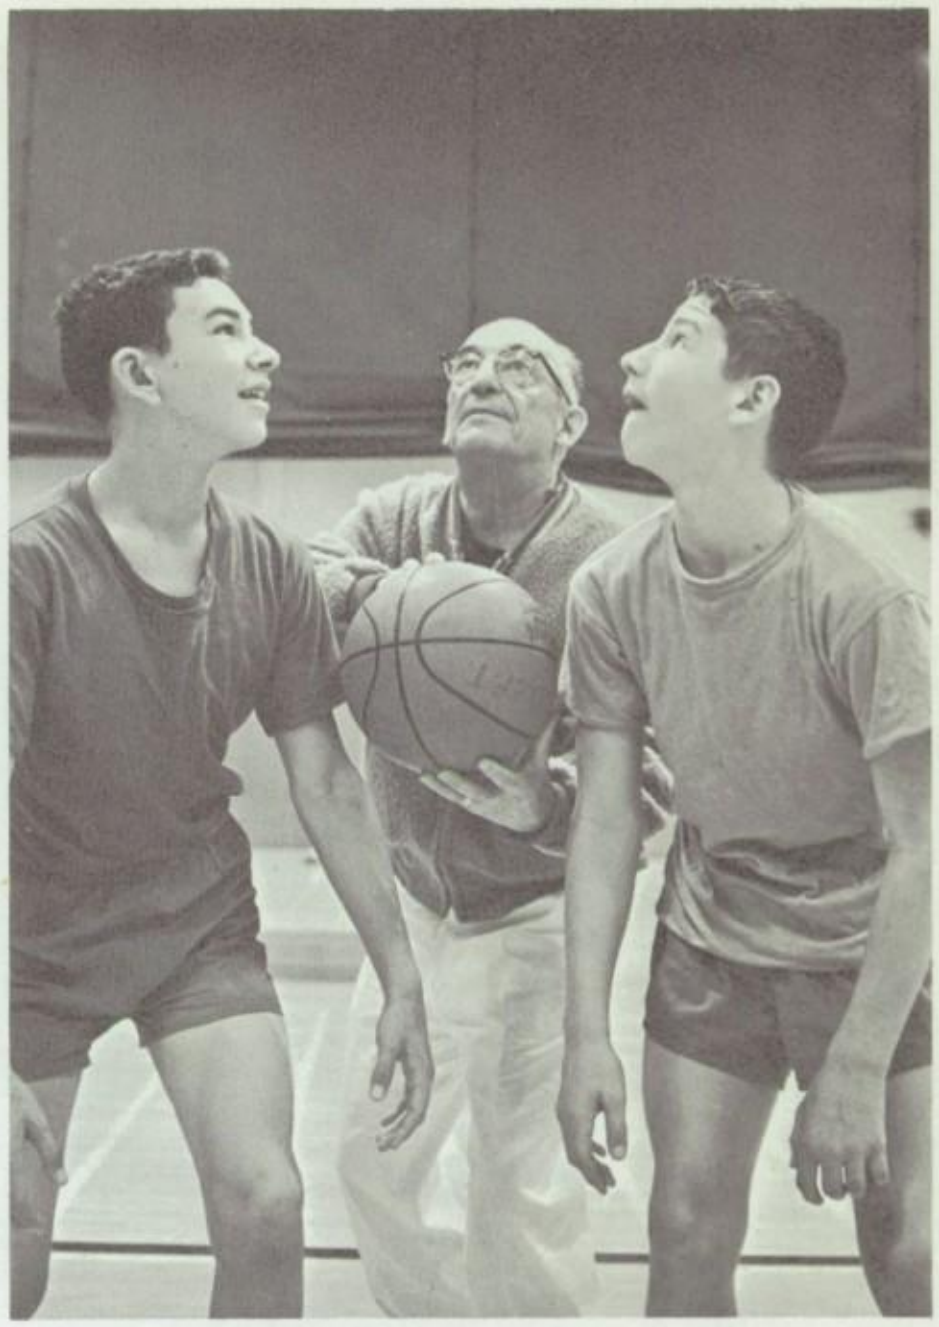
During the sophomore year many of the same basic sports are taught. The sophomore boys take physical education daily for one semester and health education daily for one semester. Some of the outdoor sports taught during the sophomore year include; Cross Country for three weeks, Touch Football for three weeks, Wrestling for two weeks, Apparatus for two weeks, Basketball, Rhythms, Softball and Track all depend on which semester the student has Physical Education.



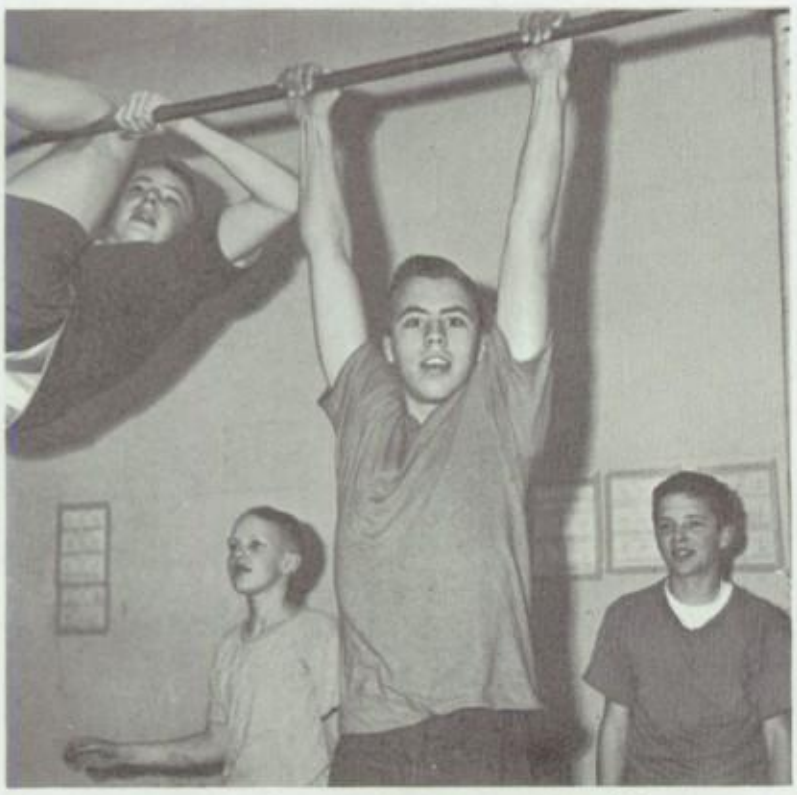
When Mr. Gerald Lyons is not coaching football and other various sports, he teaches two science classes and three P. E. classes. Here Mr. Lyons is coaching his freshman boys physical education on the sport of volleyball.



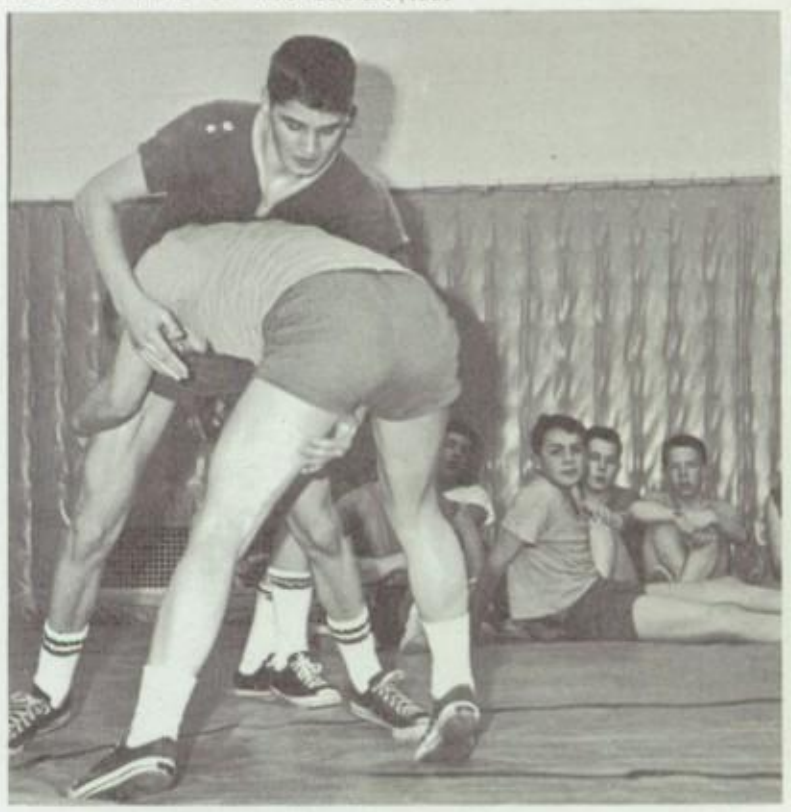
When Mr. Roger Mockford is not counseling the boys' in the junior class he teaches two sophomore P. E. classes. Here he is instructing his second period sophomore boys' health class.



Mr. Fred Marineau, Physical Education Department chairman, teaches two sophomore P. E. classes in the morning and three freshman P. E. classes in the afternoon. Mr. Marineau is pictured in his seventh period freshman class as he instructs two of his students.

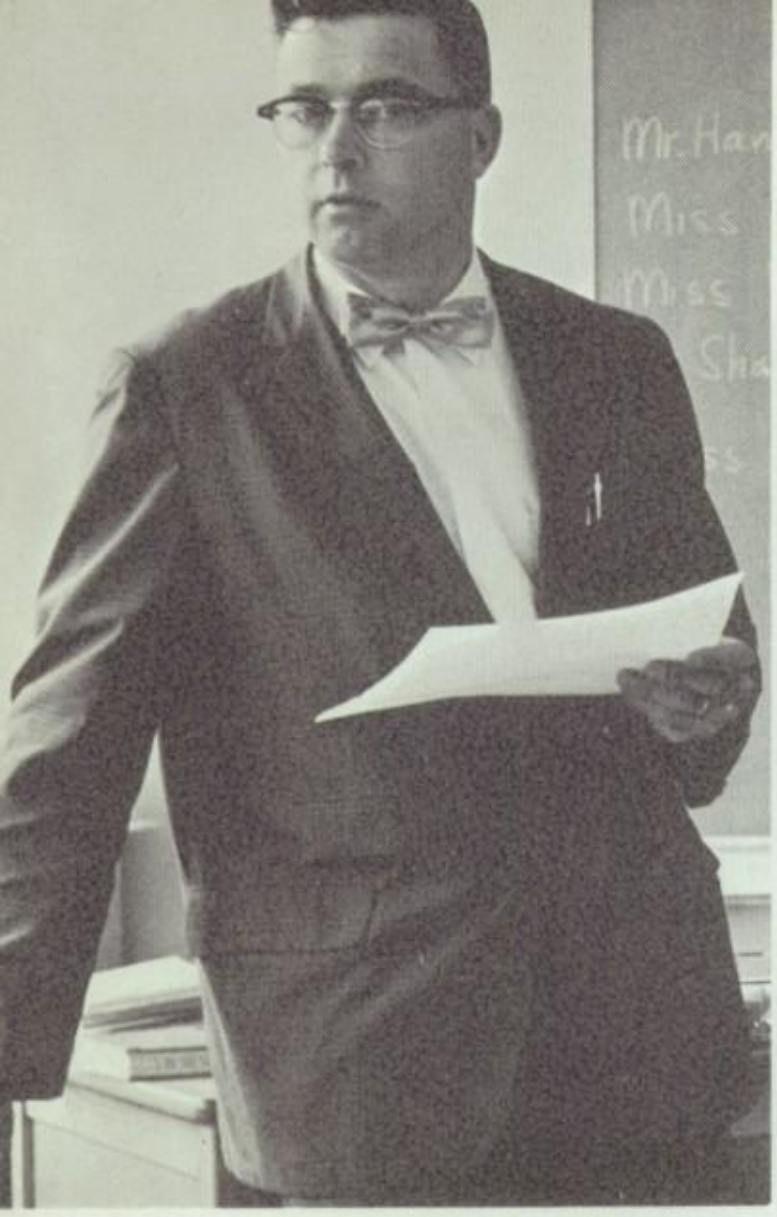


Several freshmen are pictured in the apparatus room as they work out on the equipment and do various stunts. The apparatus room is one of the most popular rooms in the school.



Freshman physical education is a required subject. During the course of the year the boys study many different sports; here several boys are shown wrestling.

SPECIAL CURRICULUM



Mr. William Plue, special education teacher, is pictured here reading the morning announcements to his class. He teaches in the morning Mondays through Fridays.

Special education teacher, Mrs. Ona Brown is helping Claudia Craig on her wood project. She teaches in the afternoon Mondays through Fridays.

Mrs. Julia Strand, remedial reading instructor, points to a chart designed to help students read and understand words. She teaches in the library on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Mrs. Doris Pooley, speech therapist, is busy catching up on some reading. She instructs in the Music Practice rooms all day Monday and Thursday mornings.

NCLUDES FIVE CLASSES

Madison's school nurse, Mrs. Elsie Skonnard, can be found in her office, in the counseling area, every Monday and Wednesday. Friendly and sympathetic, she is popular with Madison students.

Mr. Leonard Rinearson, Madison's activities director, is pictured here with junior Jan Warneke as he proudly shows off the ribbons Madison's track team won in the 1963 City Relays.

Busy Mr. Rinearson is shown here looking over plans for his daily activities. Besides being activities director, he also teaches a class in leadership for members of the Executive Council.

During the summer, Mr. Fred Livesay, social studies teacher at Madison, taught driving instruction classes for interested sophomores. Here he hands junior Pat Lysne her certificate that shows she has passed the course.

FIVE LANGUAGES TAUGHT AT MADISON

This year five languages have been taught at Madison, including Spanish, French, German, Latin, and Russian. Up to four years of a language are taught. This year French led in enrollment, with Spanish taking a close second. Many of Madison's teachers have studied their languages in their respective countries, such as Mr. Von-Schmidt and Margaret Holland in Germany, Miss Dorothy Kull in South America, Miss Jean White in France and Mrs. Marjorie McDonald in Russia.

This year the New Key program is being used to teach the modern languages. During the first year stress is put upon listening, speaking and reading. During the next three years reading, writing and panel discussions are stressed. The language department is constantly building up its collection of tapes, recordings and foreign language books. The language department is not having a foreign language banquet, but the classes are going out to several different restaurants for foreign dinners.

DOROTHY KULL

Mrs. Charlotte Winter teaches one French class and one typing class and serves as the senior girls' counselor. Mrs. Winter is pictured in her first period French class.

Mr. Raymond Niehaus, who is Madison's only Latin teacher, has a full schedule of Latin classes. Here Mr. Niehaus is pictured in his seventh period first year Latin class.

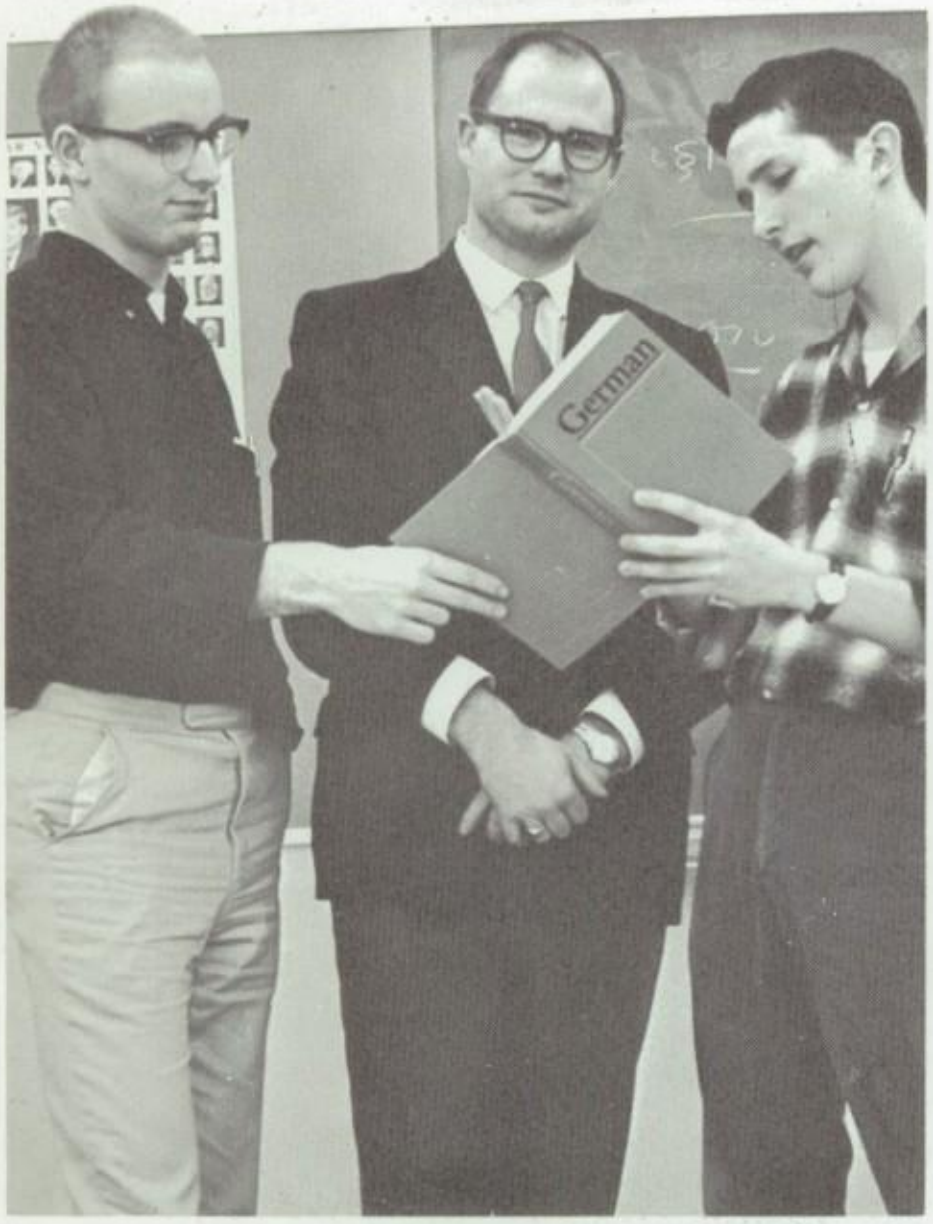
Through the use of the earphones in the language lab, the teachers are able to grade their students on speaking ability. Here Miss Kull is pictured in her 5th period Spanish class as she listens to one of her students.

Mr. William Weech, who has just completed his second year of teaching at Madison, is shown in one of his several Spanish classes. Mr. Weech also teaches one second year French class.

Mrs. Ellen Gruetter, who has taught at Madison for two years, received her Bachelor of Arts Degree from Reed College. Mrs. Gruetter teaches two sophomore English classes and three French classes.

Mrs. Margaret Holland teaches two German classes and one English class along with her duties as freshman girls counselor. Mrs. Holland is shown in her seventh period first year German class.

Mrs. Marjorie McDonald, who is retiring from the teaching profession this year, teaches five Russian classes a day. Mrs. McDonald has gone to Russia several times and has brought back some very enjoyable movies of the trip.



Mr. Wolff vonSchmidt is pictured in one of his three German classes. This year he has taught German along with senior social studies.

Miss Jean White, one of Madison's three French teachers, is the only one to instruct all four years of French. Miss White recently went to France to study the culture and civilization. She has her students read several books about France each year.

Miss Dorothy Kull is assisted by her student teacher Miss Demsey, in her 5th period Spanish class. Much of the classes work is done in the language lab where the students can listen to recordings in foreign languages.

VETERANS INSTRUCT IN MUSIC DEPT.

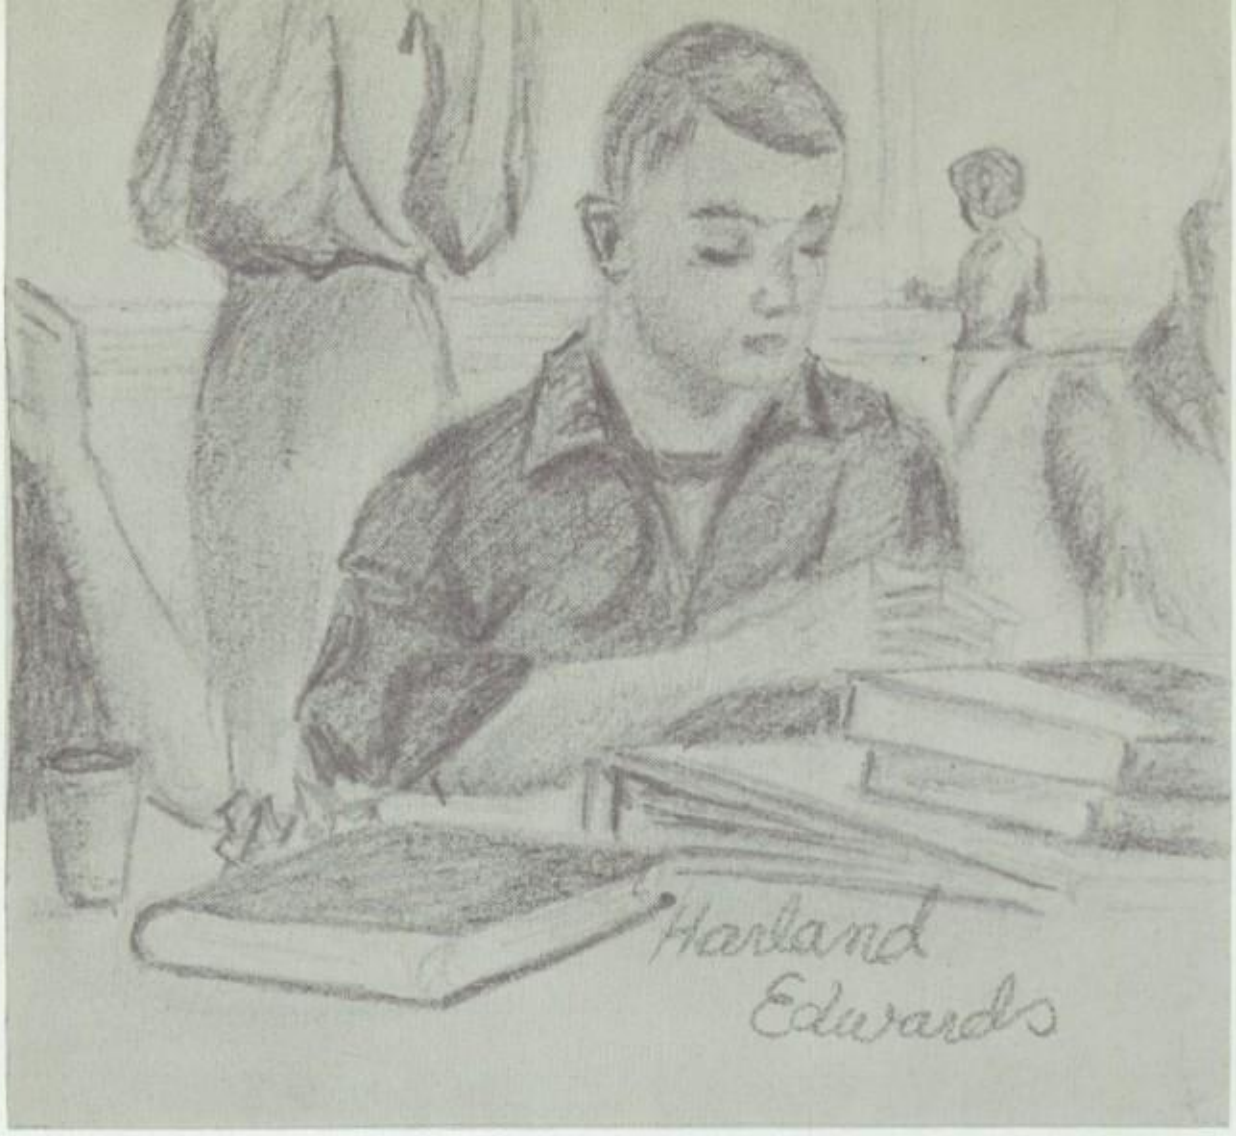
Mr. Norman Street, a veteran of Madison, is shown in his third period Junior Band class. Mr. Street also teaches one Girls' Glee class and Senior Band.

At Madison High School we have a very outstanding Music Department. The department is headed by Mr. Joseph Edmiston. During the course of the year the Music Department performs at many activities and at various assemblies.

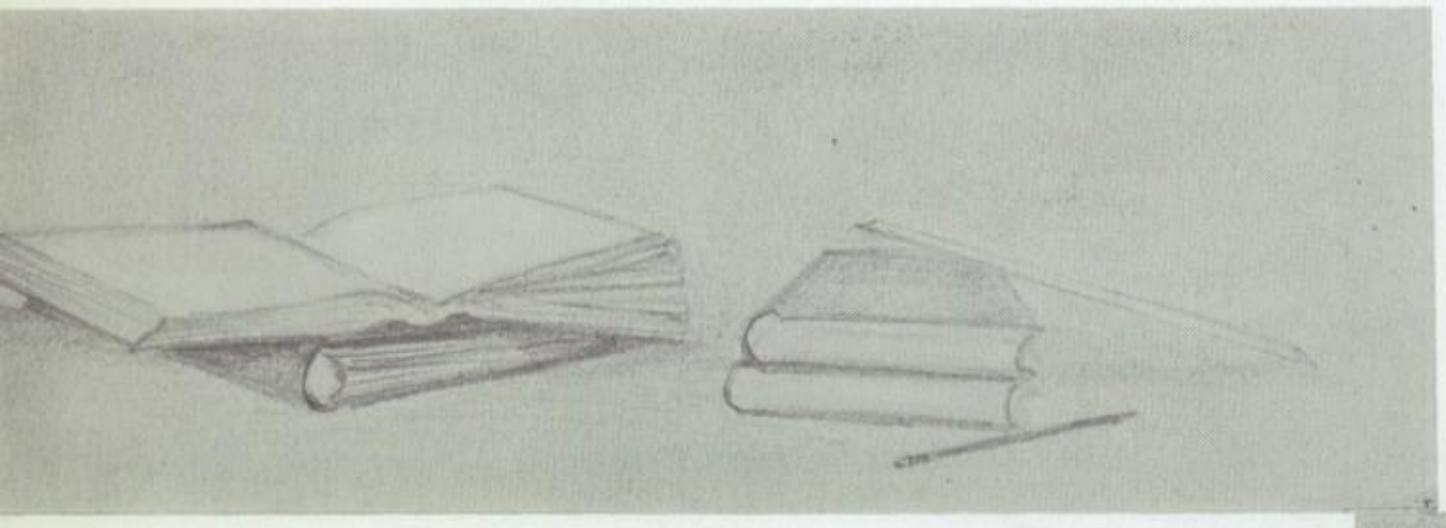
The Bands and Orchestra are conducted by Mr. Norman Street, who has been at Madison since it was opened. Mr. Street teaches various Band and Orchestra classes throughout the day. The Pep Band plays during the football and basketball games which helps to keep the students spirits up. The Bands also play in several parades throughout the year such as: the Fairytale Parade, and Rose Festival Parade. The Orchestra also plays at many assemblies during the year. Both the Band and the Orchestra have won honors for Madison including 24 positions in the All-City Orchestra.

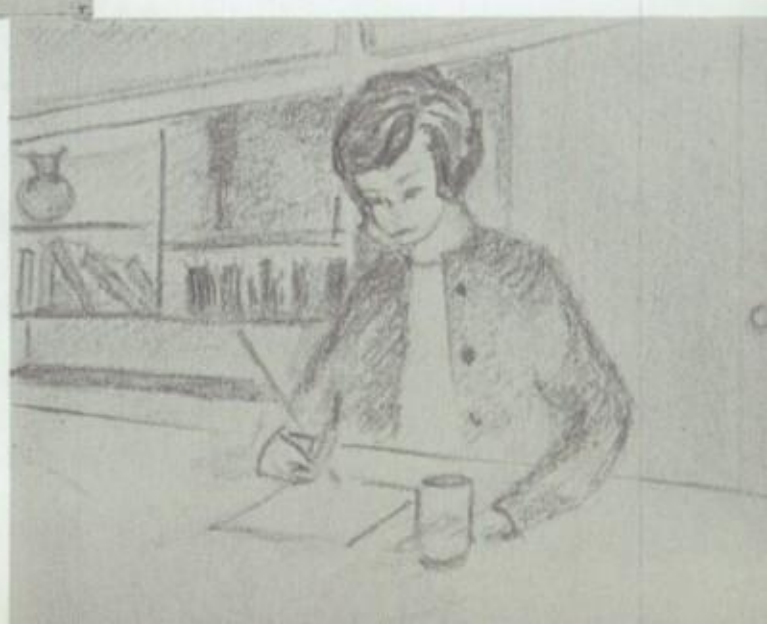
The Choirs of Madison High are directed by Mr. Joe Edmiston. The choirs sing during many assemblies and have represented Madison well in the annual Music Festival. Mr. Edmiston teaches several choir classes including; Senior Choir, Boys' and Girls' Glee Club, freshmen Girls' Glee and Chansonettes. We are rightfully proud of our Music Department.

Mr. Joseph Edmiston's schedule is solely spent working with several different choral groups, such as the Senior Choir, Boys' and Girls' Glee Club, the freshman Girls' Glee and the Chansonettes. His enthusiasm is apparent in the fact that he spends his study hall instructing Girls' Ensemble.



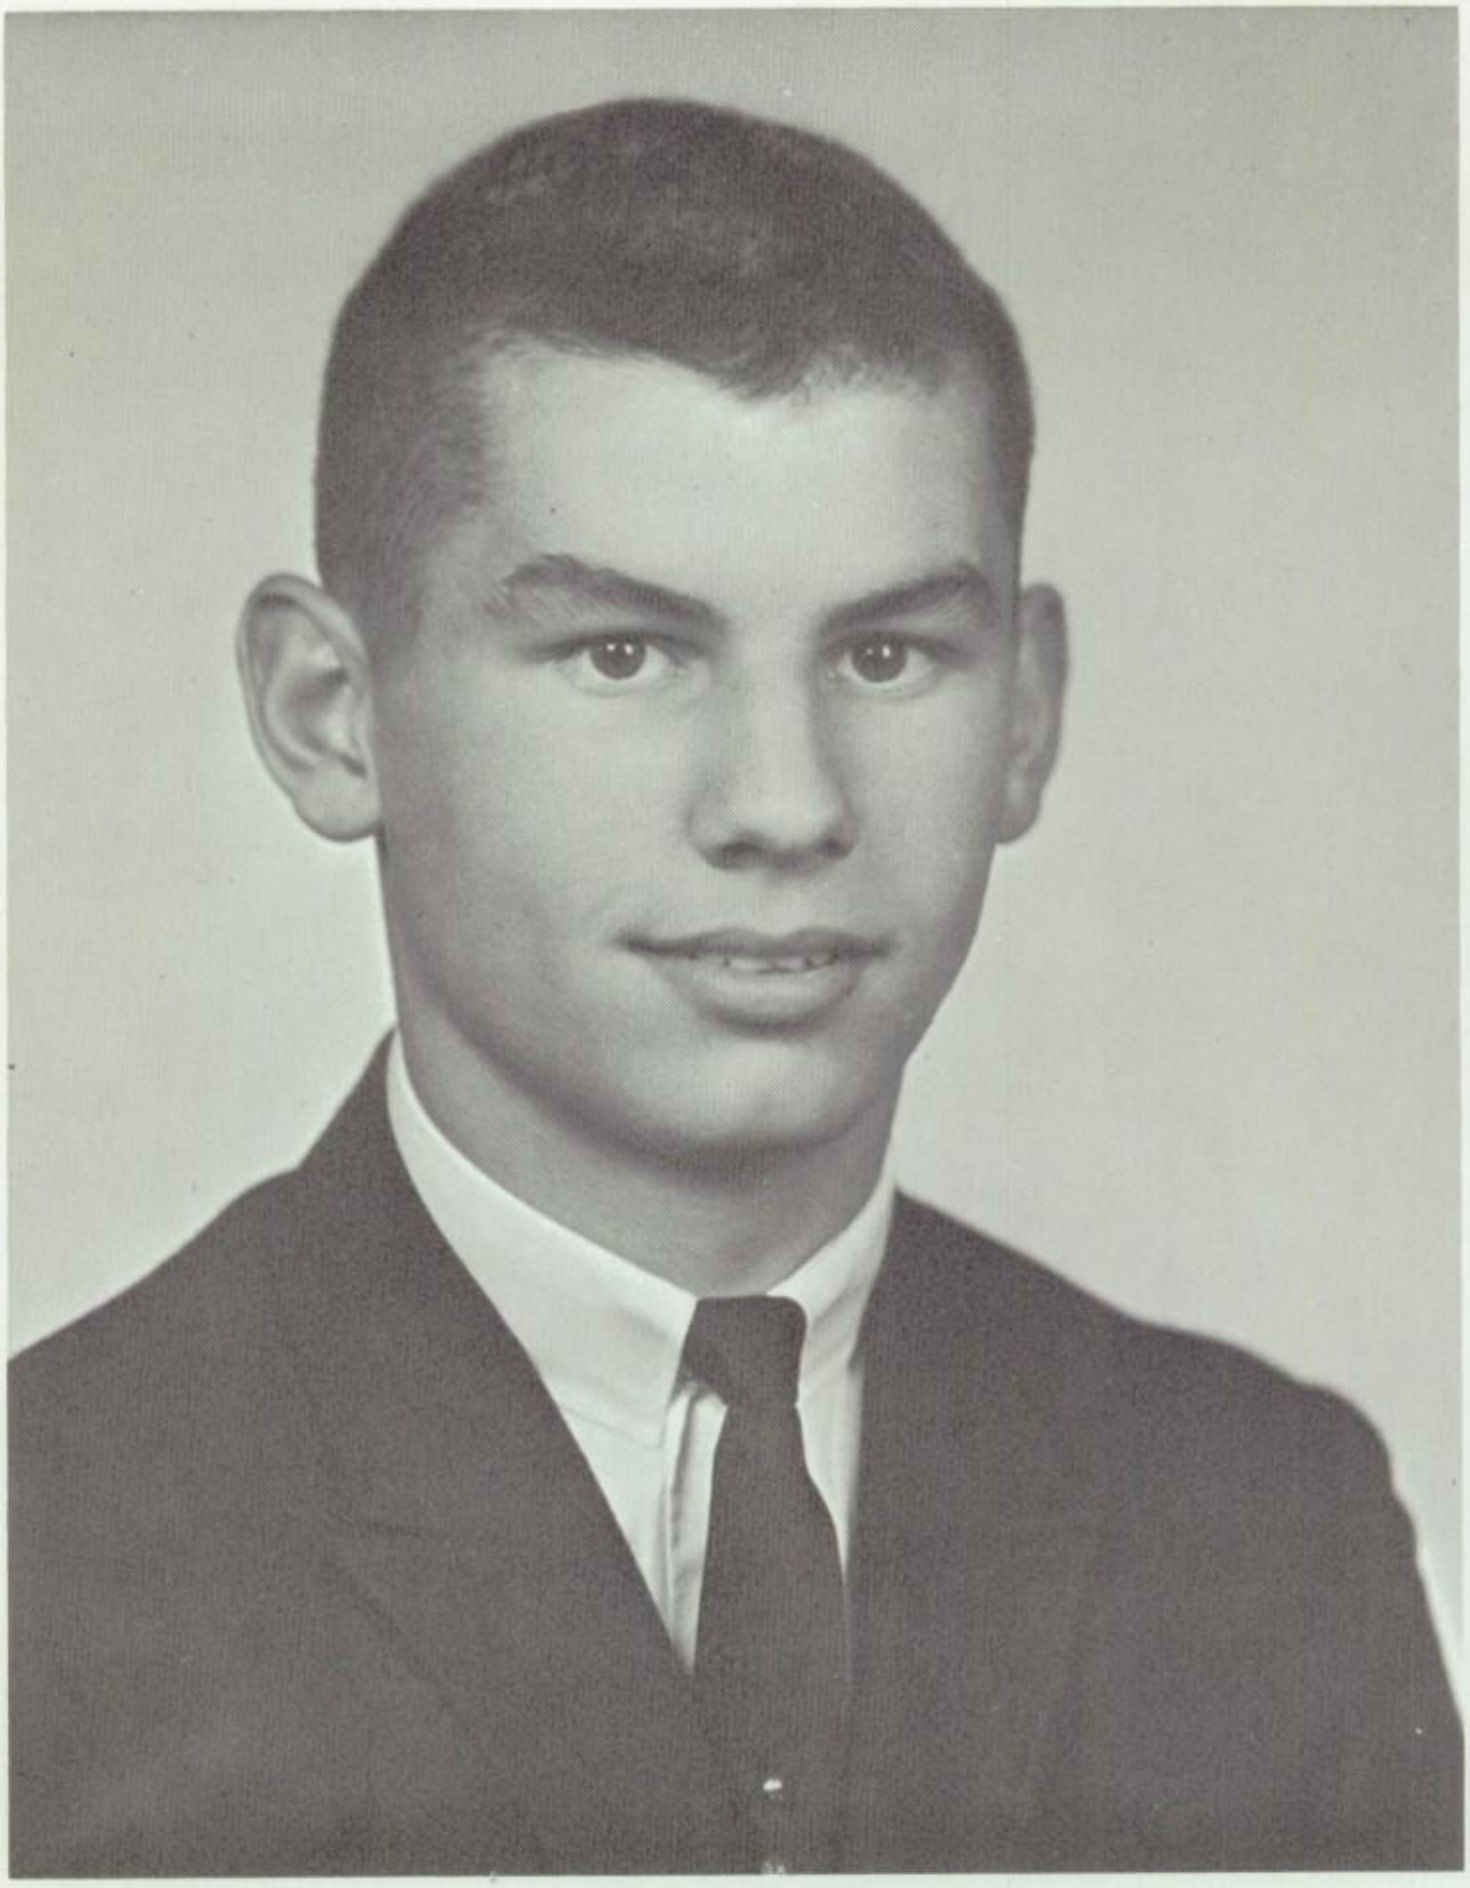
Student Life





There are some good things in life,
that do not fall away with the rest.

Waugh Controls Fall Government



TOM WAUGH

The fall term has seen many student sponsored activities. Many annual events in addition to a number of newly initiated projects have been executed with reasonable success, although many activities suffered because of the Columbus Day Storm.

During the latter part of August, 1962, the Executive Council began the design and construction of the new Student Body Office. This office is fast becoming the center of student affairs and has proved to be a worth-while project.

The biggest project of the term was "Responsibility in Action." This huge undertaking has as its goal: 1) to have each individual accept responsibility for his actions in school, at home, and in the community; 2) to have each school organization accept responsibility through group projects;)3 to have as many individuals and organizations as active as possible. The students have cooperated very well thus far in the promotion of the project and with a little effort this project may become the most successful attempt at student self discipline that the school has seen yet.

Reflecting over this past term, I take pleasure in noting that the progress which the Student Body has made greatly outweighs those weaknesses which have not as yet been overcome. I feel that the fall term of 1962 has been a total success.

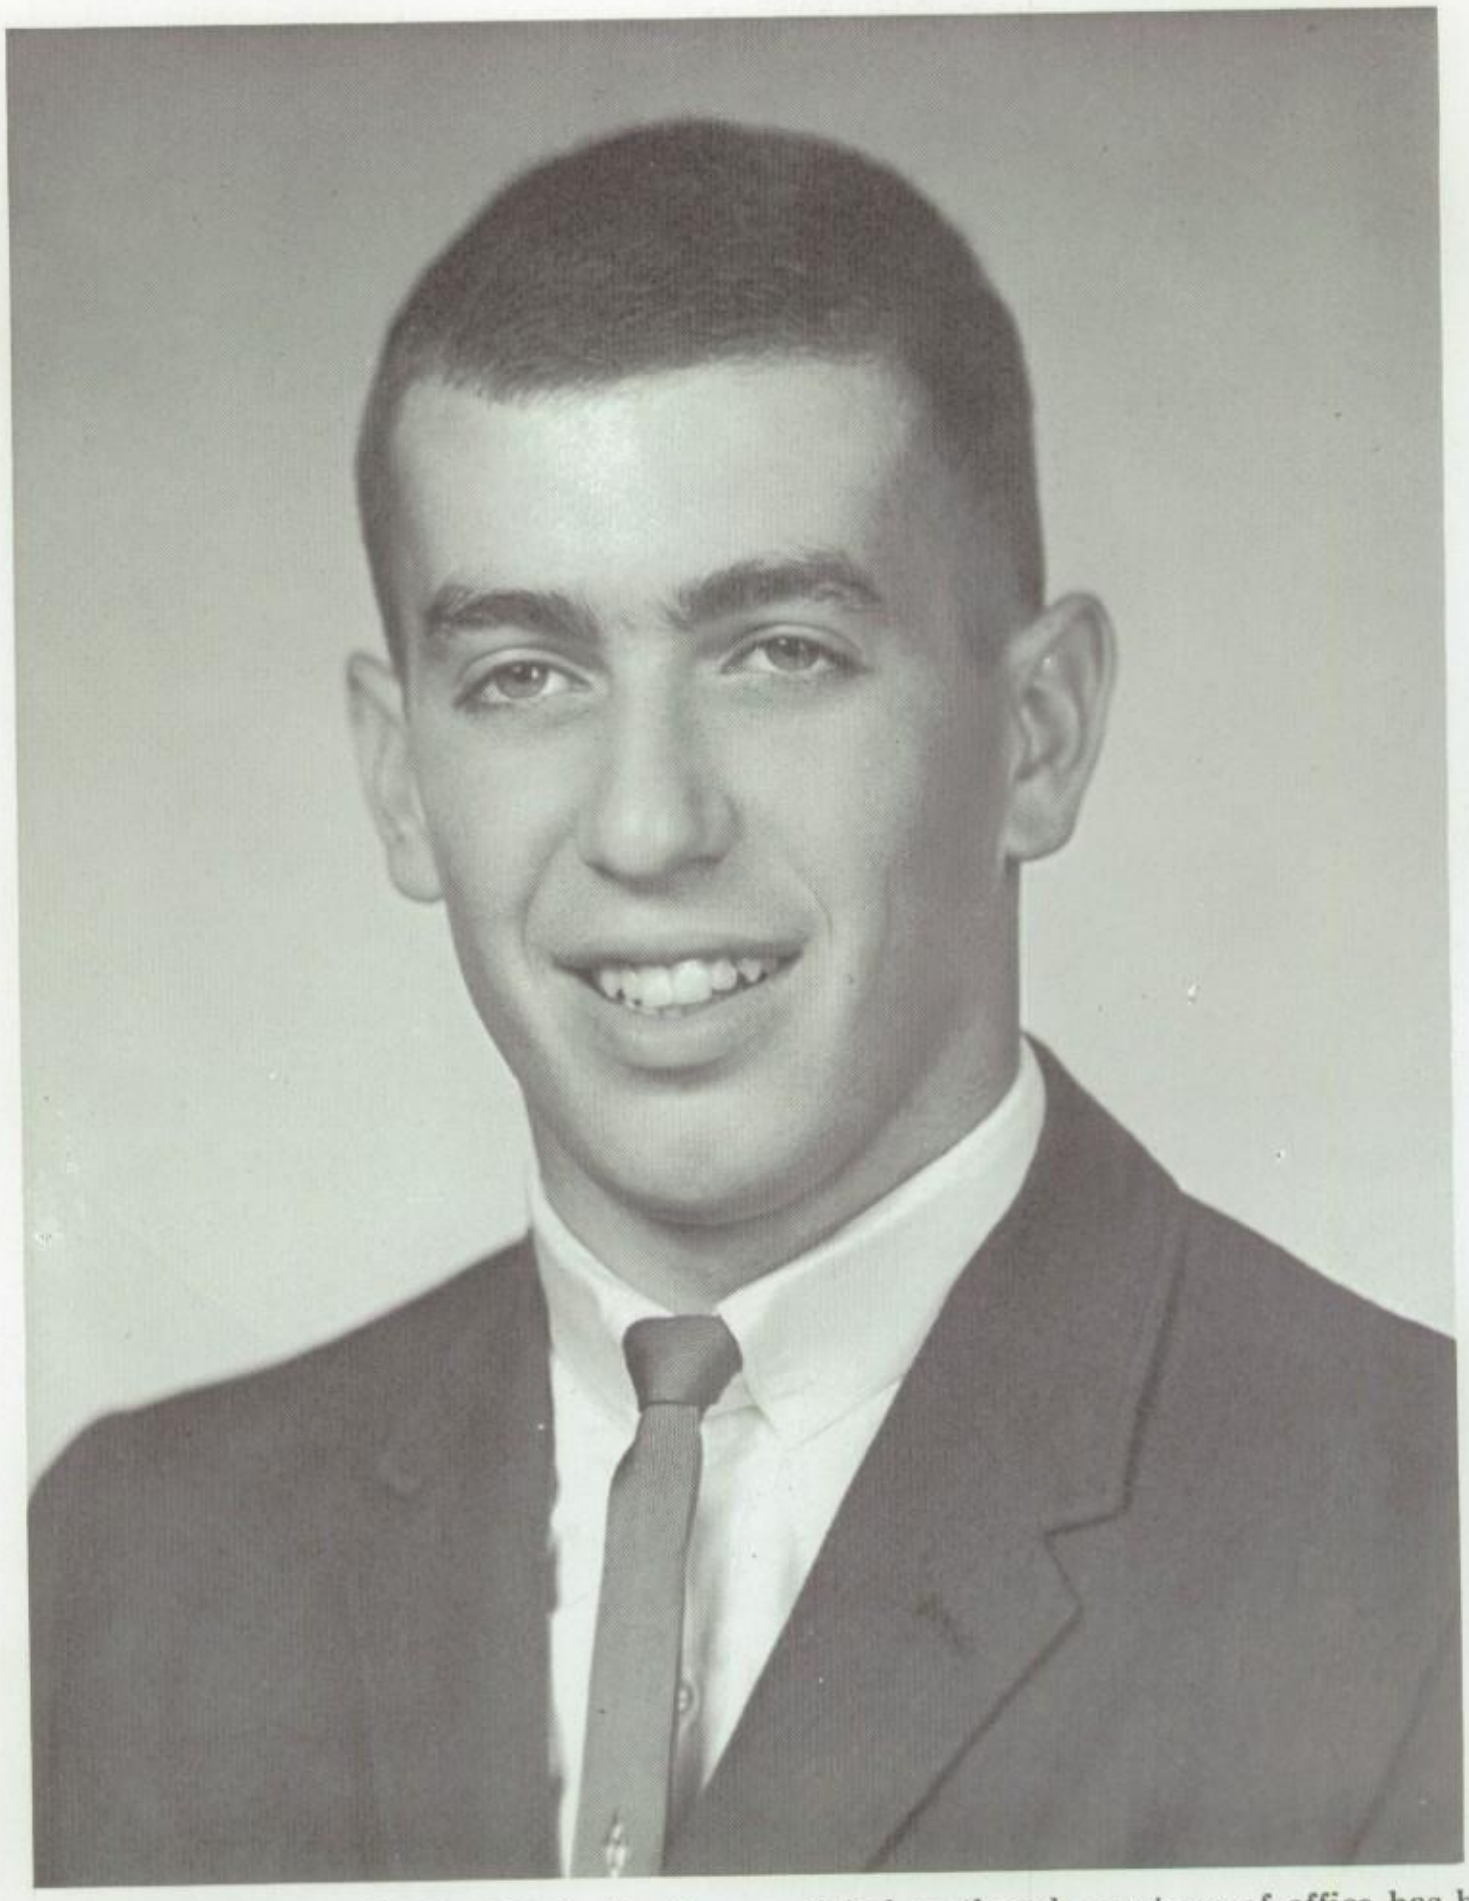
Desbiens Elected Spring Prexy



During my term of office as Student Body President, I have acquired a great deal of knowledge and enjoyment which has contributed to a successful term of office. In this spring term we have dealt with many problems and projects. Naturally the projects were the more enjoyable although, in the future the correction and solution of the problems will be more of an asset to James Madison than the projects. The problems and projects that the Executive Council handled this spring were quite numerous. The main project that concerned the members of Executive Council was the decorating of the James Madison gymnasium. After many weeks of work and ingenuity, some members of Executive Council produced out of plywood colorful pennants and a Mr. Senator. These decorations were presented to the Student Body in an assembly honoring spring sports at Madison.

I feel as though my term of office has been fairly successful. I owe much of this success to the Student Body and the administrators. The Student Body has cooperated and assisted in many of our projects and problems, while the administrators consistently encouraged and supported us. Most of the success is due the members of the Spring Executive Council. They were a tremendous group of intelligent leaders who assited me throughout the spring term. The Student Body at James Madison High School chose me as their leader for the spring term of 1963; I greatly appreciate this fact, and I hope that you have not been disappointed.

Fall Girls' League Has Active Term

KAREN KNOTT
President

"Doing little things well is a step toward doing big things better," is the motto for the Girls' League. The Fall Girls' League Cabinet began the semester with the annual Senior-Freshman Party, the theme of which was "Tea in an Oriental Garden."

Something new was added as we began holding class parties for the girls, planned by the representatives of each class.

During early November, 445 Girls' League membership cards were sold at 15¢ each. This had been tried before but was never successful. The Lollipop Hop was held on November 16 at the end of the football season to honor all fall athletes. Betsy Herron and Tom Ogan reigned as Football Queen and Lollipop King.

Jointly the Boys' and Girls' Leagues planned a Hush Day ar Hush Dance, crowning a Miss Mush-Mouth and a Mr. Irresistabl

The biggest project was the planning of the annual Girl-As Boy Sweethearts' Ball. Another first for the Girls League, duri our term was the Girls' League mimeographed paper. Each mon the Girls' League elected a girl-of-the-month based on vario qualities.

800 Solons Attend Boys' League Luau

The Boys' League Luau had the largest attendance (800 ople) in the History of Madison. The dance was a "Quiet illage", where everyone feasted on barbequed spare ribs, chicken ighs, fresh pineapple, coconut, bananas and punch.

We are making a few additions to our constitution for the ties of officers and provision for standing rules. The Boys' eague now elects a Boy of the Month who is chosen for specific alifications each month. The Student Body Workshop was tended by Boys' League officers and reg. reps.

We have formed a new student committee to check up on rs to make sure that all of the cars are registered and are parked the proper places. We have a student group which is under the affic Safety Council to promote safety in the high school.

A backing of last year's Project Pride is being continued this year by the League, as we attempt to improve the cafeteria, halls and classrooms.

The Columbus Day Storm left broken trees around the track of the Zoo Railway. The Boys' League, showing pride in city and "Responsibility in Action", helped the zoo officials in cleaning up this debris.

The Boys' League, combined with the Girls' League, sponsored a Hush Day and Hush Dance.

'Shades of Spring' Enjoyed By Entire Girls' Leag

MARIA SUDAR
President

The Spring Girls' League Cabinet was inspired by the motto "Deeds not Words." Spring, a busy time on the League calendar, was highlighted this year by Girls' League Week, March 25-29. During this week the projects for each day were under the chairmanship of the class representatives. Monday was titled Blue Monday and blue ribbon roses were sold during this day. On Tuesday, Cotton Day, an assembly and fashion show were presented. Wednesday was the Mother-Daughter Party, Thursday the Powder-Puff Olympics, and Friday the girl-ask-boy-dance "Color it Cool."

Another event was the valentine telegram sale, proceeds from which put up two more full length mirrors in the rest rooms. The Spring Cabinet also has established an official Girls' League stationery.

During National Library Week, April 22-26, the Girls' Leag worked in conjunction with Noesis to help the library recov lost books.

On April 6, the Girls participated in a lily sale to aid cripple children.

Throughout the Spring term, the Cabinet and Council ha tried to live up to and carry out the motto as a guide post. W feel that we have been guided well by its principle, and that v have enjoyed a productive spring term.

Boys' League Upholds Traditional Activities

e spring Boys' League Cabinet had a number of traditional es to uphold during the 1963 spring term which proved challenging.

April 9 Boys' League volunteers served at the annual Club Father-Daughter Banquet. A week later a jazz assem- s sponsored by the Boys' League.

arge group of boys went throughout the Madison district ing 15,000 copies of Dad's Club Edition of the Constitution aper on April 27 which invited everyone to the yearly Festival. The Boys' League decorated for a dance honor- of the spring athletes.

During the month of May the annual Inter-Class track meet was held.

Between the major activities, the Boy-of-the-Month candidates were voted upon and chosen.

With the help of a constructive cabinet the League was able to fulfill its many goals. All of this seemed to be enough to keep us working until elections and the end of the spring term.

'Responsibility in Action' Carried Out By Executive Council

One of the many executive council activities this year was to make these pennants with the letters SENATORS. Those who helped organize these pennants are l. to r.: Gene Saylor, Barry Desbiens, Mike Dressler, Richard Dorton, Ray Agostino, Mike Uhlig, Glenna Nickloff, Jan Mascall, John Hart, Betsy Herron, Maria Sudar, Gail Jakes and Penny Duffield. These pennants are now appearing in the gym.

One of the girls league projects this year was to install full-length mirrors in the girls restrooms. Miss Georgia Dean and Margaret Fowler are showing the men where it should go.

One of the projects of the Boys' League, for the year, was to assist the Dads' Club in delivering 15,000 copies of the Special Family Festival edition of the Constitution.

The Social Whirl

The true security is to be found in social solidarity rather than in isolated individual effort.

Rally Dance Provides Entertainment

The first football rally dance was held on September 14 from 8 to 11 P. M. in the Madison cafeteria. At this dance the fall rally squad presented their uniforms for the first time. Diane Disselhorst, Deanna Helzer, Lana Kemp, Twila Kyer, Brenda Schmitz, Pat Stone, Sue Strom, Kurt Larson, Greg Lynott and Terry Tellert are the members. Their uniforms consisted of mainly two colors, blue and white with Senators written on the back. They led the crowds that evening in the school song and other chants to arouse the spirit of the students, for the next day's game. Other rally dances followed every game.

After entertaining the crowds, the rally joined the group for social dancing. Pictured here are a few of them waiting for the dance to start.

Not only was the turnout good for the first rally dance, but for every after game dance that followed, as they provided entertainment, relaxation, and the chance for a bit of socializing, as seen in the picture above. It still marvels many a chaperon at one of these dances for they don't see how students get much relaxation out of doing these wild dances.

Queen Betsy, King Tom Reign at Hop

Due to the Columbus Day Storm the annual senior class sponsored football queen dance was postponed. The senior class then joined the Girls' League and both sponsored the Lollipop Hop.

Betsy. Herron was chosen by the football team from a court of three. Then the Football King was crowned. Tom Ogan received the honor from a slate of five boys. He was chosen by the girls of the school. After being crowned, the king and queen were serenaded by the fall rally girls. Then entertainment was furnished by a trio of folk singers.

The Lollipop Hop was mainly held in honor of the fall athletes and lollipops were given to all senior athletes. Lollipops were sold for a dime and lollipops were prevalent on the floor.

Dancing started at 8 and lasted till 11 p.m. All the latest hits were played. Then at 10 p.m. everyone got to dance for the bunny hop was played and a long line of students joined in. Music was fast and slow. Here we see students dancing to a slow song.

Indoor, Outdoor Luau Big Hit

Upon crossing a wooden suspension bridge, guests entered a "Quiet Village" of grass huts and palm trees, dominated by a tall fearsome Tiki and a giant volcano. The village was created by a skillful decoration committee, under guidance of Tom Fowler, Boys' League Prexy. He stated, "The '62 Luau had a record breaking attendance of over 800!" The food was a main feature of the evening, as cocoanuts, barbecued spareribs and chicken, bananas, pineapples, and punch were served.

Dress was casual Hawaiian, as shown in the above shot. From 7:30 til 11:30 students danced, ate and were entertained by movies of Hawaii and a talent troupe show in the courtyard.

Fire lighted the outdoor court after the boys built a roaring fire in a long pit, in keeping with Luau tradition. Around the fire are, left to right, Dave McCall, Dave LeBrun, Montez Merritt, Dewey Morris, Sue Barton and Wayne Brown.

Grass shacks in the not-so-quiet village were invaded as in this picture of Doug Coate, Carlann Burkheimer, Lynda Hamilton and Dave LeBrun.

Basketball After Game Dances Swing

Since the Fall Rally was given credit for luring students to the after-game socials, it seems fit we give credit to the Spring Rally, consisting of Pattie Wilson, Toni Spencer, Pat O'Brien, Mary DeRock, Kris Larson, Connie Hallas, Linda Depretis, Dave King and Rick Piper. Girls' Rally uniforms were done in blue sweaters with a white line down it, white pleated skirts with blue in the pleat and blue shoes. Boys wore the same sweater, white knickers, blue socks and tennis shoes. At every home basketball game an after-game social was held. Approximately 13 dances were held in the Madison cafeteria. These dances provid[ed] entertainment and fun f[rom] p.m. until 11 p.m. I[nformation] was obtained from

260 Couples Enjoy Annual Valentine

On Saturday, February 9, approximately 260 couples attended the annual Sweethearts Ball held in the cafeteria. The theme of the ball this year was "Sweethearts Serenade", which was a girl-ask-boy dance.

Gail Jakes and Judy Porter commented, "the dance was wonderful and a big success in every way."

The dress was semi-formal. The decorations consisted of hanging chandeliers, red curtains, and as the couples entered the dance floor, they walked on a ramp of red carpet. Chairmen of the ball were, below, row 1, left Bobbi Prodehl, Diane Disselhorst, Carol Procter; 2: Gail Jakes, Barbara Pickard, Bev Bolster; 3: Judy Porter, Judy Davis and Nancy Bellis.

Fete Sponsored By Girls' League

Stereo tape recordings furnished music for dancing. The Invaders, a local combo , provided music during the intermission. Also entertaining were singers Chris Hansen and Sue Dryden, both Madison students. Jon Gustafson emceed the show.

Refreshment tables were set up at the south end of the cafeteria.

The windows were left uncurtained at the south end of the cafeteria so the guests were furnished a view of the lights of Southwest Portland.

With just the lights of Portland and the ones of the chandeliers, the couples were provided with a dimly lit dance floor. Many couples danced from 8 to 11 enjoying the music and each others company.

Formal Opens Christmas Season

The annual Christmas Formal, this year entitled "The Holly and the Ivy", was held on December 15. An effective opener of the Christmas season, this formal dance each year has Madison graduates as special guests. The magnificent decorations, refreshments and entertainment, plus Christmas spirit, gave everyone a holiday mood.

Music of the Joe Dardis band filled the castle, played for dancing from a bandstand surrounded by stonework. Mr. Unger, usually a Madison teacher, became a knight in a suit of golden mail to greet guests, as in this picture. An ivy covered drawbridge formed the entrance to the castle. The inside of the castle was adorned with red drapery and coats-of-arms, with Christmasy holly wreaths and gold garlands decorating the stone turrets. Pictured here are Terry Tellert and Kurt Larson as they carried the boar's head to the queen and princesses. In keeping with Old English tradition, the boar's head was covered with cream sauce and ornamented, and presented to Miss Merry Christmas.

The crowning of Miss Merry Christmas and presentation of gifts and entertainment was a special part of the evening. The Canterbury Singers, a Madison trio, sang the Boars Head Hymn after a decorated boar's head was brought forward to the queen. After the queen's wish of "Merry Christmas!" refreshments were served. The court, pictured here at the crowning, included Junior Princess Darlene Leu, (Doug Wilson, Queen's escort), Miss Merry Christmas, Lynda Hamilton, (Student Body President Tom Waugh), Sophomore Princess Ann Truax and Freshman Princess Kathy Loghry.

Decorations completed and everything in place, the Madison ballroom became an ancient castle, awaiting the annual Christmas crowd of formally dressed dancers. After the hours of work needed to transform the room into a castle, the finished scene before the dance seems specially calm and waiting, as shown in this picture. General Chairman Bebe Dwyer proved skillful in handling the myriad of details involved in producing a dance of this caliber. Bebe was aided by Mr. Rinearson, Madison's Social Director, shown here helping decorate, and by her committees.

Juniors Present April Showers

"April Showers" was the theme of the annual Spring Formal sponsored by the junior class. The formal was held in Madison's cafeteria from 8 to 11 p.m. the evening of April 16. Jill Austin served as the general chairman of the formal. Committee chairmen were: publicity, Karla Viking; bids, Nancy Bellis; decorations, Marsha Almeter; and refreshments, Sue Pjesky. Other chairmen were Annette Ahl, Pete Hallock, Dave Carkner and Greg Craner.

Above on the right is the bid that was given to the couples as they entered the dance. As you can see, the bid carried out the theme of "April Showers."

Below, a red plush carpet led you to the white rod iron archway which led to the land of raindrops and umbrellas. Approximately 100 couples attended the dance. In the picture below can be seen the archway, the raindrops and umbrellas, and the many couples enjoying themselves.

Blue and pink were the main colors of the formal. In the south end of the cafeteria, refreshments were served and a white picket fence gave the appearance of an outdoor cafe, while white rod iron street lamps accented the eating area. Pink punch and canapes were served. Pictured above is the area in which the refreshments were served, under th pink shadows cast by the street lamps bordering the plaza.

Picture below. In the north end of the cafeteria there was a two-tiered fountain with ivy growing around. Pictured around the fountain are: Kathia Naumann, Kurt Larson, Sue Barton, Dave Tufte, Lynn Larson and Jim Hallas.

Assembly, Dance, B.L. Activities

On Tuesday, April 16, the Boys' League Spring Executive Council brought to Madison the Kingsmen for their annual Jazz Assembly. Presented in a double assembly, the five member combo consisted of a drummer, an electric piano, a rhythm guitar, a bass guitar and a lead guitar. For 40 minutes they entertained the student body with many popular songs such as Seaside Riot and their latest record Louie Louie. The assembly was arranged under the leadership of Gene Saylor and Terry Tellert.

April 27, from 8-11 p.m. in the Madison cafeteria the Spring Boys' League held their annual dance. Theme of the dance was "Olympus." The dance honored all athletes on the baseball, golf, tennis, and track teams. Dress was school clothes. Music came from tape recordings and couples danced as seen above, amid the many candidates posters which covered the walls.

Memorable Occasions

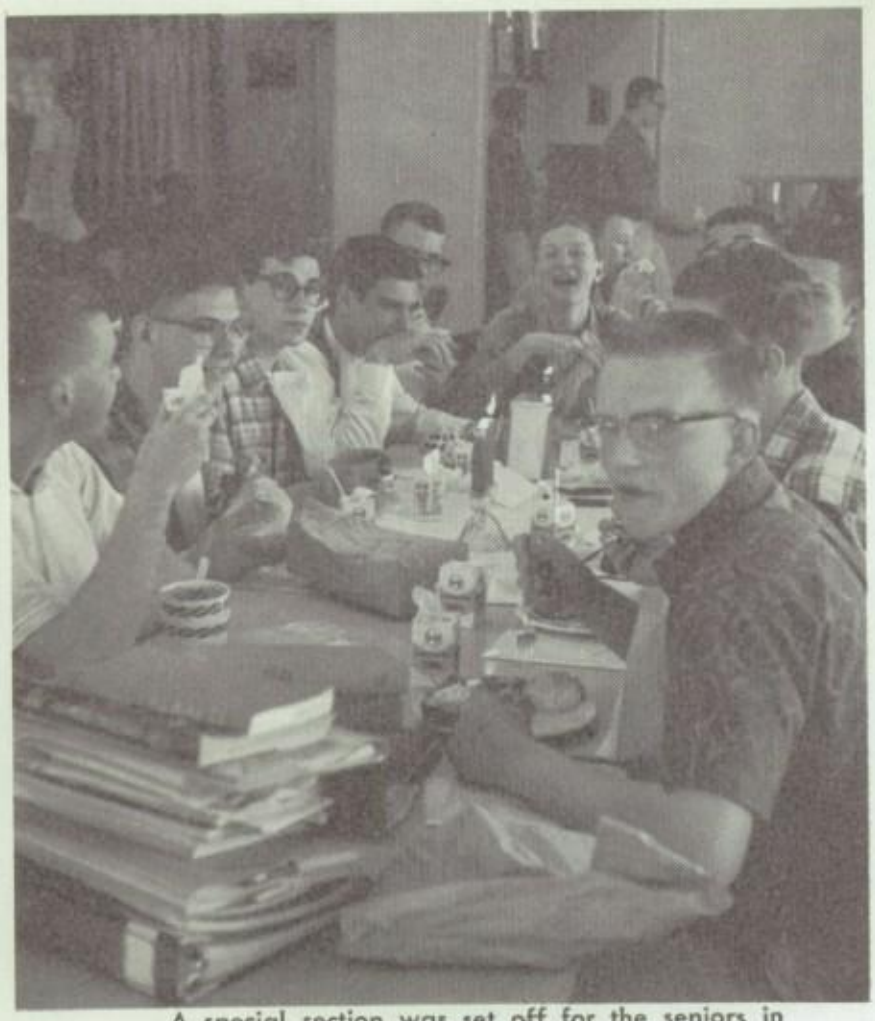
Each young person shapes around himself events that are young, beautiful, and happy.



A special section was set off for the seniors in the cafeteria for Senior Luncheon Day. Each senior was given a "Memories" book, which he had signed by his friends.

"East Side Story," a talke-off on the popular motion picture, was first presented by the seniors at the Dads' Club Family Festival, and then to the student body on the last day of Senior Week.

Enjoy Special Week

Each teacher had a senior escort at the Senior-Faculty Tea, which was held after school Monday in the auditorium foyer. Here, Mr. Tuttle and his escort Rick Feldman enjoy the refreshments.

On Ribbon-Hat Day, ribbons in white and gold, bearing the senior class motto, were sold in the morning. Hats were in order for the day, too, and wearing some of the more original ones are, from left to right, Richard Wiley, Sandy Johnson, Lenny Angermund and Rick Barron.

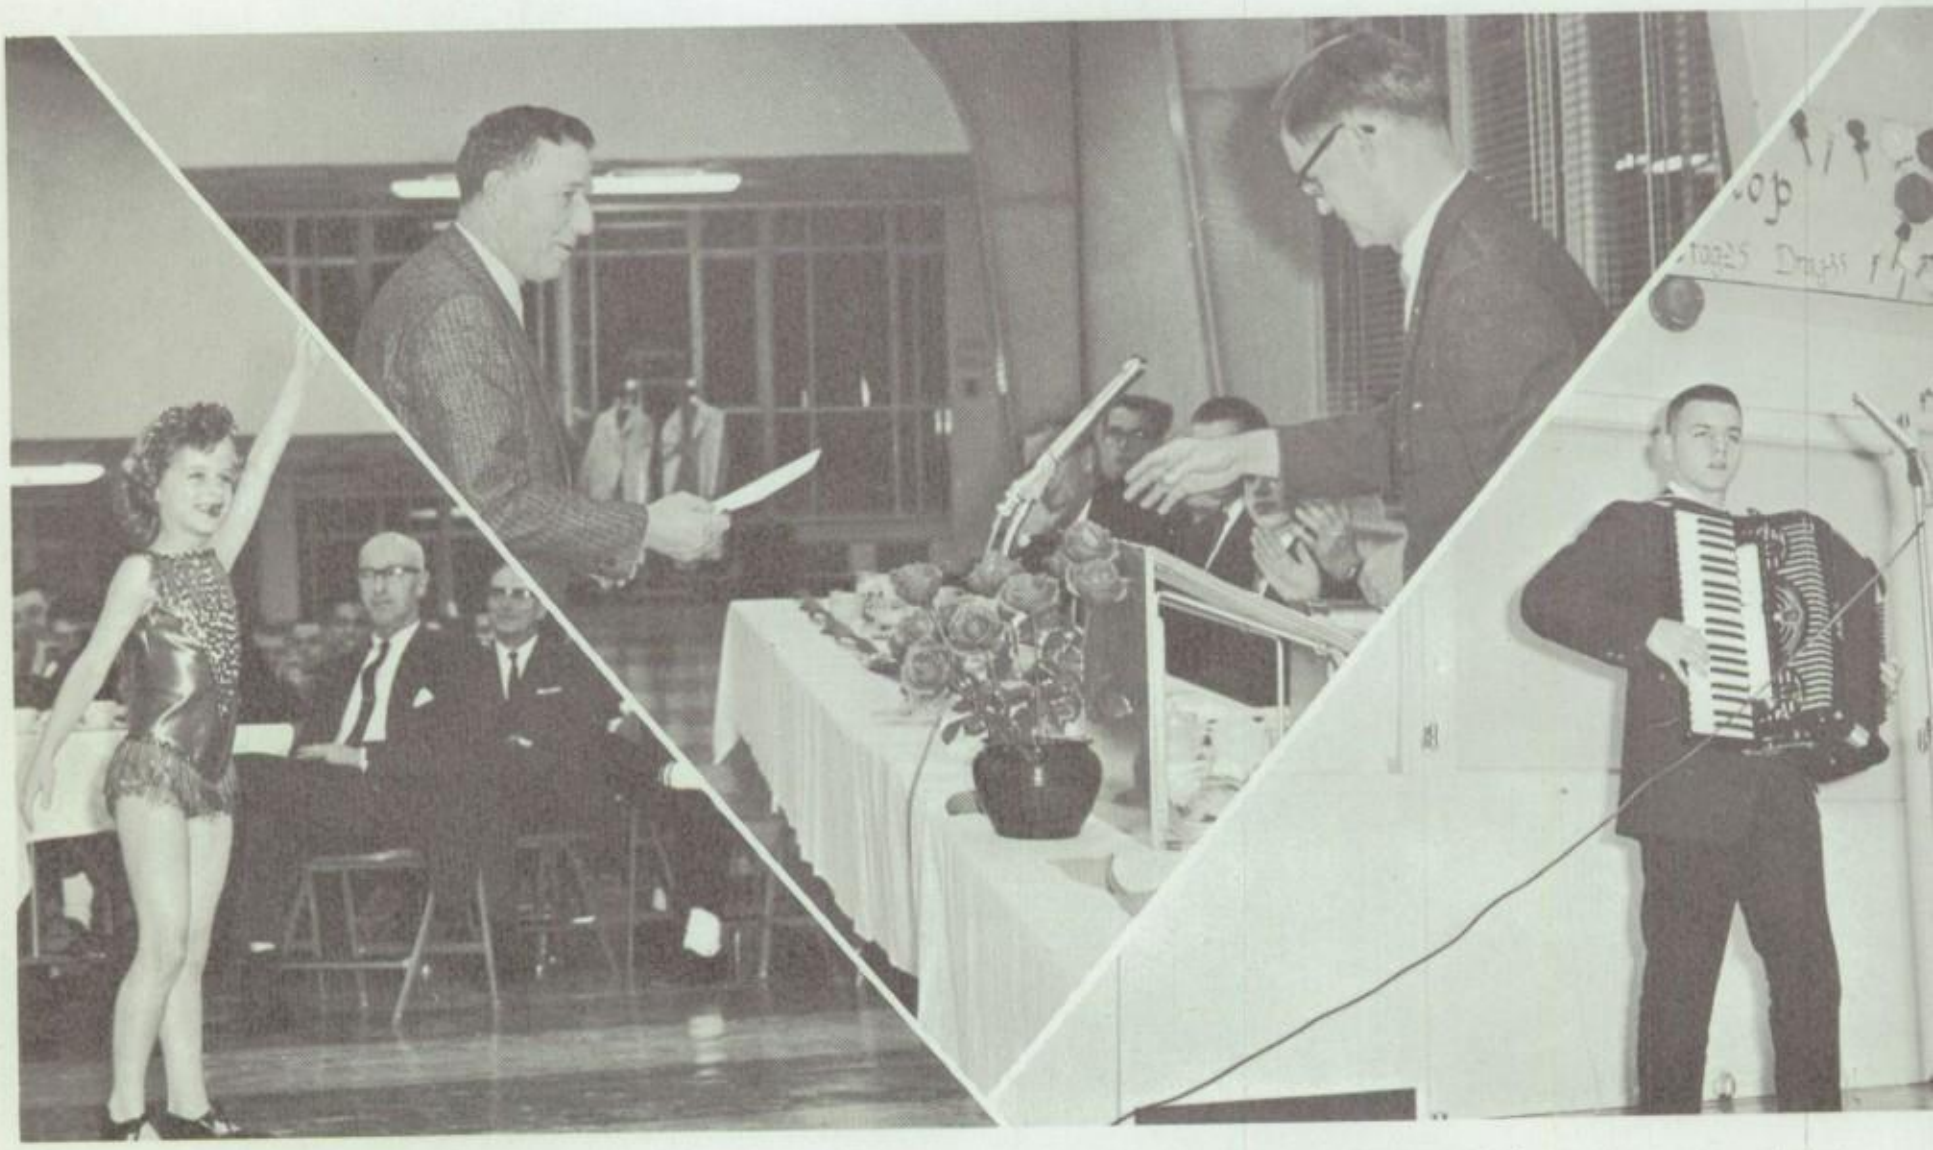
Ex-Principal Speaks At Banquet

On November 14 at 6:30 a dinner composed of swiss steak, mashed potatoes, peas and salad sold for $2.00 to any Solon father and son combo who cared to attend. The guest speaker, ex-principal Stephen E. Smith, spoke to over 150 people.



Three events of that evening are pictured above. Left, this little girl is just one of the dance troop from "Bob and Pat's Dance Studio," which entertained the fathers and sons. Center, Mr. Don Fowler is presenting one of the many door prizes that were given that evening. Some of the prizes were tickets to a hockey game, anti-freeze, candy and much more. Right, accordian player Al Gordy entertained guests by playing "Wheels," "Don't Be Cruel," and "Twilight Time."

"Shades of Spring" Banish Winter

Even though the weather didn't cooperate on Tuesday, Cotton Day, the girls did. Some of the Girls' League members in fresh, colorful cottons, are l. to r. Rae Swicegood, Linda Miller, Bobbi Prodehl, Lucy Igou, Sue Zachor, Pat O'Brien, Jana Mitchell, Mara Udris and Jean Zugman. Just one day of the annual Girls' League Week, this year entitled "Shades of Spring," Cotton Day seems to bring summer closer.

Saluting spring, the traditional Girls' League Week was during March 25-29 this year. The girls planned a special activity for each day, with nearly the entire girl population of Madison participating in most of the events. Monday, the "last day of wools and winter," was dubbed Blue Monday; pretty blue ribbon roses, made by a hard-working committee, were sold and worn. Tuesday and Cotton Day saw the halls brighten with the first cottons of the year. Mothers joined their daughters in the auditorium on Wednesday evening for a special party, including games and prizes, entertainment, and refreshments, as well as a chance for everyone to become better acquainted. Thursday's Powder Puff Olympics were a new and fun addition to Girls' League Week and gave girls a chance to compete in athletic contests. "Color is Cool" brought the week to a close; held Friday night, the girl-ask-boy dance was the last activity.

Lynne Dawson hands out Hershey's chocolate bars to the winning relay team at the "Powder Puff Olympics" held on Thursday.

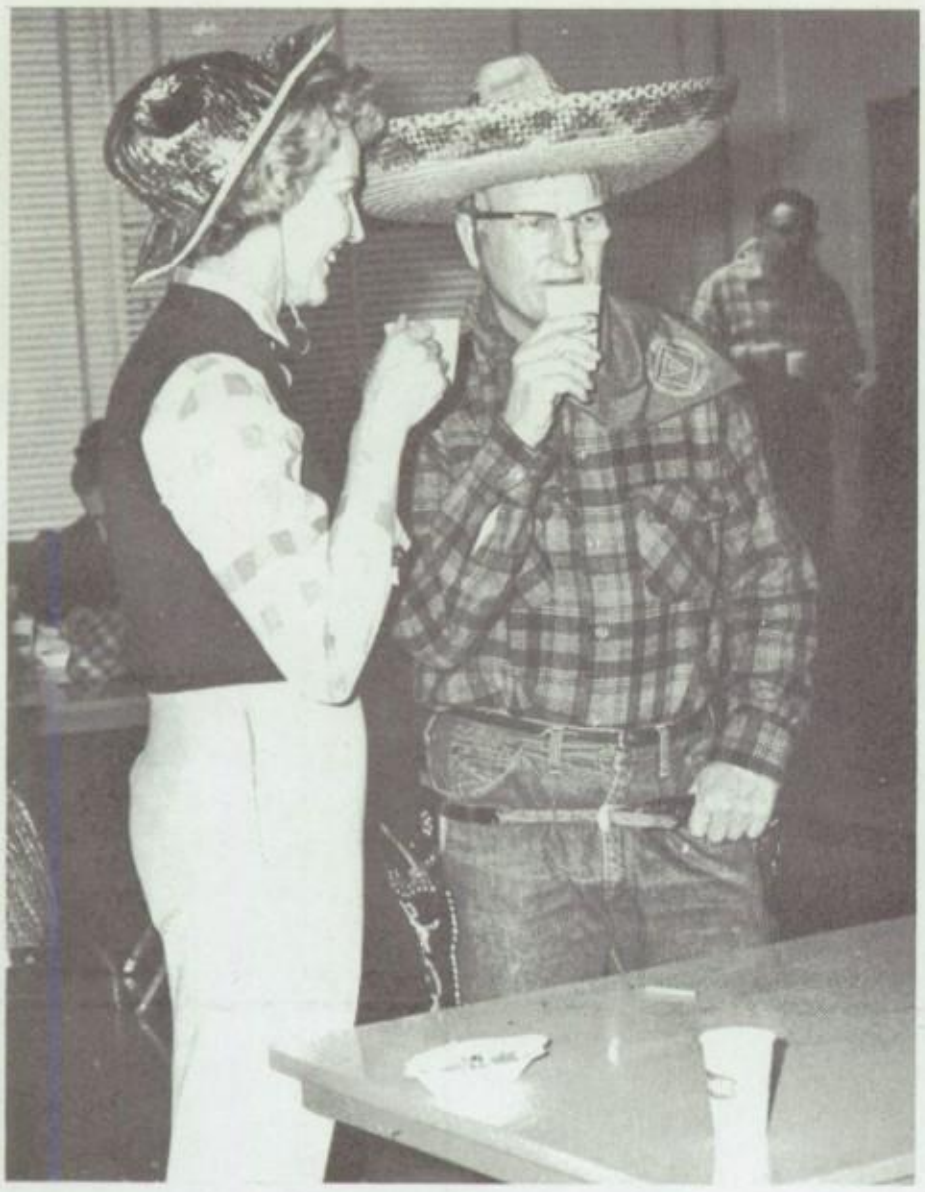
Extemporaneous skits performed by mother-daughter teams provided enjoyable entertainment at the annual Mother-Daughter party held Wednesday evening.

Combine 240 dozen eggs, 240 pounds of flour, 216 pounds of ham and 42 pounds of butter with 36 pounds of coffee, 32½ gallons of milk, 16 gallons of syrup, and 12 cases of fruit juice. These were the figures of amount of produce used in the annual Pancake Harvest Breakfast. Profits from the breakfast went to the Madison's P.T.A. Scholarship Fund which gives scholarships to the most deserving seniors.

P.T.A. Sponsors Largest Pancake Breakfast

Above are shown a few of the P.T.A. members preparing the annual pancake breakfast. The committee heads for the breakfast were Al Trumbull, ways and means; Mr. Carl Burkheimer, tickets; and Mr. Ray Ingalls, feed.

The largest annual pancake breakfast Madison has ever had was held in Madison's cafeteria on Sunday, November 4 between the hours of 7 a.m. and 1 p.m. Attending the annual affair were 1480 people. This was the largest turnout for the breakfast. Of these 908 were adults, 314 were children and 258 were students. This figure tops the old record of 1,200. Prices were $1.00 for adults, 75c for students and 50c for kiddies. Pancakes, ham, eggs, milk or coffee were on the Menu and one could have as much as you could eat.



Cowgirl Marjory Goldsmith and Cowpolk Walter Erickson dressed as their favorite western stars. Teachers enjoyed themselves as much as the students and the Buckaroo provided fun for all.

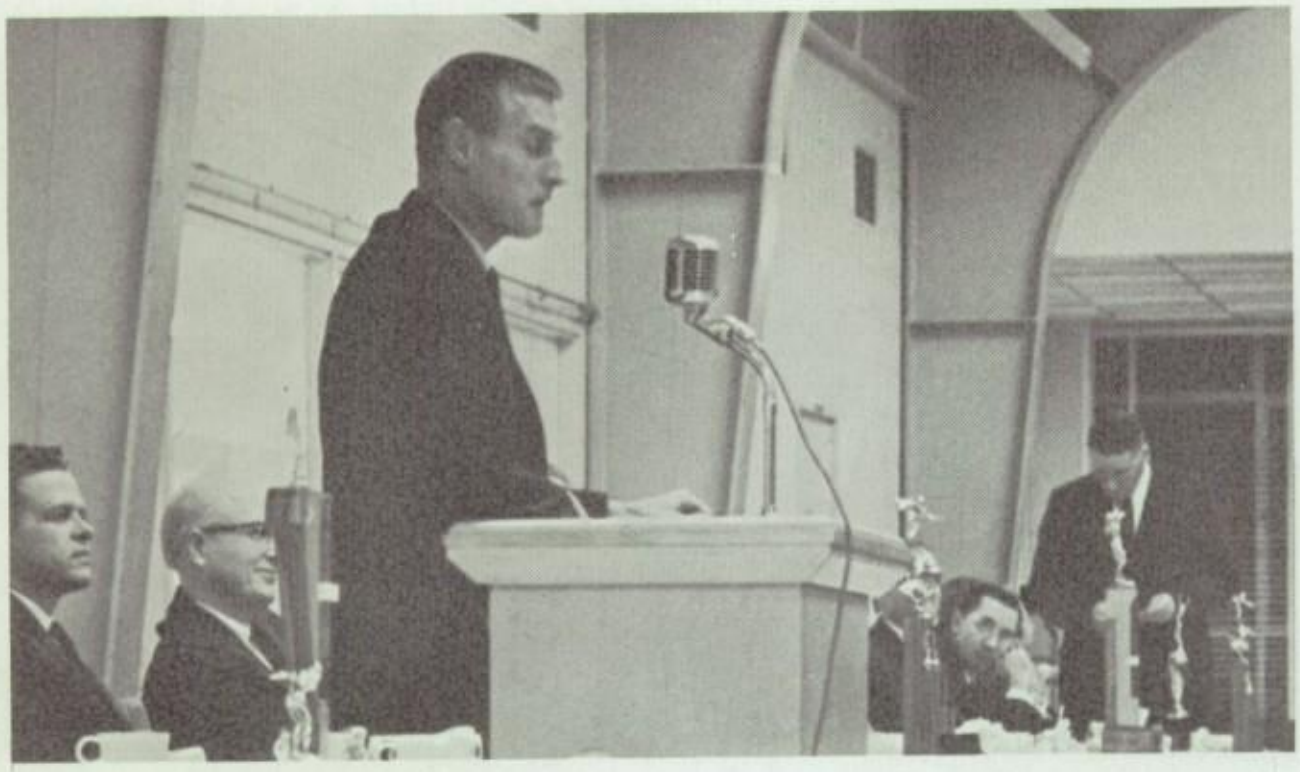
Faculty-Student Buckaroo Big Success

"I think everyone, teachers and students, had a lot of fun," remarked Mrs. udith Seabert, general chairman of the enator Buckaroo held January 11, from to 11 p.m. in the Madison cafeteria.

Admission was free to all Madison udents. The theme was completely Vestern. All students and faculty mem-ers dressed as their favorite western ars. Some came as Annie Oakley, Quick raw McGraw and Dale Evens, just to ame a few. Those teachers receiving cognition for their costumes were Mr. ames Blake, Mrs. Norma Cramer, Miss eorgia Dean, Miss Myrna Mangles, Mr. eonard Rinearson and Mr. William homas. Students receiving prizes for e best western dress were Erma Cooper, ary Elliott, Jerri-Jo Ruggenberg, Eil-a Young and Mike Casciato.

Each class had a special dance to do. The seniors did the Hokey Pokey, juniors did the Bunny Hop, sophomores and freshmen did a square dance they had learned. Above, the junior class members are doing the Bunny Hop while the rest of the Buckaroos look on.

Coach Frei Speaks at Fall Sports Banquet



Guest speaker Jerry Frei told the athletes "You owe everyone, your school, your community, and your friends, something; they don't owe you a thing, just because you are participating in sports." Coach Frei delivered an inspiring talk and added that he was glad to be able to speak at such a highly scholastic and athletic school.

Jerry Frei, assistant coach at the University of Oregon, was guest speaker at the Fall Sports Banquet held in the Madison cafeteria on November 29, at 6:30. Mr. Cyril Butterfield was the master of ceremonies, introducing the coaches and their teams. Also honored at this time were the wives of the coaches, the fall rally squad, boys' and girls' swimming teams, the cross country squad and the football teams. Athletes and guests feasted on a ham dinner before presentations were made.

Winter Sports Banquet Honors Athletes

"He has got to be fascinated in the activity and he must be interested in his fellow man," stated the distinguished guest speaker at the 1963 Winter Sports Banquet, Dr. Dale Thomas stressed the qualities of teamwork in daily life as well and the importance of maintaining high scholastic standards.

Those who received trophies this year are, l. to r., Tom Stevent, wrestling high point man; Jack Selander, outstanding wrestler; Tom Alldrin, basketball's outstanding man on offense; and Rick Wise, outstanding man on defense for basketball. Coaches for the year were Mr. Gasaway, varsity basketball coach; Mr. Wally Girts, jayvee basketball coach; Mr. Smith, varsity wrestling coach; Mr. Lyons, jayvee wrestling coach, and Miss Mangles, varsity rally coach.

A. F. S. Students Entertain

February 28, seven foreign exchange students participated in the American Field Service Assembly. With a background of multi-colored flags, Susan Gunderson, A.F.S. Student Co-ordinator, introduced the visiting seven exchange students.

Each exchange student either gave a talk or performed in their style. Elke Sinram from Germany confessed in her talk that she had thought our national food was corn flakes, and millionaires and cowboys constituted the American population. Luis Matamala-Simmonds of Chile gave some factual and interesting information on his country. Alberto Zegarra discussed what school and his family life was like in his native country, Peru. Mette Swartz, speaking in a barely discernible Danish accent, told of the recreational customs, such as hiking, skiing, and bike riding. In the picture on the left, Japanese Yoshiko Akahari did two old Japanese dances, "Baby-sitting" and "Fan Dance." Also "Yo Yo" (Yoshiko Akhari's nick name) also told of her family life and what school was like in her country.

Students and teachers raved about the assembly. Mary Anne Kitzerow, junior, said, "The talent and comments of the exchange students made this an excellent assembly." Vice-Principal Georgia Dean stated, "This year's A.F.S. Assembly had more variety and humor in it."

Al James, Madison's own A.F.S. student, donned his native green kilts and informed the students of life in Scotland. Then Al, who plays the guitar as a hobby, had Tom Waugh join him in an excellent guitar duet.

Madison's other A.F.S. student, Atun Sukawati, from Indonesia, entranced the audience with her native Balinesian dance, "Bumblebee."

Patty Thorpe, A.F.S. Student, Visits Brazil

Victor Chulam, Patty's Brazilian brother, who is three years old, is dancing the twist with her. While "Brazilians are very good dancers," they ask the A.F.S.ers to dance American style at parties.

A beautifully landscaped house is where Patty is staying while she is attending Colegio-Sacre-Coeur-de-Marie (St. Mary's) in Vitoria, which is the state of Espirito Santo. Especially wonderful is the weather, and Patty sends "warmest of Brazilian greetings to everyone!" with double meaning.

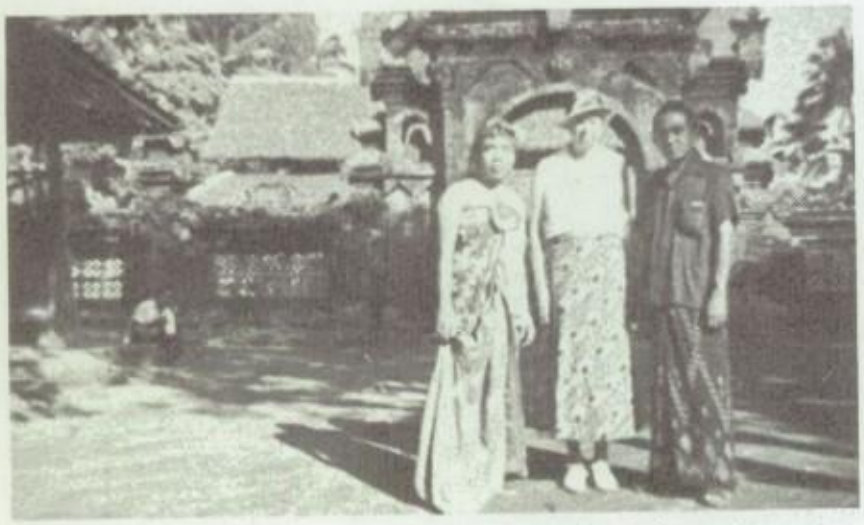
This is a picture of Mr. Meneham Chulam, Patty's Brazilian father who is in the coffee export business.

On February 6 at 8:20 a.m., Paty Thorpe, Madison's A.F.S. student, took off from the Portland Airport, where she was to begin a years stay in Brazil.

A.F.S. Student Hails From Bali

Tjokorda Istri Sukawati, known to most Madison students as Atun, is the A.F.S. Foreign exchange student from Indonesia. Atun attended a Catholic school in Surabaja, near her home. Above we see Atun (center) with a portion of her senior class, which consisted of thirty-one students. "School uniforms were ties, white blouses, and skirts. School started at 7:10 a.m. and you were finished at 1:00 p.m. My courses were: English, Indonesian, literature, French, economics, Old Javanese, geography, health, algebra, and drawing. I think I like American schools better because you don't have so many classes and learn much more," Atun stated.

The Asia-American Society-Seminar on Indonesian and American affairs held at the University of California at Berkeley, was attended by Atun Sukawati. She graced the conference with some Balinesian dancing. Shown here is Atun shaking hands with Mr. Frank Graham, former senator from North Carolina and presently affiliated with the United Nations in West New Guinea, Pakistan and India. Students behind Atun are, left to right, Indonesian student attending the University of California and the student body president of the University.



In 1951, Eleanor Roosevelt visited the Sukawati household. Standing in front of the entrance to the house are, left to right, Atun's father, Tjokorda Jde Agung Sukawati, Eleanor Roosevelt, and Atun's cousin, Tjokorda Agung Khankha. Shown is just one of the sixteen houses spread over their twenty acre estate. The house is done in typical Balinese style and made of red stone and rock.

Last summer when Attorney General Kennedy and his wife made a tour of Indonesia, they made a stopover at the Sukawati household. Here they are shown at the ancestry temple with their host, Mr. Sukawati. Mr. Sukawati is the Cultural leader of Indonesia and has set up a museum for Balinese modern art and culture. Atun's grandfather used to be ruler of the kingdom of Ubud, which is no more, but they still live near the town of Ubud. Atun wished to say a few words to her fellow Madison students. "Thank you for allowing me to come to your fine school. I have enjoyed America and Madison very much. Also, I would like very much if you would write to me, please. Send it to: Puri Saren Agung

Tennis, Track, Interest Exchange Student

Alastair James, known to most students as Al James, was Madison's other A.F.S. exchange student. Al hails from Kilmacolm, Scotland. Al arrived in mid-summer of '62 and spent the remainder of the summer touring the Northwest with the Mr. Vic Ecklund family. Leaning up against a ledge looking out toward the Olympic Mountain Range in Washington is the 18-year-old boy.

In Glasgow, Scotland, Al attended Glasgow Academy which had an 800-member student body of all boys. Al plans to attend the University of Edinburgh and major in economics when he returns to Scotland. While at Madison, Al's subjects were two periods history, English, third-year German and speech. Also this year Al made quite a name in cross-country and tennis. Al was second on the varsity cross-country team and played varsity tennis. Above is a snapshot of Al running and placing second in a cross-country meet at Madison with Roosevelt, Franklin, Lincoln and Madison competing.

Standing in front of a church is the Al James family. They are, left to right, Mrs. Lucy James, Mr. John James, and Al's sister Sue James. Al says you can't compare Madison and the school he attended, mainly because "I attended a private all boys school and here the school is public and co-educational." Al also states that he likes the Northwest because it reminds him much of his native Scotland. If you would like to write to Al send it to: Al James, Deanwood Kilmacolm, Renfrew Shire, Scotland.

Caught unaware of his picture being taken, Al was studying diligently at his homework. When Al is not playing tennis or running cross-country his favorite pastime is playing the guitar.

Senior Choir

Choral Groups Entertain

The Choir started off another year of school by participating in the opening assembly the first week of school on September 14. The entire Choral Department entertained in a concert on October 19. During the Christmas season, the Choir, Chansonnettes, and Boys' Glee sang at the annual Christmas program. On February 21, they performed at the program entitled "An Evening with Rogers and Hammerstein." The elementary school Choruses joined the Madison Choral Department, during the program for the grade schools on March 6, in singing "America" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." These schools were Rose City, Vestal, Whitaker, Gregory Heights and Glenhaven. The City-Wide Choral Festival was held on March 29 in which the Choral Department participated, and on April 10, the Chansonnettes sang at Barnes Hospital. The final concert took place on May 28 in which the complete Choral Department took part.

Madison Orchestra Has Active Year

Jim Lessig concentrates while playing the Orchestral sousaphone. He plays the only sousaphone in the Orchestra.

The main effort of the Orchestra was concentrated on an exchange concert with Bend, Oregon, in February. The first half of the concert was performed at Madison, with the second half taking place in Bend. Among the other activities were the Christmas Program in December, the Annual Pops Concert in January, an All-City Orchestra Festival in March and the Spring Concert in May. As a finale they entertained at the graduation exercises in June.

Mr. Street leads Orchestra through practice of medleys for the annual Christmas Assembly. This practice was evident as the orchestra entertained a highly appreciative audience at the Christmas Assembly.

"...and the BAND plays on"

During the Christmas holidays the band represented Madison in the annual Fairytale Parade. With rosy cheeks and noses, and red and white stocking caps on their heads, they marched merrily through the streets playing Christmas songs.

Sharon Loghry led the Madison Band in the Fairytale Parade, dressed in her snow white costume trimmed in gold. To the delight of those watching the parade, Sharon twirled with flying fingers — as always Besides appearing at all games during the football season, the Madison Band won a plaque in the parade at Gateway in celebration of Fun-A-Rama, and marched in the Fairytale Parade. The Band finished the year by participating in the colorful Rose Festival Parade.

Through the year, the activities of the band were numerous. In January they played in the Pops Concert and in the All Area Festival Program. Two months later, in March, they entertained at the All City Band Festival. This event was followed by the Band Tour in late April, and the Spring Concert in May.

Miss Charlotte Pye is the choir director in the above picture. Many Christmas carols and hymns were sung by the choir which was accompanied by the orchestra. Then all the people in the audience stood while all the choirs, Boys, Girls, Chansonettes, and Senior Choir, sang the Halleluiah Chorus.

'Christmas vs. Xmas' Draws Full House

"Christmas vs. Xmas" was the theme of the annual Christmas Program presented on December 20. "A delightful mingling of the fun part of Christmas with the meaningful part," Mrs. Melba Sparks stated about the Christmas program.

In the story, Alison Drew, a radio star, becomes fed up with all the rush, fuss, and fumbling of Christmas. She thinks people have the wrong meaning for Christmas.

To prove to herself that she is right she interviews the people in a shopping center. Not much to her surprise, she finds her hunch to be right. Then an angel, which was present for the real birth of Christ, came to Earth to see how the people were observing Christ's birthday. When Alison interviewed the angel, she reminded the people of the real meaning of Christmas and to put Christ back in Christmas.

This assembly was the combined efforts of the drama, instrumental music and choral department. Three times on December 20 the assembly was presented to a standing room only crowd. Mrs. Sparks directed and Dianne Brothers was Student Director.

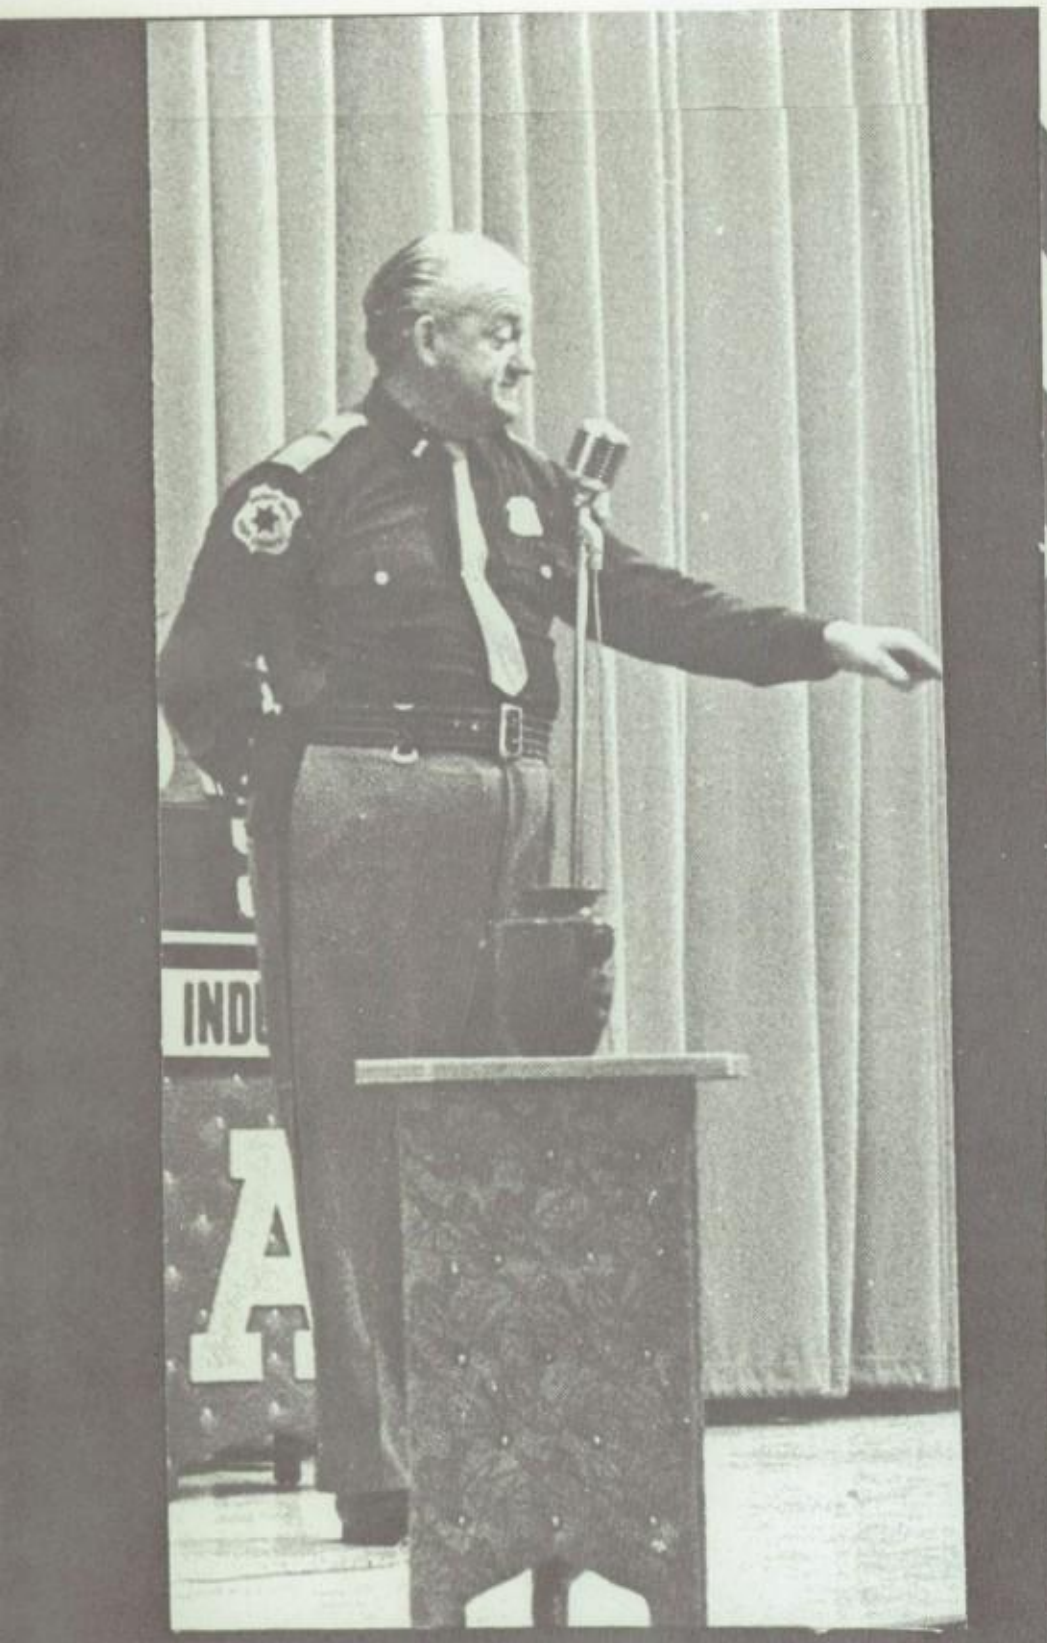
Some of the boys and girls of the drama department portrayed skaters at the ice rink in the shopping center. Paper snow added effect as the skaters, L. to R., Janice Taylor, Jon Gustafson, Kathy Loghry, Gordon Noraine, Karen Gibbons and Jan Mascall, skate around on the ice.

In the above picture are nine girls from Girls Choir who sang a few songs to set the jolly side of Christmas and Santa Claus. They also brought their little brothers and sisters to see Santa. As we see them, L. to R., they are Marty Rector, Nancy Theis, Judy Nadeau, Bonnie Kriens, Juannita Coleman, Judy Jones, Kris Hildebrand, Carol Botts and Brenda Uptegrove.

Miss Drew (Sharon Loghry) is shown interviewing Mrs. Royce (Peggy Schnacky) as to what Christmas means to her. "Christmas is for the little children, I love to see the expressions on their dear little faces when they open their packages," said Mrs. Royce. Peggy Schnacky's brother is with her

A group of senior boys got up enough nerve to do a dance in the Christmas program. This little group is known as the Peppermint Stick dancers. Peppermint Stick dancers are L. to R. Tom Ogan, Ron Lucas, Bob Ladum, Gary Becker, Jim Hofferber, Tom Alldrin, Jon Gustafson and Bob Moore. Costumes consisted of long underwear with red crepe paper whirled around them. In the above picture we see the well formed line of boys doing their dance. This group provided more laughter than any other act in the assembly.

Student Body Raves About Assemblies



Above, Safety Show, seen January 25 at 2:00 p.m., had the Student Body holding their sides. The juniors and seniors witnessed "Safety in Action," a magic program featuring safety lessons by Traffic Lieutenant Carl S. Pike of Grand Rapids, Michigan, a professional magician as well as a police officer. As we see Lieutenant Pike above, he points out to the audience with one of his comical remarks, "Always make your turns without looking; you make acquaintances that way."

Above right, this was the first assembly of the year. The Drama Department presented the welcoming assembly. Done in Western style, the Student Body was welcomed by a big "Howdy" from Principal Walter Erickson. Square dancing and songs from "Oklahoma" were just a few parts of the welcoming assembly.

Lower right, this year's drama assembly, presented on January 18th, was entitled "Assembly Star." Seen here in the picture are the principal, Chuck Green; the actress, Eileen Stratton, a Madison alumni returned to Madison to take part in the assembly, which she did very well. The theme of the program was assembly conduct, which was very appropriate.

On January 8, the National Japanese Wrestling Champs appeared before the Madison Student Body in a double assembly. The reason for this assembly was the Japanese Champs were to wrestle Madison's PIL Champion Wrestling Team first. At the assembly each Japanese Wrestling Champ was introduced along with his coach. Pictured above, Mrs. Inukai translates into English what the National Japanese Wrestling Coach, Mr. Habota, had to say to the students of Madison.

Madison Mad House, Festival's Main Prize

For the small sum of 25c Festival fans were given a chance on the $6,000 Madison House vacation cabin. Also with this same ticket was an admission to the Dads' Club annual Family Festival. Pictured above is the Mad House. The interiar is finished with antique oak wall panels

"Would you like to say a few words to your admiring fans in radio land" seems to be what Tim Freed is asking Mr. Roger Mockford. Tim broadcast from the festival over his radio station he set up in the south end of the cafeteria. Mr. Mockford and many other faculty and students volunteered for the dunk tank, which proved to be the most popular booth at the festival.

These were but a few of the happy persons who won many prizes such as cakes, teddy bears, trinkets, gold fish, etc. The turnout for the two day festival on May 3 and 4 in the Madison Cafeteria was the largest attended festival ever held.

"Who Can Say" Is Original Production

Doug Finney sings to his beautiful girlfriend, Sadie the mop, in the delightful original one-act comedy "Who Can Say". All 400 students attending the play, before the rally dance on September 14, enjoyed it immensely.

"Calico Cat" Thrills Children

This satisfying fairy tale was presented by the below cast for Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children on October 27. It was also received well by the audience that attended on November 3 at Madison High School. Everyone that saw the play, both oldsters and youngsters, reverted to either their past or their future. It brought joy and happiness into the lives of all the children. Maybe next year the players may take another performance to the hospital.

The students in the above picture acted in the play "Calico Cat" at the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children. They are, left to right, Joanne Henwood, Judy Wright, Sharon Loghry, Diane Eaton, Vickie Huenergard, Chris Hansen, Sandy Theilade and Sheryl Taylor. The performers worked very hard, and they were greatly rewarded by the expressions of the children's happiness.

This wonderful Japanese, Jewish play was presented to the student body on Dec. 3, 1962. The faculty and the administration thought that the play was most worthwhile and therefore the students of the Freshman and Sophomore English classes got to enjoy it. The play showed the students the prejudice of two people and the differences in the two countries of America and Japan. Mrs. Jacoby was played by Judy Garcia, a Jewish woman from Brooklyn, and Bill Parker played the part of Mr. Asano, the Japanese man.

The changing of the set and scenery is shown here by the production staff under the direction of Ben Mallory. The play was Majority of One produced on November 31 and December 1.

On the left side of the split stage was Mr. Asano's house. From left to right are Maureen Matthews as Mr. Asano's daughter-in-law, Judy Garcia as Mrs. Jacoby, and Bill Parker as Mr. Asano. The Main characters in the play were Judy Garcia and Bill Parker.

In this picture Mr. and Mrs. Black are discussing the next addition to the family. Mrs. Black explains that going to Japan is just what the doctor ordered. Mr. Black is played by Bernie Robinson and Mrs. Black by Kai Lopez.

On April 19 and 20, Madison Audiences saw the drama department set a standard of excellence which they hope to maintain. THE MIRACLE WORKER was the story of Annie Sullivan's struggle to help Helen Keller open the window of communication and let in sound and light and thereby, understanding.
The story was played to the casts's fullest ability and on opening night the audience responded with a standing ovation. Recognition should go to Ben Mallery who designed and constructed the very clever two story house, assisted by the stage crew.
A teacher from Linfield College who saw the performance stated that it was by all means on a college level. Perhaps, for the audience, this play opened a little wider.

"She's learned to eat with utensils now!" said Annie as she was talking to Kate Keller, Helen's mother. Left to Right in the above picture are: Dorthea Lyman, Sue Dryden, and Kai Lopez.

"My neck Miss Sullivan," exclaimed Chuck Green as he carried Sue Dryden down the ladder. Left to Right: Harriet Glossen, Jeffery Polk, Chuck Green, Sue Dryden, Dorthea Lyman, Kai Lopez as Helen Keller, Joslin and Glynis Polk and Richard Norman.

"I'll sew the buttons on again, Aunt Ev. She doesn't know any better." Molly Coyle as Aunt Ev, Kai Lopez as Helen Keller, and Dorthea Lyman are pictured above at the table.

"I'll just have to take you to Helen in Alabama, instead of a doll." The girls pictured are members of the Perkins school for the blind. They are played by Linda Gulan, Margaret Sallee, Linda Sallee, Annie Sullivan played by Sue Dryden, Judy Bullis, Becky Mallery, Darlene Sallee, and Teresa Coyle.

Pinocchio saves Geppetto from drowning.

The two stars wave good-bye to the children after the matinee performance.

Pinocchio was presented on March 9, on the Madison High School main stage to an audience of about 728 for both performances. The story was based on the old man Geppetto who made a puppet to keep him company. The rest of the story concerns his dreams of the boy becoming a real live boy.

This pleasing production was presented as a fantastically large puppet show with partial setting. It was the first time for our stage to be blessed with a very exciting new approach of something different and original.

Our hats are off to the fine performances of everyone. To the effect of the originality of this great play under the direction of Mrs. Melba Sparks, goes our CONGRATULATIONS!

Peggy Schnacky gets trapped by Geppetto while Signor Tortoni, Sue Dryden, beats on his back and Sue Hill looks on.

Under the leadership and advisership of Mr. Jose Kovach and Editor-in-Chief Lynda Hamilton, the FEDERALIST STAFF was able to produce the largest book in Madison's six year history. The 320-page book was worked and completed by thirty-eight staff members. Many ho after school, class time and study halls were spent to p duce this annual.

The staff consisted of twenty-two seniors, fourt juniors, and two soohomores.

The 1963 yearbook was priced at $5.50. At this p the Senior Senators did not have to pay a $1.50 dep for their senior pictures to Wong's Studio. Also, the un classmen received a packet of twenty-six pictures with the purchase of the yearbook.

There is a new section in the annual this year w is Student Life. This section combines student governm events, entertainment, and clubs.

The three largest sections in the book are curricu with 46; sports with 41; and seniors with 36 pages.

Art Staff Decorates Halls

The fresh approach of the art staff this year decorated Madison's halls with many unusual eyecatching bulletin boards. Those who are on this staff are, First row, L. to R. Mara Udris, Colleen Bush, Mary Day and Barbara Lawson. Second row L. to R. Ray Swicegood, Jana Mitchell, Pat O'Brien, Linda Miller, Pat Stone and Diane Disselhorst. Third row, L. to R. Greg Etchison, Jim Martin, Paul Post and DeWayne Clement.

During the Christmas season the art staff is busy producing such posters as this one, drawn by Mara Udris, Jana Mitchell and Ray Swicegood.

Greg Etchison, Jim Martin, Linda Miller and DeWayne Clement are helping their teacher Mrs. Fultz complete a bulletin board.

The 1962-1963 school year has been one of achievement for the CONSTITUTION Staff.

Under the supervision of adviser Joe Kovach the staff returned to school a month early to publish the six-page "Back to School" edition. Besides being mailed to present students, the paper was sent to the graduating class of 1962. Other special editions included the giant Family Festival issue, the traditional Senior Edition and the two cub papers.

Each year Mr. Kovach's beginning journalism classes publish papers. They elect their own staffs and do all of the work themselves, including soliciting advertisements and writing stories.

In August the staff received word that last year's CONSTITUTION had received the Quill and Scroll George H. Gallup and International Honor Award.

Two staff members have achieved individual honors this year. Nancy Gordon was voted the best high school newspaper editor in Oregon by Student and Publisher Magazine. She received a $100 scholarship and her award at the Pacific Slope Press Conference at the University of Washington in February.

Madison's first and only winner of the Quill and Scroll National Writing Contest is Carole Proctor. Her winning entry netted her a gold key award and a chance to compete for the Edward J. Nell Memorial Scholarship in journalism.

The girls of Adel-ki traditionally promote interest in activities at Madison. Football programs were printed and sold at each game by Adel-ki members; they included complete rosters of each team. In keeping with "Responsibility in Action" was special recognition given by members to deserving groups. Informing students is one way of carrying out the club's purpose, and this was done by a giant activity calendar designed by the girls and maintained throughout the year in the Student Body Office. The 1962-1963 school year saw membership grow until about 100 girls became involved in Adel-ki.

PEP CLUB SHOWS GREAT SPIRIT

Madison's Pep Club remained on hand this year to cheer on our athletic teams with an increased membership of over two hundred. As the Pep Club's primary aim is to promote school spirit among the students of MHS, the members put many new ideas into effect this year such as using gloves, pom poms and colored flashlights at the games.

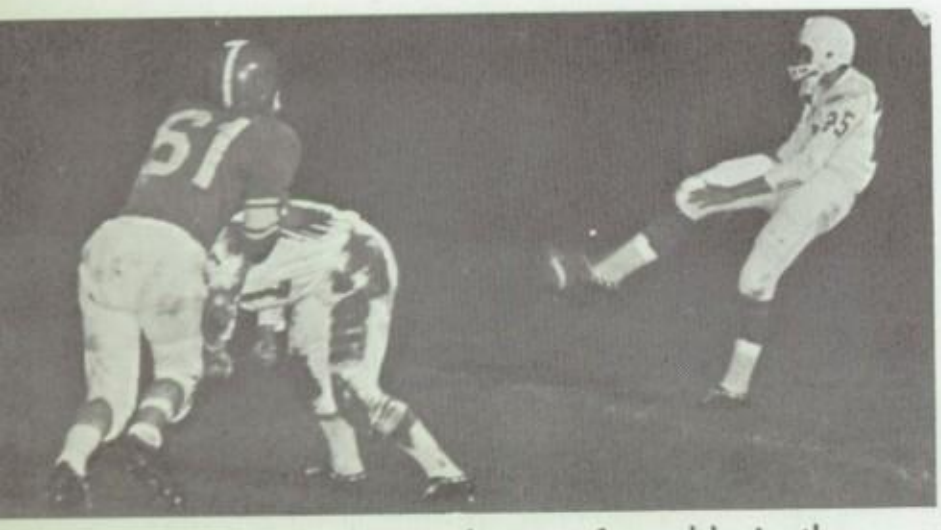
The Madison Senators with Rick Wise calling signals line up for the last play in their touchdown drive.

Greg Etchison leaps above the outretched arms of a Cleveland safety to complete a pass.

Greg Etchison evades a Franklin tackler and goes for a short gain to the 35 yard line.



Rick Wise boots the Mads out of trouble in the Cleveland game.

Tom Ogan grabs another Rick Wise aerial in the end zone for 6 points.

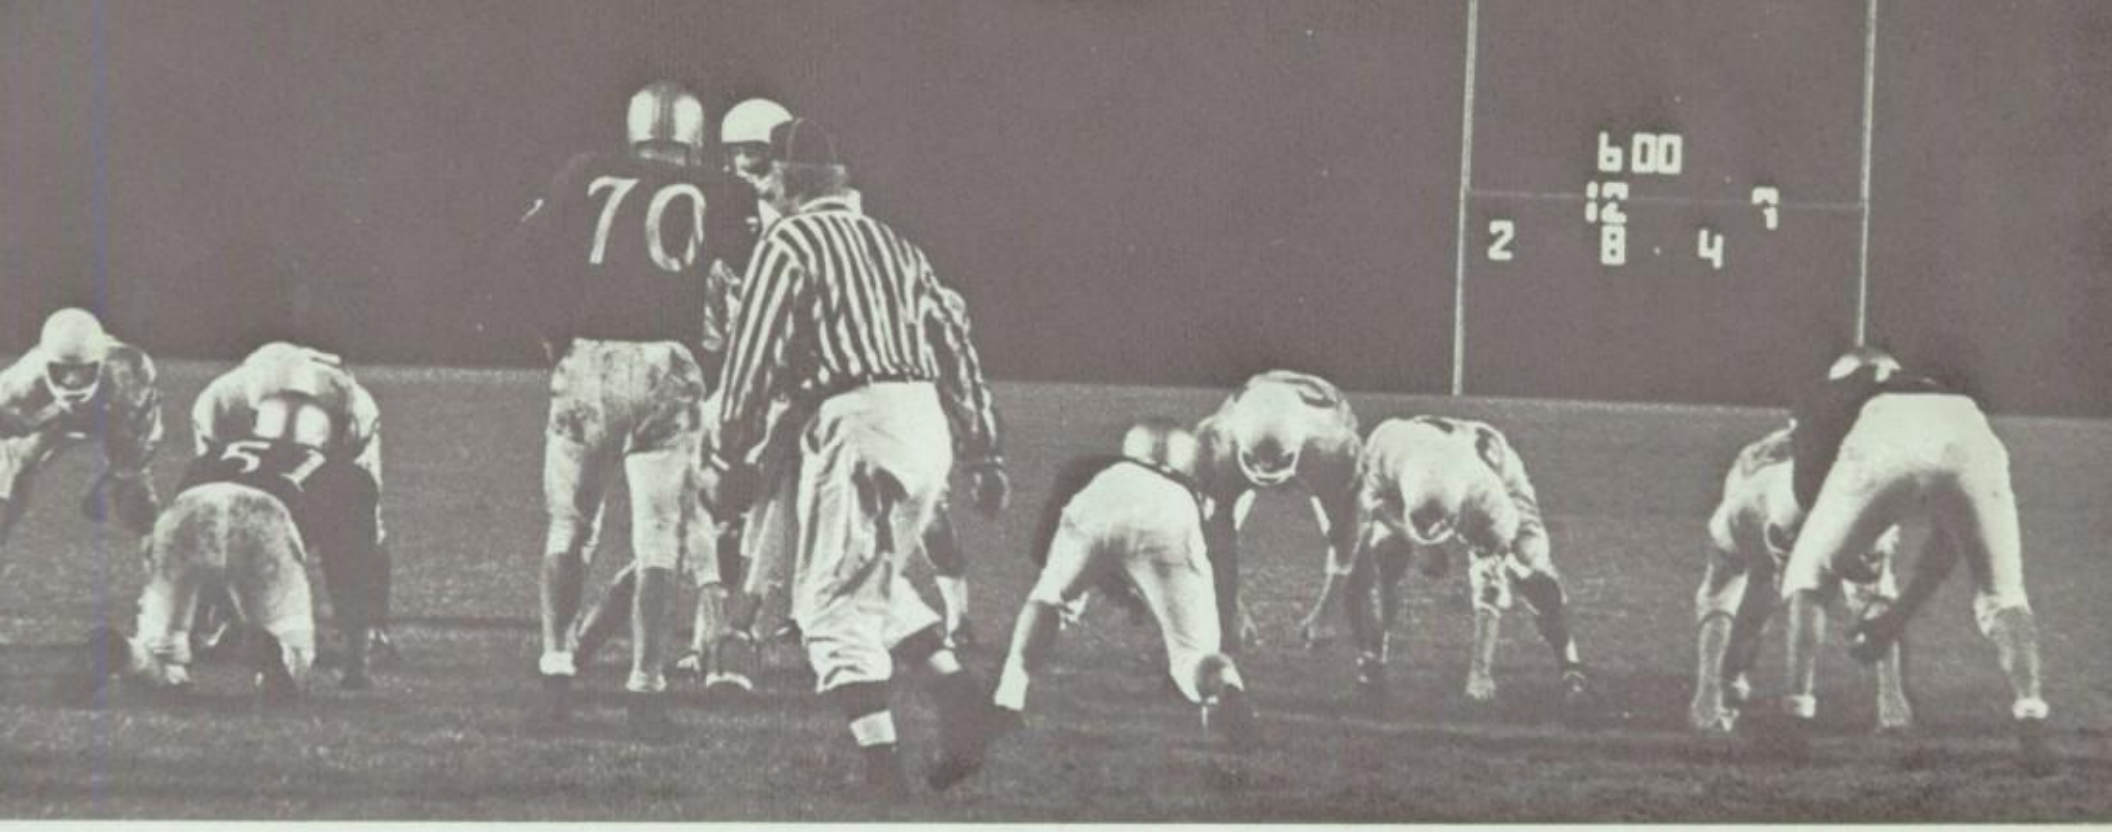
Cards Cuff Senators

MADISON 13, LINCOLN 14. Madison, "traditionally tough" on the opening game, found out that two plays and Lincoln can mean the difference between a win and a loss.

Starting the afternoon off on the right foot was Henry Owen, streaking to a 70-yard jaunt on the first play from scrimmage. With the help of Gary Becker the score at the end of the half was 13-0. Becker scored on a 7-yard run and made the extra point.

The Cardinals got their first TD on a 50-yard run up the middle and then a pass play caught the Senator secondary sleeping and went for 6 points. Both extra tries were good.

Madison photographer Doug Tonn snapped this interesting shot from behind the Solon bench during a crucial moment in the Franklin clash.



Franklin Fizzles, 18-7

MADISON 18, FRANKLIN 7. After losing a heartbreaker to Lincoln, Madison showed they had the stuff to win by beating Franklin 18-7. After taking the opening kickoff, two 30-yard runs by Henry Owen and Dick Curtis moved the ball down close where Rick Wise plunged over for the score.

Madison got their second touchdown when Wise fired a pass to Tom Ogan in the end zone. The PAT again failed. Gary Becker finished off the scoring by plunging two yards to end a 90-yard drive. Since the Senators started to play in 1957, Franklin has not been able to win a game against the Red and Blue, although they did manage a tie in the 1961 season, 0-0.

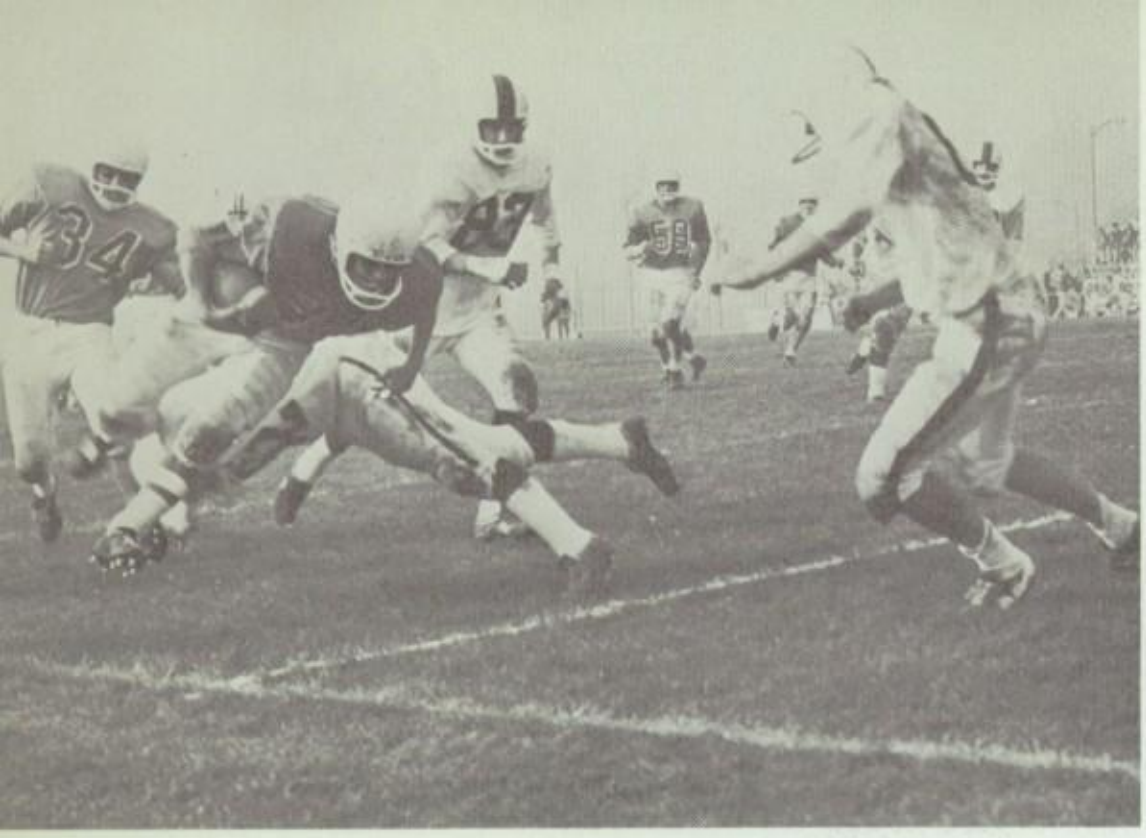
Indians Injure Solons

MADISON 13, CLEVELAND 20. Odis Avritt clinched the game for the Cleveland Indians by intercepting a screen pass and racing 44-yards for the TD. The extra point was made and the score was 20-7 for the Indians.

In the fourth quarter the Mads came back when Rick Wise passed to his favorite target, Tom Ogan, in the end zone for their second touchdown.

Dennis Patera and Avritt put the Indians ahead in the first quarter on 14 and 15-yard runs respectively. Dick Curtis set the Senators back in the scoring column by ripping ten yards to paydirt. The Senators who normally are fast starters in the early season are having trouble getting started.

The defensive squad of the Solons watches as the referee signals that the Quakers missed the first down by inches. On the sidelines Head Coach Jerry Lyons prepares to send in play with Gary Pounder (36) to stop Franklin from moving the ball closer to the Red and Blue goal line.



Tom Ogan dives for yardage as he is about to be forced out of bounds by Wilson defenders.

Trojans Trounce Solons

MADISON 6, WILSON 20. The Wilson Trojans, behind after the first half 6-0, came back in the second half to turn the tables on the Senators and win the game 20-6.

Rick Wise threw a 10-yard pass into the arms of Bill MacDonald who was in the end zone. The Portland prep fans, who saw the game via television on the 18th of October, watched the inspired Trojans tie the score in the third quarter, and rap up the victory by scoring twice in the final period of play.

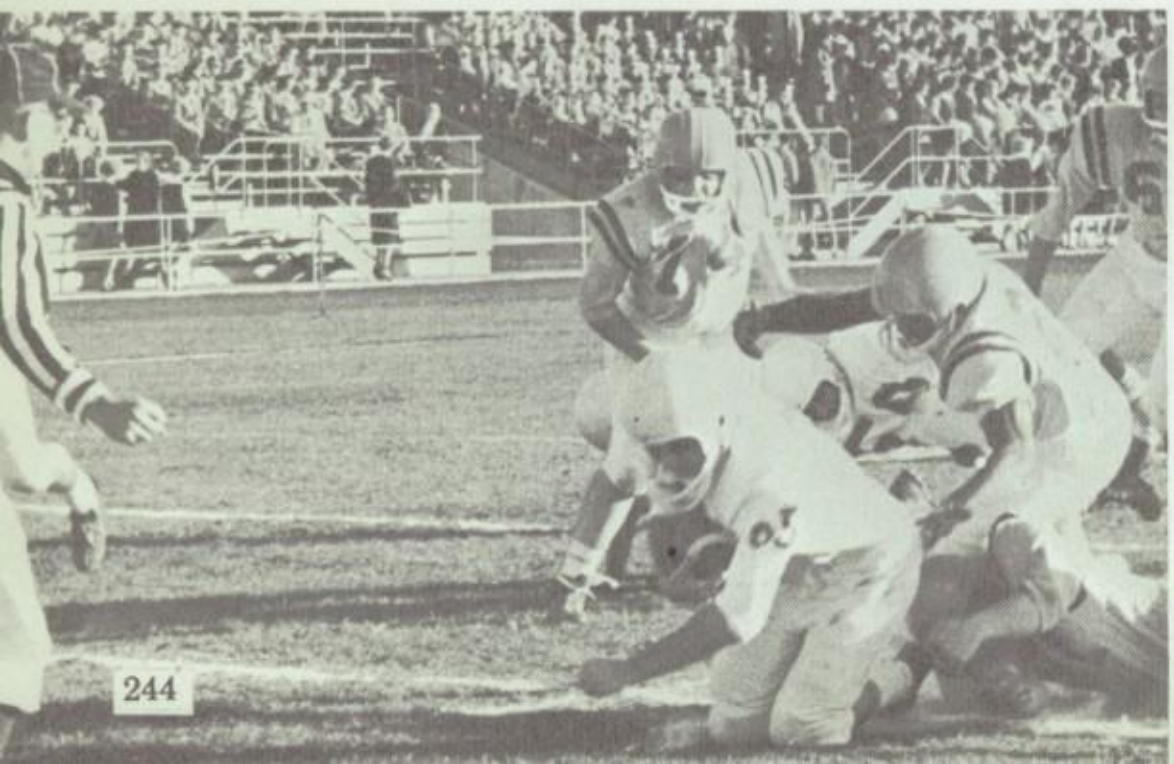
Halfback Dick Curtis, after taking pitchout from quarterback Rick Wise, prepares to throw pass which was completed (opposite page) in the Madison-Wilson game played on the Trojan's turf.

Madison Mauls Marshall

MADISON 13, MARSHALL 6. Arch-rival Marshall traveled to the Solon turf on October 5 only to lose by a 13-6 score. Ex-Madisonite John Fahrner opened the scoring after taking a handoff on the third play from scrimmage, he jaunted 71-yards to score.

The Rick Wise-Tom Ogan pass combination clicked for 7 completed passes, although none of these contributed to the scoring. Dick Curtis made all the points for the Mads on two end runs. The Red and Blue now hold a 2-0 record over the Minutemen.

Dick York dives over the goal line against Washington for the only TD of the contest.



Colonials Clipped, 7-0

MADISON 7, WASHINGTON 0. Big Dick York ran 7-yards up the middle in the first quarter to score the only TD in the game against Washington. Rick Wise added the PAT.

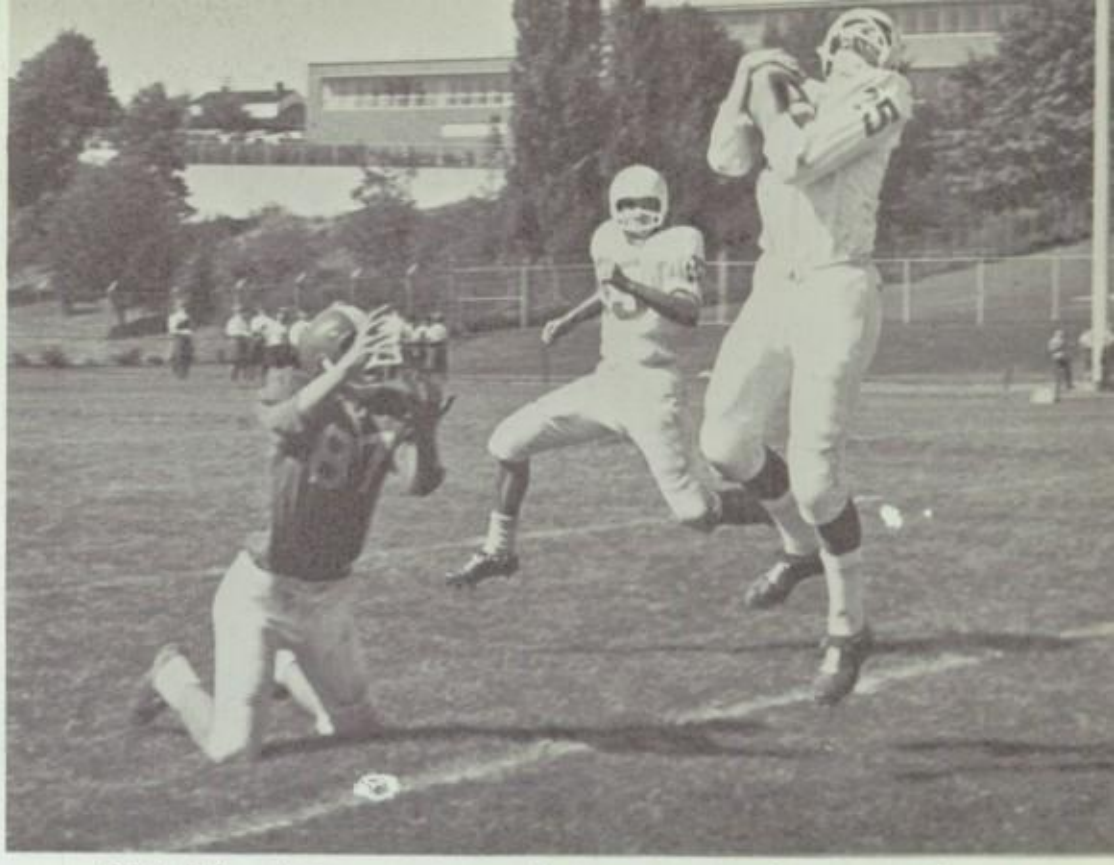
Madison's defensive squad, with the help of Wise's booming punts, kept the Cols from moving the ball into scoring position. Wise nearly made it 13-0 in the fourth quarter when he ran 5-yards to the Colonial 18 inch line on fourth down.

Demos Demolish Mads

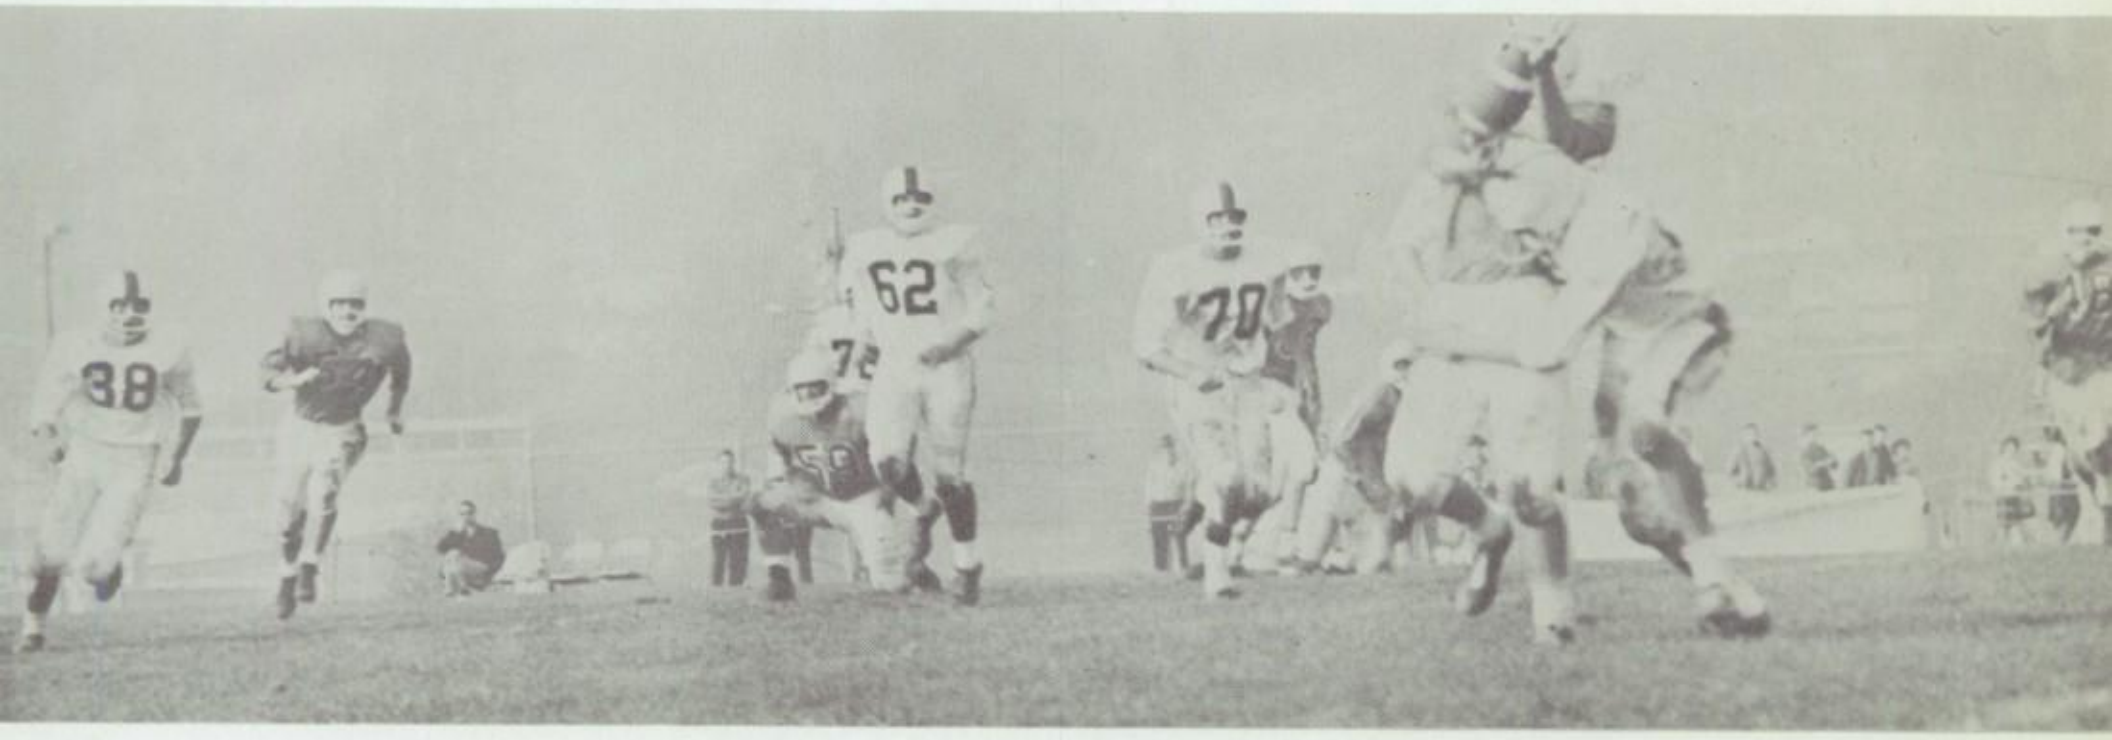
MADISON 13, JEFFERSON 38. ON November 9, the Senators traveled to Jefferson with high hopes of upsetting the top ranked Demos. At the end of the first half the Mads were on the short end of a 25-0 score.

The thing that broke the Senators back was when Lionel Coleman took the opening kickoff on his 16 and raced 84-yards untouched for 6 points.

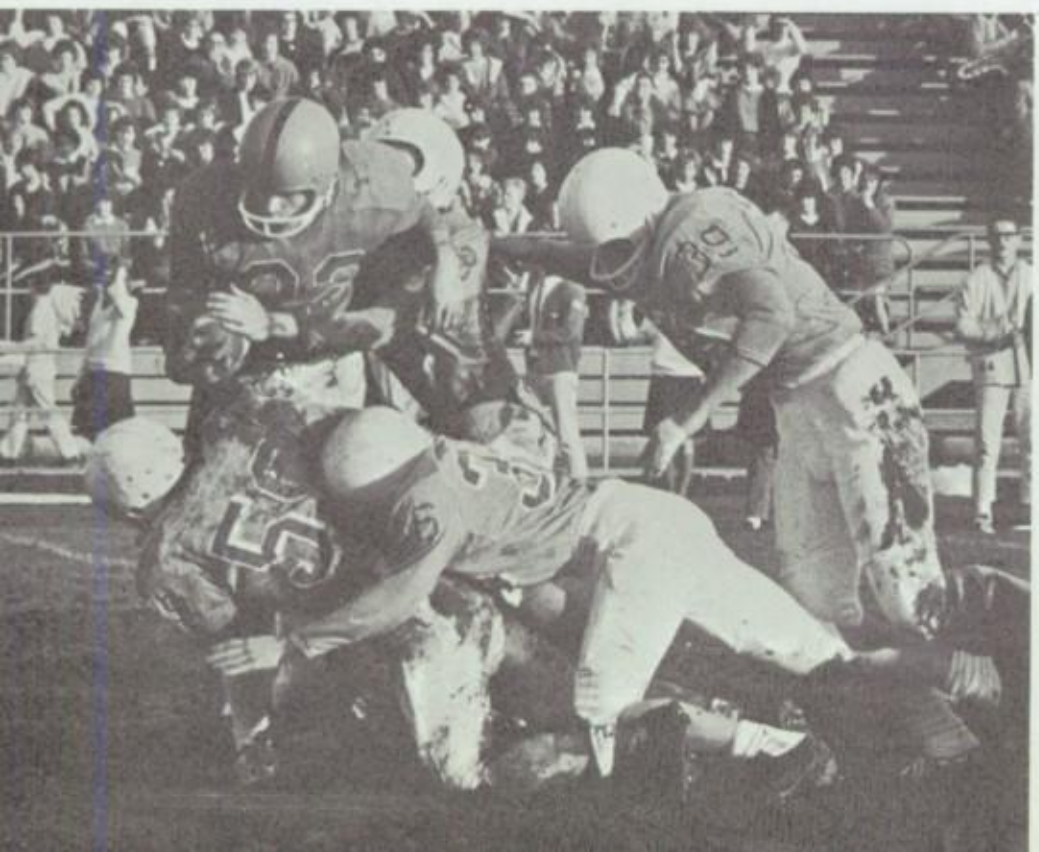
In the second half Bill MacDonald took a Gary Becker pass in the end zone for the first Mad tally. With a few seconds left in the game Tim Farra plunged in from the one for the TD. Meanwhile, Jeff had scored 13 points to make the final score a lopsided 38-13.



Rick Wise intercepts pass but to no avail as penalty on the Senators nullifies the play.



Keith Logan (59), Gary Pounder (36), Pete Martindale (39), and Dick Curtis gang tackle Benson halfback.



Mads Blitz Benson, 14-0

MADISON 14, BENSON 0. Marshall field was the site for Madison's last game of the season against Benson. The Techmen led in first downs 7-6, rushing 111-94, and passing 52-43, but were behind in the score 14-0.

Tom Ogan caught a pass from Gary Becker after two Benson defenders had touched it, and dove two yards for the score.

Again it was Ogan scoring for the Mads on a two yard plunge with Rick Wise adding his second extra point of the day. The Red and Blue ended the season with an even 4-4 record.

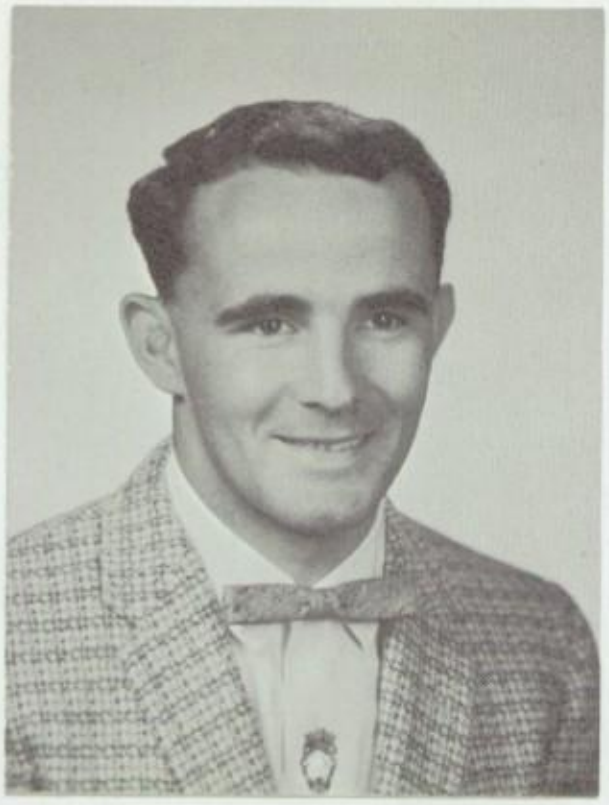
Graduating in 1957 from Oregon College of Education was jayvee football coach Hugh O'Donnell. He received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Education. While attending O.C.E. he was the assistant football coach. In 1956-57 O'Donnell coached all sports at Drain Grade School. At Jefferson from 1957-59 he coached football, track and was an assistant basketball coach. Also for the past three years O'Donnell served as the principal at Cotton High School. Coming to Madison this year Mr. O'Donnell did a fine job with the jayvee team as they showed great promise for the year to come.

Smith Heads Frosh Footballers



James Smith graduated from Portland State College in 1957 where he lettered in wrestling for four years and also lettered in football and track. H received his Bachelor of Science Degree and then later obtained his Master's degree at Univrsity of Oregon in 1962.

In 1958 Mr. Smith coached gymnastics at Sherwood High School for one year; then he moved to Clackamas where he coached wrestling, football and gymnastics for three years. Madison was next for Smith where he has had a P.I.L. championship wrestling team and this years' frosh football champs. One interesting fact about Mr. Smith's career as a wrestling coach is that he has had a State champ every year.

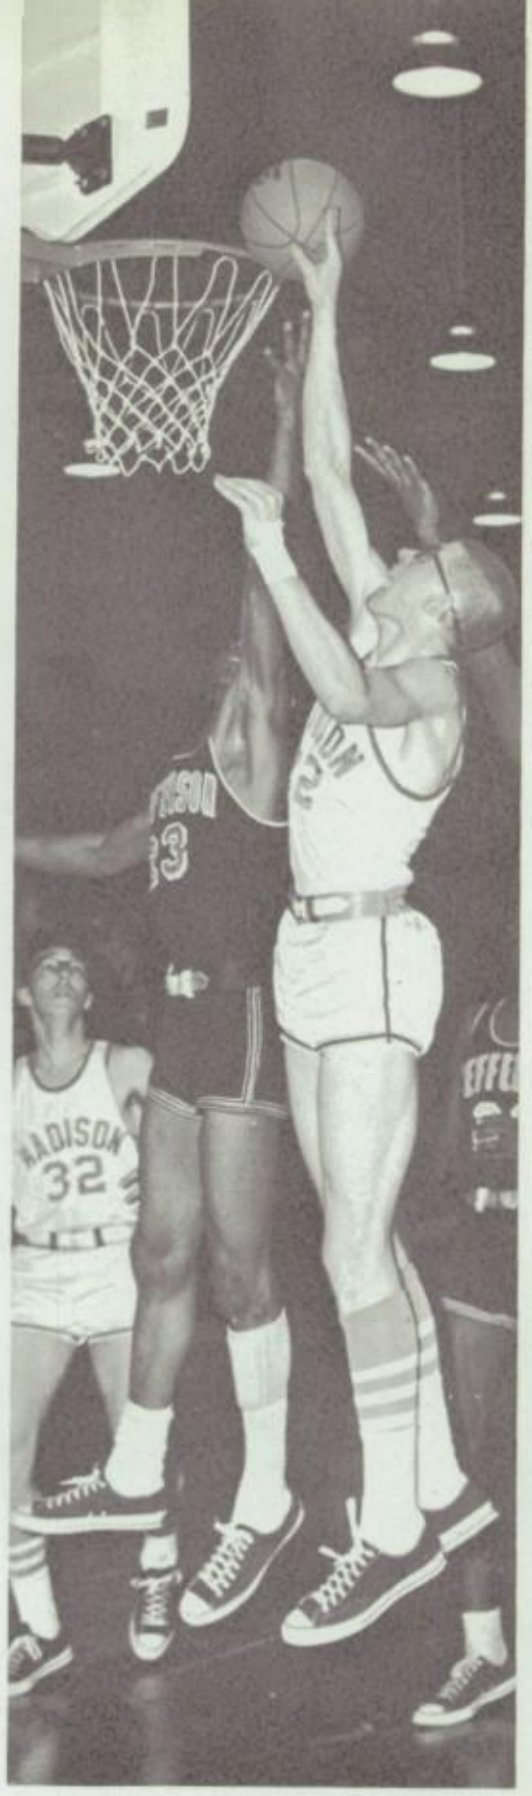
Madison's all-around athlete Rick Wise shoots a jumper from ten feet as one Benson Techman stretches out an arm in an attempt to block the shot. Waiting under the basket for a possible rebound if the shot is missed are Gib Stewart (45) and Tom Alldrin (21).



Tom Alldrin shows the reason he was picked on the three all-city teams as he dunks the ball in a losing cause against the Jefferson Democrats. Alldrin scored 29 points for his high of the '62-'63 season.

Gary "Squint" Becker (33) prepares to move into the lineup during the Senator's clash against the Techmen. Right in the middle of the battle are the Mads' Jim Hofferber and Rick Wise (with glasses).

Varsity Grapplers Capture City Tourney

Coach Jim Smith's matmen edged favored Benson to win their second straight PIL city tourney crown February 3 at Grant. The Solons overhauled the league champion Techment by eight points. It was the third time in four years that Madison has captured the city meet. City titles were won by Tom Stevens and Jack Selanders. Second place finalists were Jeff Batchelor, Robin Bolton and Rich Thomas. Tom Ogan and Glen Post each won a third place and Steve Overton placed fourth. Final scores for the three day event were Madison, 85; Benson, 77; Marshall, 71; Grant, 58; Cleveland, 50; Lincoln, 48; Wilson and Washington, 40; Roosevelt, 31; and Franklin, 25.

State Team Places Fifth

Junior Tom Stevens skillfully disposed of five state wrestling opponents to grab first place and lead his teammates to a fifth place finish at the two day state wrestling meet at Corvallis. Stevens thus became the second Senator ever to win a state championship. Coach Jim Smith's matmen were 13 points away from first place Lebanon and only two points away from fourth place. Their fifth place finish is the highest ever recorder by a PIL team. Other finishers were Jack Selanders at third place and Jeff Batchelor at fourth.

Coach Jim Smith is hoisted to the shoulders of his victorious wrestling team after receiving the P.I.L. City Tournament trophy.

"A remarkable team"

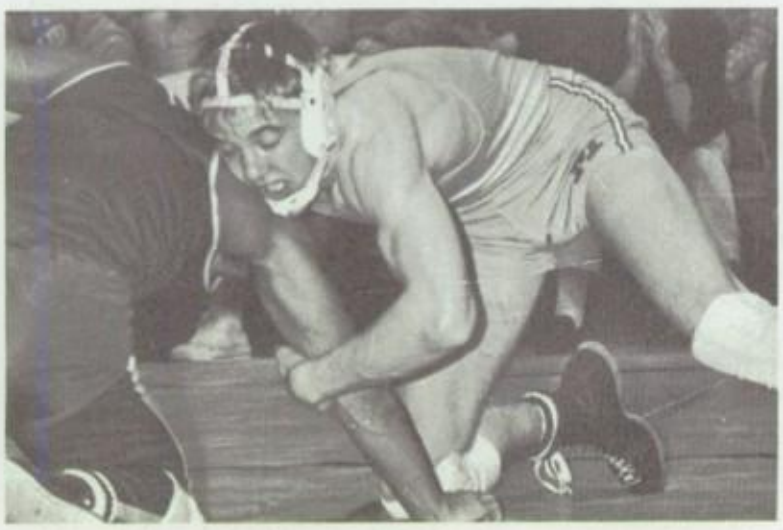
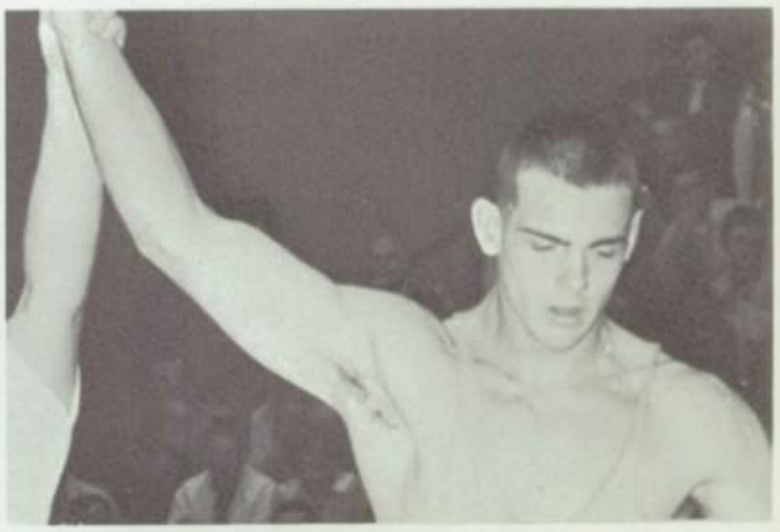
Rich Thomas, at 148 pounds, placed first at the Madison Invitational Tournament, and second in the PIL City Tournament. He ended the season with a total record of 12 wins and 4 losses.

Robin Bolton, at 136 pounds, wrestled his way to a fine 19 - 4 record. He placed 1st at the Madison Invitation Tournament and 2nd in the PIL city meet.



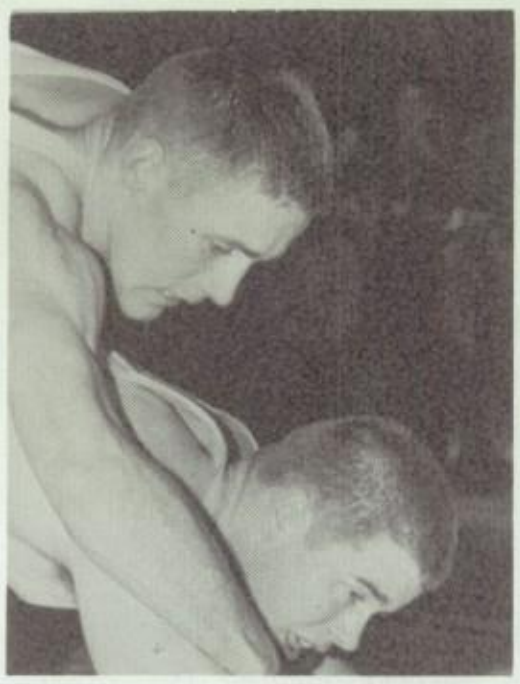
Tom Stevens, at 141, fought his way to state champion. He also placed 2nd in the David Douglas tourney and 1st in the city meet to end the season with a very good 23 - 3 record. He is also a contender for the trip to Japan.

Jeff Batchelor, at 123 pounds, earned a great 29 - 5 record. His places include 2nd in the David Douglas Tournament, 2nd in the PIL city tourney, 4th in the state meet, 1st in the AAU State Tourament, and 1st in the Pacific Northwest AAU Tournament. Jeff is also in top contention for the trip to Japan this summer.



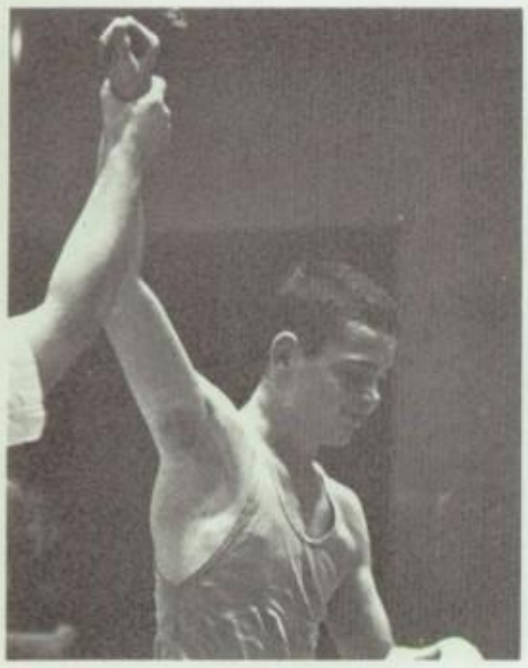
Jack Selanders, wrestling heavyweight, placed fourth in the David Douglas tourney, first in the PIL, third in state, and third in the AAU State Tournament. He had a fine season record of 21 wins and 5 losses. He is also a contender for the trip to Japan this summer.

Harlan Edwards, at 178 pounds, earned a record of 5 wins and 6 losses.

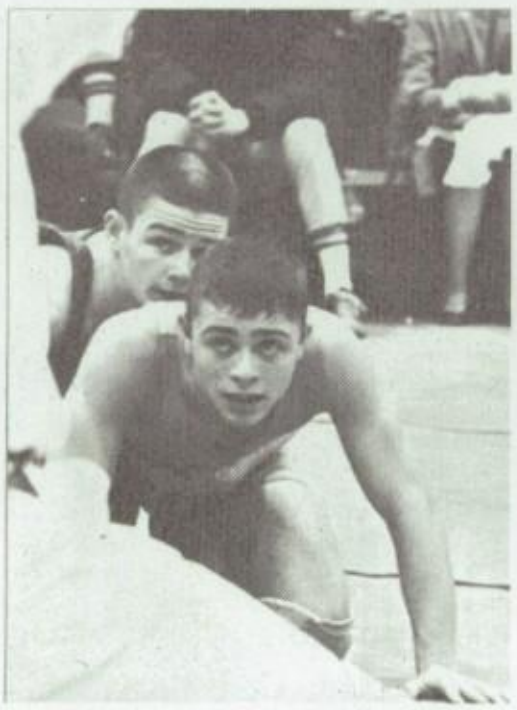


Tom Fowler, at 168 pounds, had a total season record of 12 wins and 2 losses. He placed third in the David Douglas Invitational and second in the Madison tourney. Injuries kept him from competing in the PIL City meet. Last year he placed first in city.

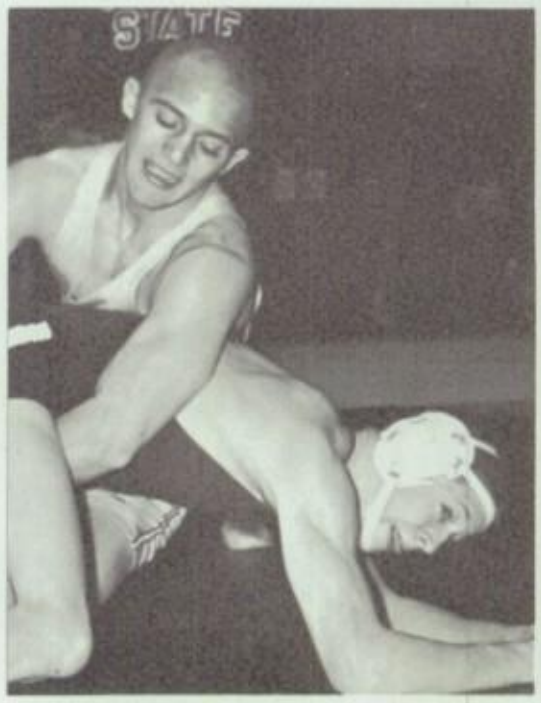
Wally Green, at 191 pounds, earned a total season record of 6 wins and 6 losses.



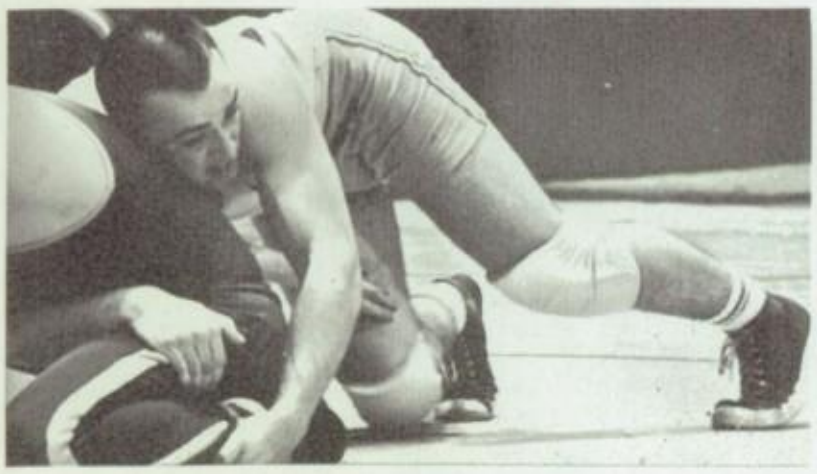
Dan Dunn, at 106 pounds, placed second in the Madison High Invitational Tournament and fifth at the A.A.U. state tournament to end the season with a 14-8 record.



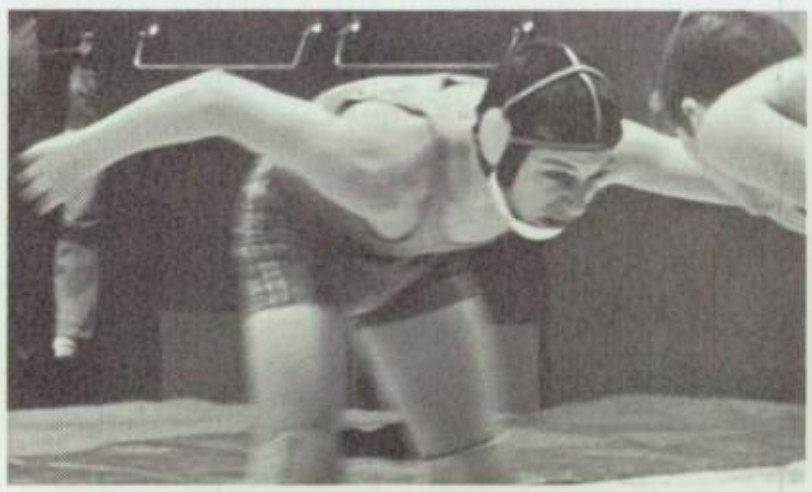
Mike Southard, at 115 pounds, ended the season with an 8 - 5 record, including a second place at the Madison tourney.



Captain Tom Ogan, at 130 pounds, earned a fine 16 - 5 record this year. He also placed 2nd in the David Douglas Tournament, and 3rd in the city meet.



Steve Overton, at 157 pounds, earned a season record of 10 - 6. He also placed fourth in both the David Douglas Invitational Tournament and in the PIL.



Tom Sells wrestling at 98 pounds earned a good 13 win, 5 loss record, including a fourth place finish at the David Douglas

Underclassmen Teams Take City

J. V. Coach Jerry Lyons

The jayvee team, under the leadership of mentor Jerry Lyons, went undefeated throughout all their PIL matches to end the season in first place. There was no class B city wrestling tournament. At the end of its sixth year, the jayvee team now has an incredible record of 59 wins and only one loss.

The freshman wrestling team, coached by Jerry Lyons and Tom Pileggi, captured city for the second time in three years. The hustling Madison squad had place winners in every one of the 15 special freshman weight classes at the Grant High Freshman Invitational Tournament. Among these place winners were six individual champions. They were Jim Briles, Bob Bailey, Dan Roush, Ted Gowan, George Hanby and Bill Zimmerman.

Supporting the wrestling team this year, for the first time, was a Madison wrestling rally. This year's rally was Terry Tellert, Greg Lynott and Kurt Larson.

Most spirited Solon girls (from bottom to top), Deanna Helzer, Diane Disselhorst, Lana Kemp, Brenda Schmitz, Twila Kyer, Sue Strom and Pat Stone worked out yells and routines for football games. Performing with them were, left to right, Greg Lynott, Kurt Larson and Terry Tellert. The boys started something new in the P.I.L. as a wrestling rally introducing and cheering Madison wrestlers at all the matches.

Coach Bill Wiitala's Senators closed out the first half league standings tied with Jefferson for the lead with each team possessing indentical 9-1 records. In the regular meeting between the two leaders, however, the defending champion Senators lead by stylish Rick Wise, defeated the Democrats 2-0.

In that contest, as in numerous others, Keith Lampard delivered the fire-power as he poled a Jack Humphrey fast ball onto Thompson Avenue to acount for the Madison runs.

The only blemish on an otherwise perfect slate was Franklin's 11 inning, 3-2 marathon win.

Defense has been the key for the Mads with Wise, Lampard and Steve Chamberlain pitching air-tight ball.

The infield of Tom Alldrin, Harold Smith, Ron Lucas and Dave Schacher has been very stingy in issuing runs.

Fly chasing experts Phil Bushman, Tim Farra and Wally Linder have done creditable jobs.

All in all these boys along with a few others add up to another championship squad.

As the record plainly shows, the varsity team has had a very poor season and has not managed to win a single dual meet. The reason for this lies in lack of experience because of the lack of seniors on the team. More than half of the varsity positions were filled by underclassmen. Though the varsity team has met with constant defeat, the experience they are gaining will prove invaluable next year since most of the team is returning. Expectations for a fine team next year are also heightened by the fine records of the freshmen and J. V. teams this year.

"We can stand to take a few knocks for experience."
—Coach Mockford

Spectators shield themselves from the cold rain and wind which accompanied several meets this year.

The first annual PIL-Metro Relays were held at Madison this year. Madison, however failed to place in the meet.

Junior Bill Stuart (above left) placed well in the mile run this year. He is a strong runner and will imrove by next year.

Sophomore Doug Tonn (above center) doubled in both the 880 and mile. Being a sophomore he has two years to improve.

Senior Bob Ladum (above right) was top man in the mile and placed well in the 880. He was responsible for making the mile the biggest point-getting event.

Freshman Don Hart (above right) aided in the high jump. He is the only freshman to make the varsity team this year and should place well in years to come.

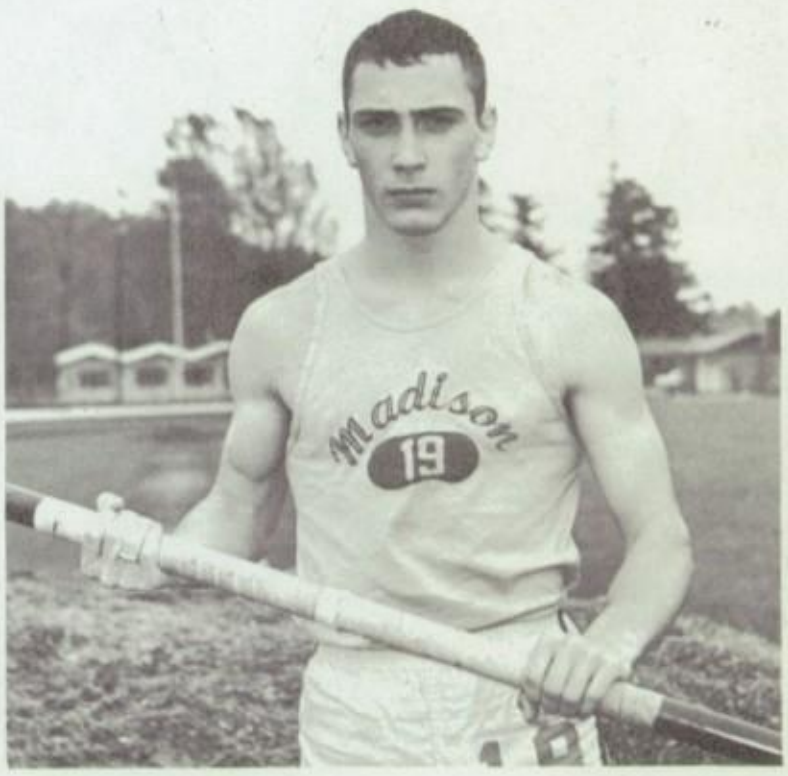
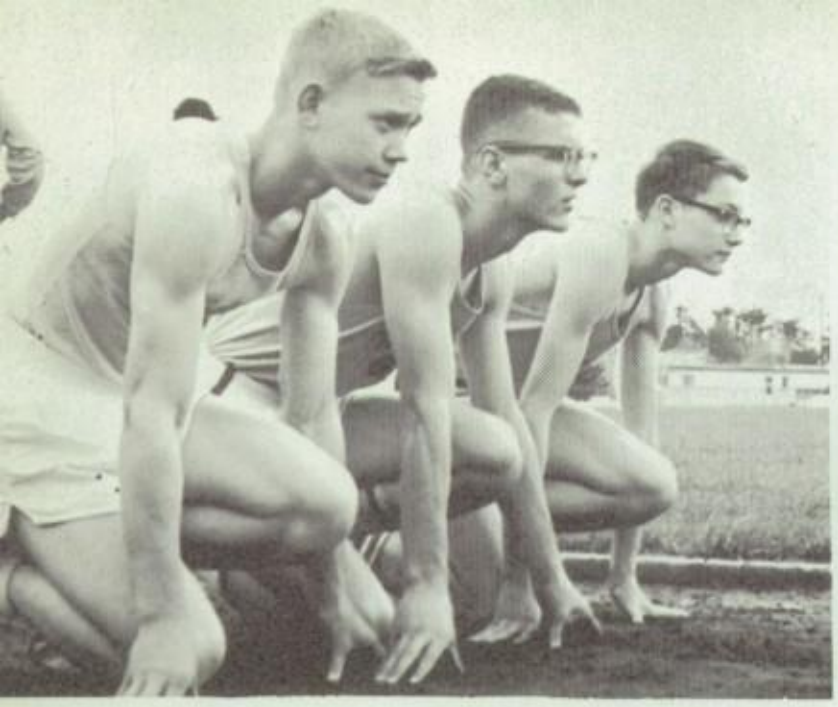
Junior Ray Delano (above right) was the best man in the broad jump this year. He also ran the 100, 200, and in sprint relays.



Junior Greg Etchinson was the only varsity pole vaulter this year. He should vault well next year.



Sophomore Paul Buescher (far left) placed well in the 100, 220, and broad jump. He was also a member of the 440 relay team.

Sophomore Will Passmore (3rd from left) was top man in the 220 this year, and also anchored the 880 relay.

Senior Dick Curtis (immediately left) ran not only all the sprints, but occasionally helped out in the 440 and broad jump.

Junior Jack Woody (near left), in his first year in track, ran very well in both the 880 and mile.

Senior John Fuller (left) got the needed points in the 880 this year. He also anchored the two-mile relay team which won its heat in the PIL-Metro Relays.

Junior Gary Jackson (above left) was the outstanding man in the 440 this year. He is expected to do very well next year.

Senior Henry Owen (above center) specialiezd in the 440 this year, but also ran in the 100, 220, and sprint relays.

Senior Mark Farris (above right) added depth in the 440 this year. He did very well since this was his first year in track.

Senior Jack Selanders (above right center) was top man this year in the shot put. He also helped out on the discus.

Junior Paul Post (above right) added depth in the shot and is expected to place well next year.

Senior Jeff Aronson (right) was a strong man this year in both the high and low hurdles.

Senior Tom Hopton (right center) also was a fast man in the highs and lows.

Senior Jim Hofferber (far right) added depth in the low hurdles and the high jump.

Beautiful Prom Last of Year's Dances

Seniors and their dates danced at Madison's traditional Senior Prom, held June 9 and titled "Deep Purple." Grand decorations and special dress, as well as the many activities before and after the dance, made this an evening to remember always . . . a fitting end of the high school career. Organization of "Deep Purple" was done by Phil Parks as general chairman, with the help of Mike Landfair (decorations), Jodie Smith (refreshments), Gail Nordlund (bids), Sue Klann (publicity), Jim Zachor (hosts and hostesses), Gayl Bryson (entertainment), Jeff Brickey (coat room) and Bart Whalen (clean-up), and their committees. Pictures at the right show the Joe Dardis band members playing for dancers, Gil Ferguson and Nancy Cleghorn at the refreshment table, and some of the couples standing between dances.

Good Crowd Attends Baccalaureate Services

Retiring Principal Stephen E. Smith was the first among four persons to address the large audience. Services commenced at 3 p.m. on Sunday, June 10, in the school auditorium.

The main address at the Baccalaureate Service was given by the Rev. Daniel E. Taylor. The Minister of Rose City Park Methodist Church spoke on "Graduating in the School of Life." Other speakers were Mr. Smith, Jan Orkney and Larry Derr, seated on stage in front row. The choir also sat on stage in front of the majestic replica of Mt. Hood.

Attendance at the reception that was held in the cafeteria after the services included many friends and relatives of the 427 graduating seniors. The PTA served refreshments which were appreciated by all on the warm Sunday afternoon.

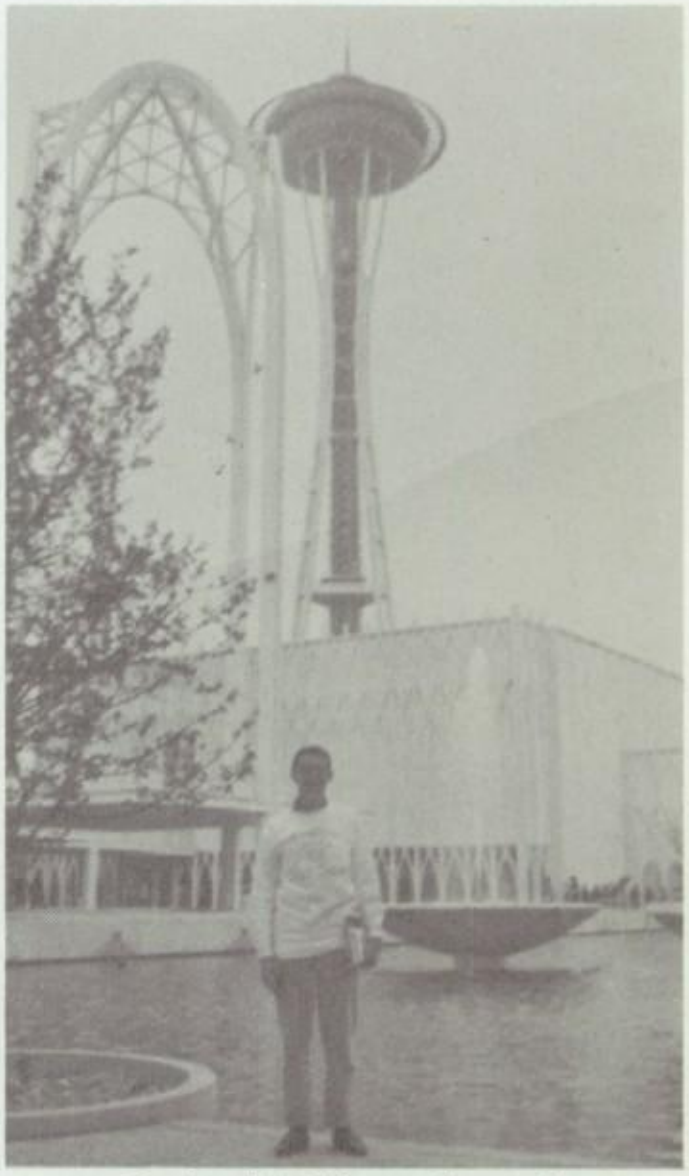
Tinho's course of study at Madison included American History, English, Physics, Senior Social Studies, and Speech. Here the likeable South American boy enjoys glancing through the 26-page senior edition of the Constitution in reg on the morning of May 25.

Back home in Sao Paulo, Brazil, the Montezzo family poses happily awaiting the return of their oldest son. Tinho departed Portland on June 17 via bus for the east coast and was to arrive home on July 18. Students interested in corresponding with Tinho are given his address: Virginio Montezzo Neto, Av. Arnolfo Azevedo, 40, Sao Paulo 4, S.P. Brazil. His telephone number is 51-8737.

At the Family Festival the Brazilian exchange student displays his unusual gun fire dexterity. Part of the Dads' Club profits is used to assist the financial burdens of the exchange students each year.



During his 10 months at the Bill Waugh residence Tinho visited many of the tourists' attractions of the Northwest. The famous Space Needle at the World's Fair serves as a background for a snapshot of Tinho taken by the Waughs in the spring.

Princess Kay Takes Part in Rose Festival

One of the many duties of Madison's princess is the planting of the rosebush by the turn-around. Helping Princess Kay perform this office is Principal Stephen Smith, PTA President, Mrs. George Bolton, and Royal Rosarians Mr. Hubert Good, Mr. Howard Ritter and Mr. Lyle VanDyke.

One of the main attractions ot the Grand Floral Parade was the Queen's Float. Here, riding in regal splendor, can be seen Princesses Reidun Meldal, Joan Stambaugh, Martha Anderson, Pamela Asbury, Queen Cherie Lee Viggers, and our own KAY BRUNO.

Senior Dick Thornburg leads the Madison band up Broadway while marching in the Rose Festival Grand Floral Parade on June 15.

Parade watchers on the corner of Broadway and Alder Streets in downtown Portland had an opportunity to listen to the 65-piece Solon band.

On Saturday, May 26, the school band participated in the Gateway Fun-o-rama Parade.

Taming of the Shrew Presented on May 25

The fair Bianca, Doris Ludwig, younger sister of the Shrew, contents two of her many suitors, Tranio (Chuck Houston) and Lucentio (Tom Kelly) who cannot win Bianca's love until her elder sister, the Shrew, is married.

The characters and production staff of the show includes:

Katharina.....Emily-Jane Manning
Petruchio.....Chuck Green
Baptista.....Rick Laird
Vincentio.....Dave Hargis
Lucentio.....Tom Kelly
Gremio.....Jack Barr
Hortensio.....Bernie Robinson
Tranio.....Chuck Houston
Biondello.....Jim Truax
Curtis.....Olin Clark
Grumio.....Harold Baird
Bianca.....Doris Ludwig
The Widow.....Annette Lasater

Assistant Directors.....Valerie Barnes, Jim Truax
Tech Director.....Ben Mallery
Program Chairman.....Marilou Honeywell
Makeup Directors..Carole Proctor, Diane Brothers
Publicity Chairman.....Eunice Jensen
Ticket Manager.....Sandy Walkington
Business Manager.....Doris Ludwig

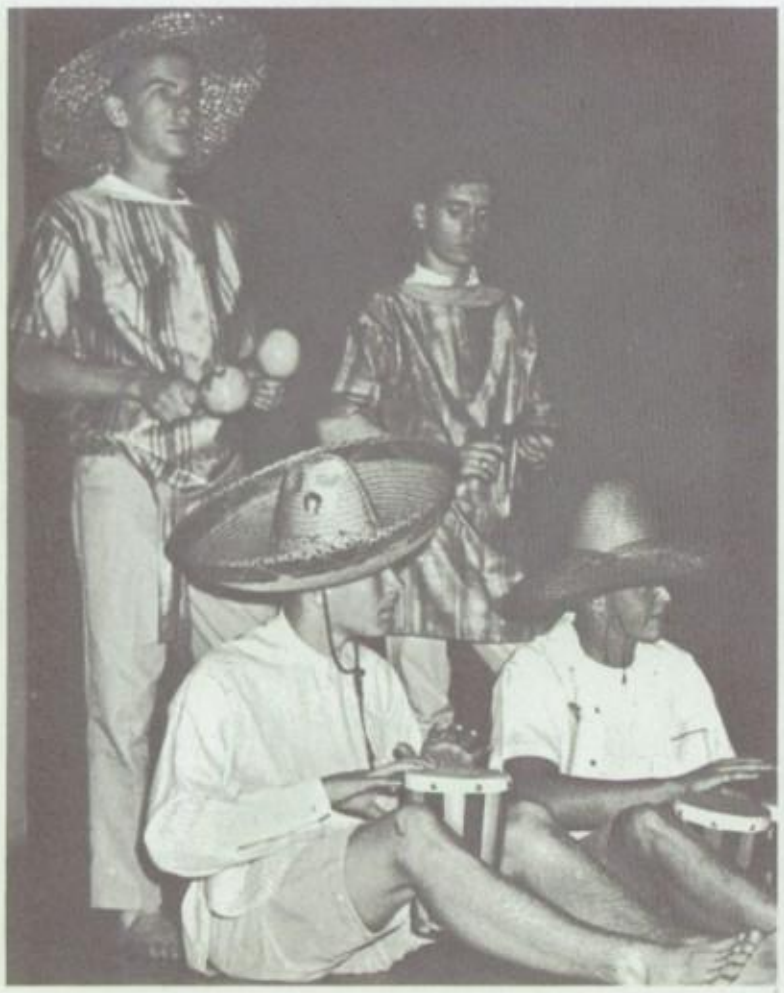
Kate's (Emily-Jane Manning) pleading is ignored by her determined husband, Petruchio (Chuck Green) who mocks disdain at the garments the Haberdasher (Ron Paddock) is showing. Petruchio's servants express appropriate amazement at their master's madness. (Kneeling, left: Harold Baird; Standing right: Olin Clark).

"I'll cuff you if you strike again!" bellows Petruchio (Chuck Green) as he swings Kate (Emily-Jane Manning) over his knee ready to spank her for her naughtiness.

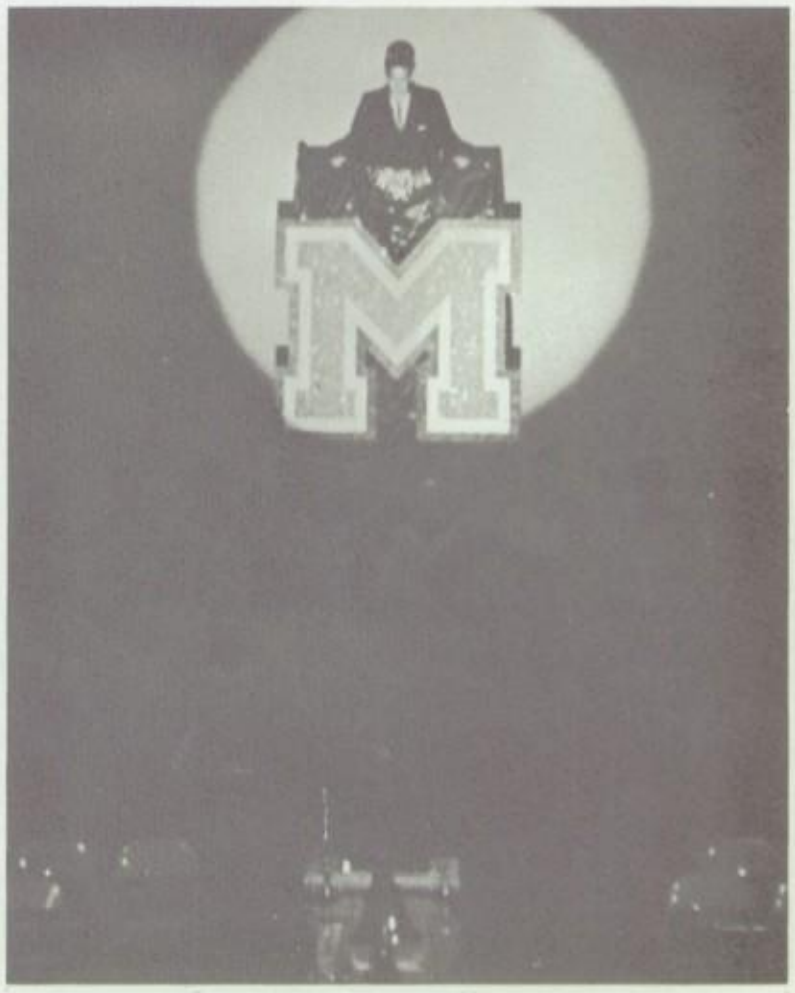
Year-end Concerts Held By Music Departments

Principal Stephen E. Smith exercised his musical hand as he directed the band in a march at the instrumental concert held on Monday evening, June 4.

Band president Linda Lee presents a trophy on behalf of the orchestra and band to director Norman Street. Watching the proceedings is orchestra president Sharon Loghry. The special inscription states, "In appreciation to an outstanding music director and friend, Mr. Norman M. Street, from the Madison High School band and orchestra, 1961-62."



Madison's Chansonnettes (30 girls) were accompanied by four Senator musicians as they sung "Serenata" before approximately 600 people at the spring choir concert held on June 8. Five choral groups consisting of 278 students performed. Mr. Joe Edmiston directed the evening program.



As the senior choir sung "I Am an American" junior Tom Fowler read emphatically the famous poem atop a high platform. This was a part of the year end assembly which featured the installation of new student body officers, foreign exchange student Virginio Tinho Monetezzo's farewell message, and the student retirement party for Principal Smith.

Smith "Specials" Highlight Retirement

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen E. Smith pose by oil portrait of Mr. Smith done by Mr. Duffield, Dads' Club member.

On June 1 Mr. and Mrs. Smith received congratulations at last farewell sponsored by the Dads' Club and P. T. A.

The faculty held a banquet on May 29, called the "S. E. S. SPECIAL," honoring the retiring principal. Beaming proudly over his special "card" Mr. Smith gives thanks to the entire school personnel. Seated from left are Mrs. Smith, Mr. James Blake, Mr. Gerald Exley (behind Mr. Smith), Mrs. Blake and Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf.

Senior Girls Honor Mrs. Metcalf

On May 17 the senior girls held a farewell party in the auditorium for their retiring counselor, Mrs. Luella Metcalf. Jan Sahleen played a piano selection as Mrs. Metcalf was escorted down the aisle by Mr. Stephen E. Smith. After being led to the throne placed on the stage in her honor, Girls' League President, Dixie Bailey, and Mr. James Blake, crowned Mrs. Metcalf, saying that "she would ever remain queen in our hearts." Madison's princess court entered on stage and curtsied deeply for the reigning queen. Marilou Honeywell and Kathy McCuddy presented Mrs. Metcalf with a corsage and a gift from the senior girls. Refreshments were served afterwards and a tiered cake was given to Mrs. Metcalf.

Spring Sports Banquet Honors Smith, Exley

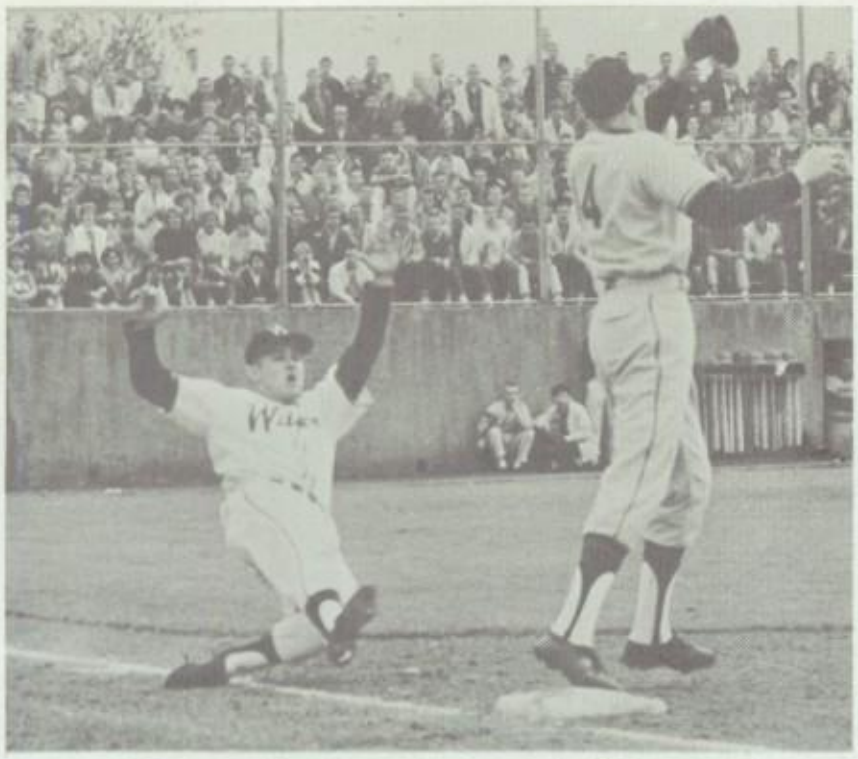
Larry Hardy, a high jumper, receives the outstanding fieldman trophy from Mr. Smith.

Mr. Gerald Exley is hard pressed for words as he thanks the Executive Council for the "Gerald Exley Athlete of the Year Award." The retiring athletic director also received a large blanket on Thursday evening, May 24.

Mr. Stephen Smith thanks the banquet guests for a gift given to him in honor of his retirement. The blanket in the upper right bears the names of all the coaches that have served under him at Madison. Mrs. Smith looks on approvingly.

Mrs. Sue Bushnell presents Linda Vollstedt with the trophy for the outstanding girl golfer.

Bob Schuler and Ron Olsen receive the Dads' Club trophy for outstanding trackmen from President Kai Theilade.



Plenty of action was seen in the special playoff game for the official PIL crown on May 18. First sacker Tom Alldrin reaches for the ball in time to nab a Wilson batter attempting to slide into first base.

Solon Jim Walsh lined a foul ball down the left field line in the early innings in the 3-1 win over the Trojans. On the deck is catcher Miles Bell.

Solons Capture Diamond Crown

"They've played some bad games this season but it seems they always come through in a pinch." Those were Madison coach Bill Wiitala's remarks about his select nine after they whipped Wilson 3-0. Because the Portland Interscholastic League baseball championship is shared by both Madison and Wilson the win earned the Mad team the playoff berth in the Oregon A-1 high school baseball playoffs.

The Solons earned their opening run in the first inning when a single by Jack Taylor sent Dick Ogan across the plate. A free pass put Ogan on first. The Senators picked up a second run in the third inning when Ogan scored on a throwing error. Keith Lampard scored the last run in the fifth on another Trojan bad throw.

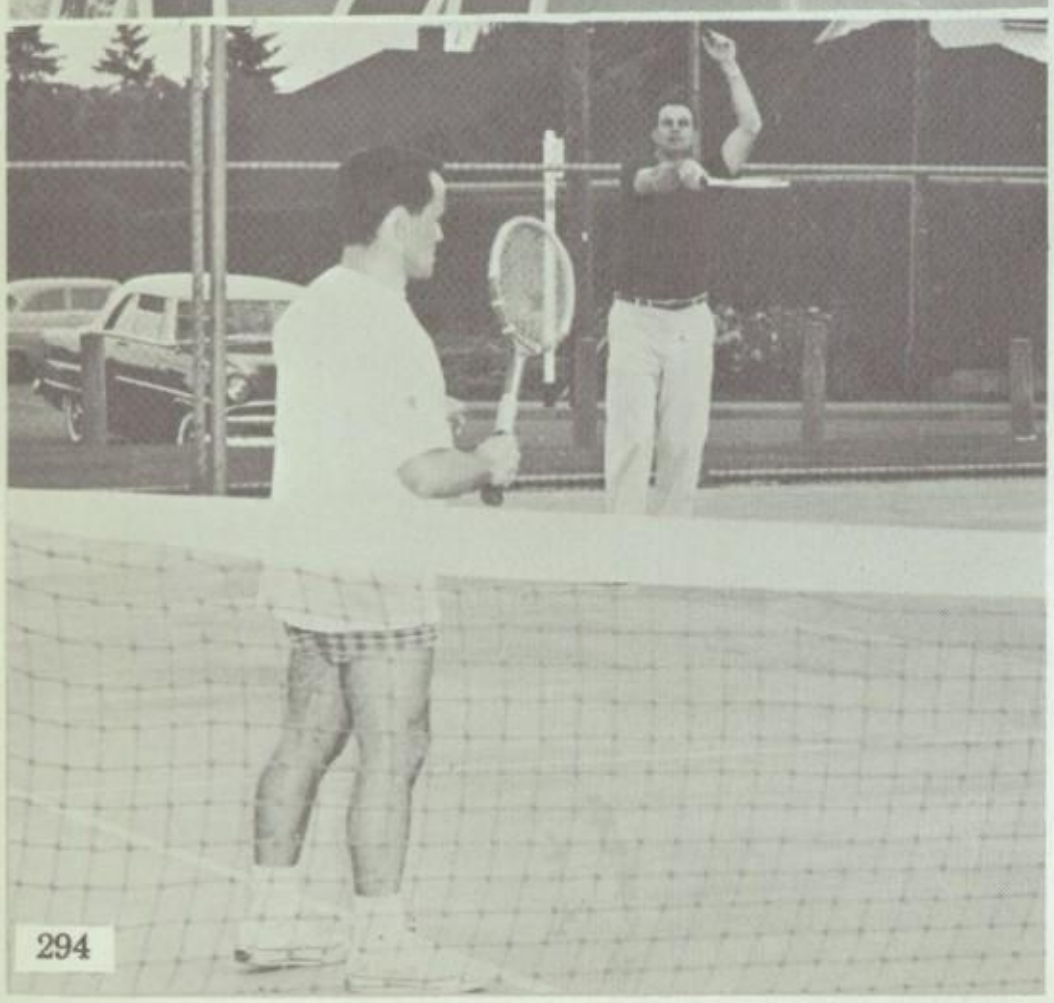
Deserving much of the credit for the win was Madison's senior righthander Ron O'Halloran. O'Halloran went the whole distance allowing only one hit. Although Madison ended up with a co-PIL championship, the win over Wilson left no doubt as to the better team.

FINAL PIL STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Madison	18	3	.857
Wilson	17	4	.810
Jefferson	14	6	.700
Grant	11	9	.550
Marshall	10	10	.500
Lincoln	10	10	.500
Franklin	9	10	.474
Washington	8	12	.400
Cleveland	6	13	.316
Benson	3	15	.167
Roosevelt	1	15	.063

Overjoyed with the "big victory" was the Senator ball club as they gather around hurler Ron O'Halloran who pitched a one-hitter.

A huge crowd had plenty to cheer about especially the Solon supporters who attended the contest at Lents Park.



Year-end activities included the events pictured here: Student Body President Dean Franciskovich presented the Victory Bell of Madison High School to the rally squads at student body officer installations on June 6. The 1962 Federalist was distributed to seniors at a special class meeting during a school afternoon. Proudly looking at the new books are John Elliott, Sheryldean Fernley, and Steve Dunn. The picture at the left shows coaches Smith and Mockford practicing for the annual matches between the faculty and the boys' tennis team. This supplement to the '62 Federalist was planned by the yearbook staff before the end of school, and was completed during the summer. Pictured here are photographer Doug Potts, editor Lynda Hamilton, and assistant editor Georgianne Holsheimer, Steve Overton, Jim Hallas, Leonard Angermund, Doug Tonn, and Gary Hewitt, photographers, Frances Grant, Kathy Etchison and Teri Applegate assisted in the production. Mr. Robert Hughitt and Mr. Joe Kovach, advisor, also worked on this project.

GROWING FEET REQUIRE SPECIAL SHOES

How often do you see youngsters completely quiet, or, for that matter, just walking? Rarely, of course! Most active children run, bounce, skip, jump, or stomp—to the tune of about 30,000 steps every day! This means that their feet require special protection and adequate support, and they require shoes that will fit properly yet allow for growth. Pied Piper shoes are built specifically for children. A few of the reasons why Pied Pipers are beter for your youngsters' feet are outlined. We think you'll agree that it makes real good sense to be "Pied Piper" to little feet!

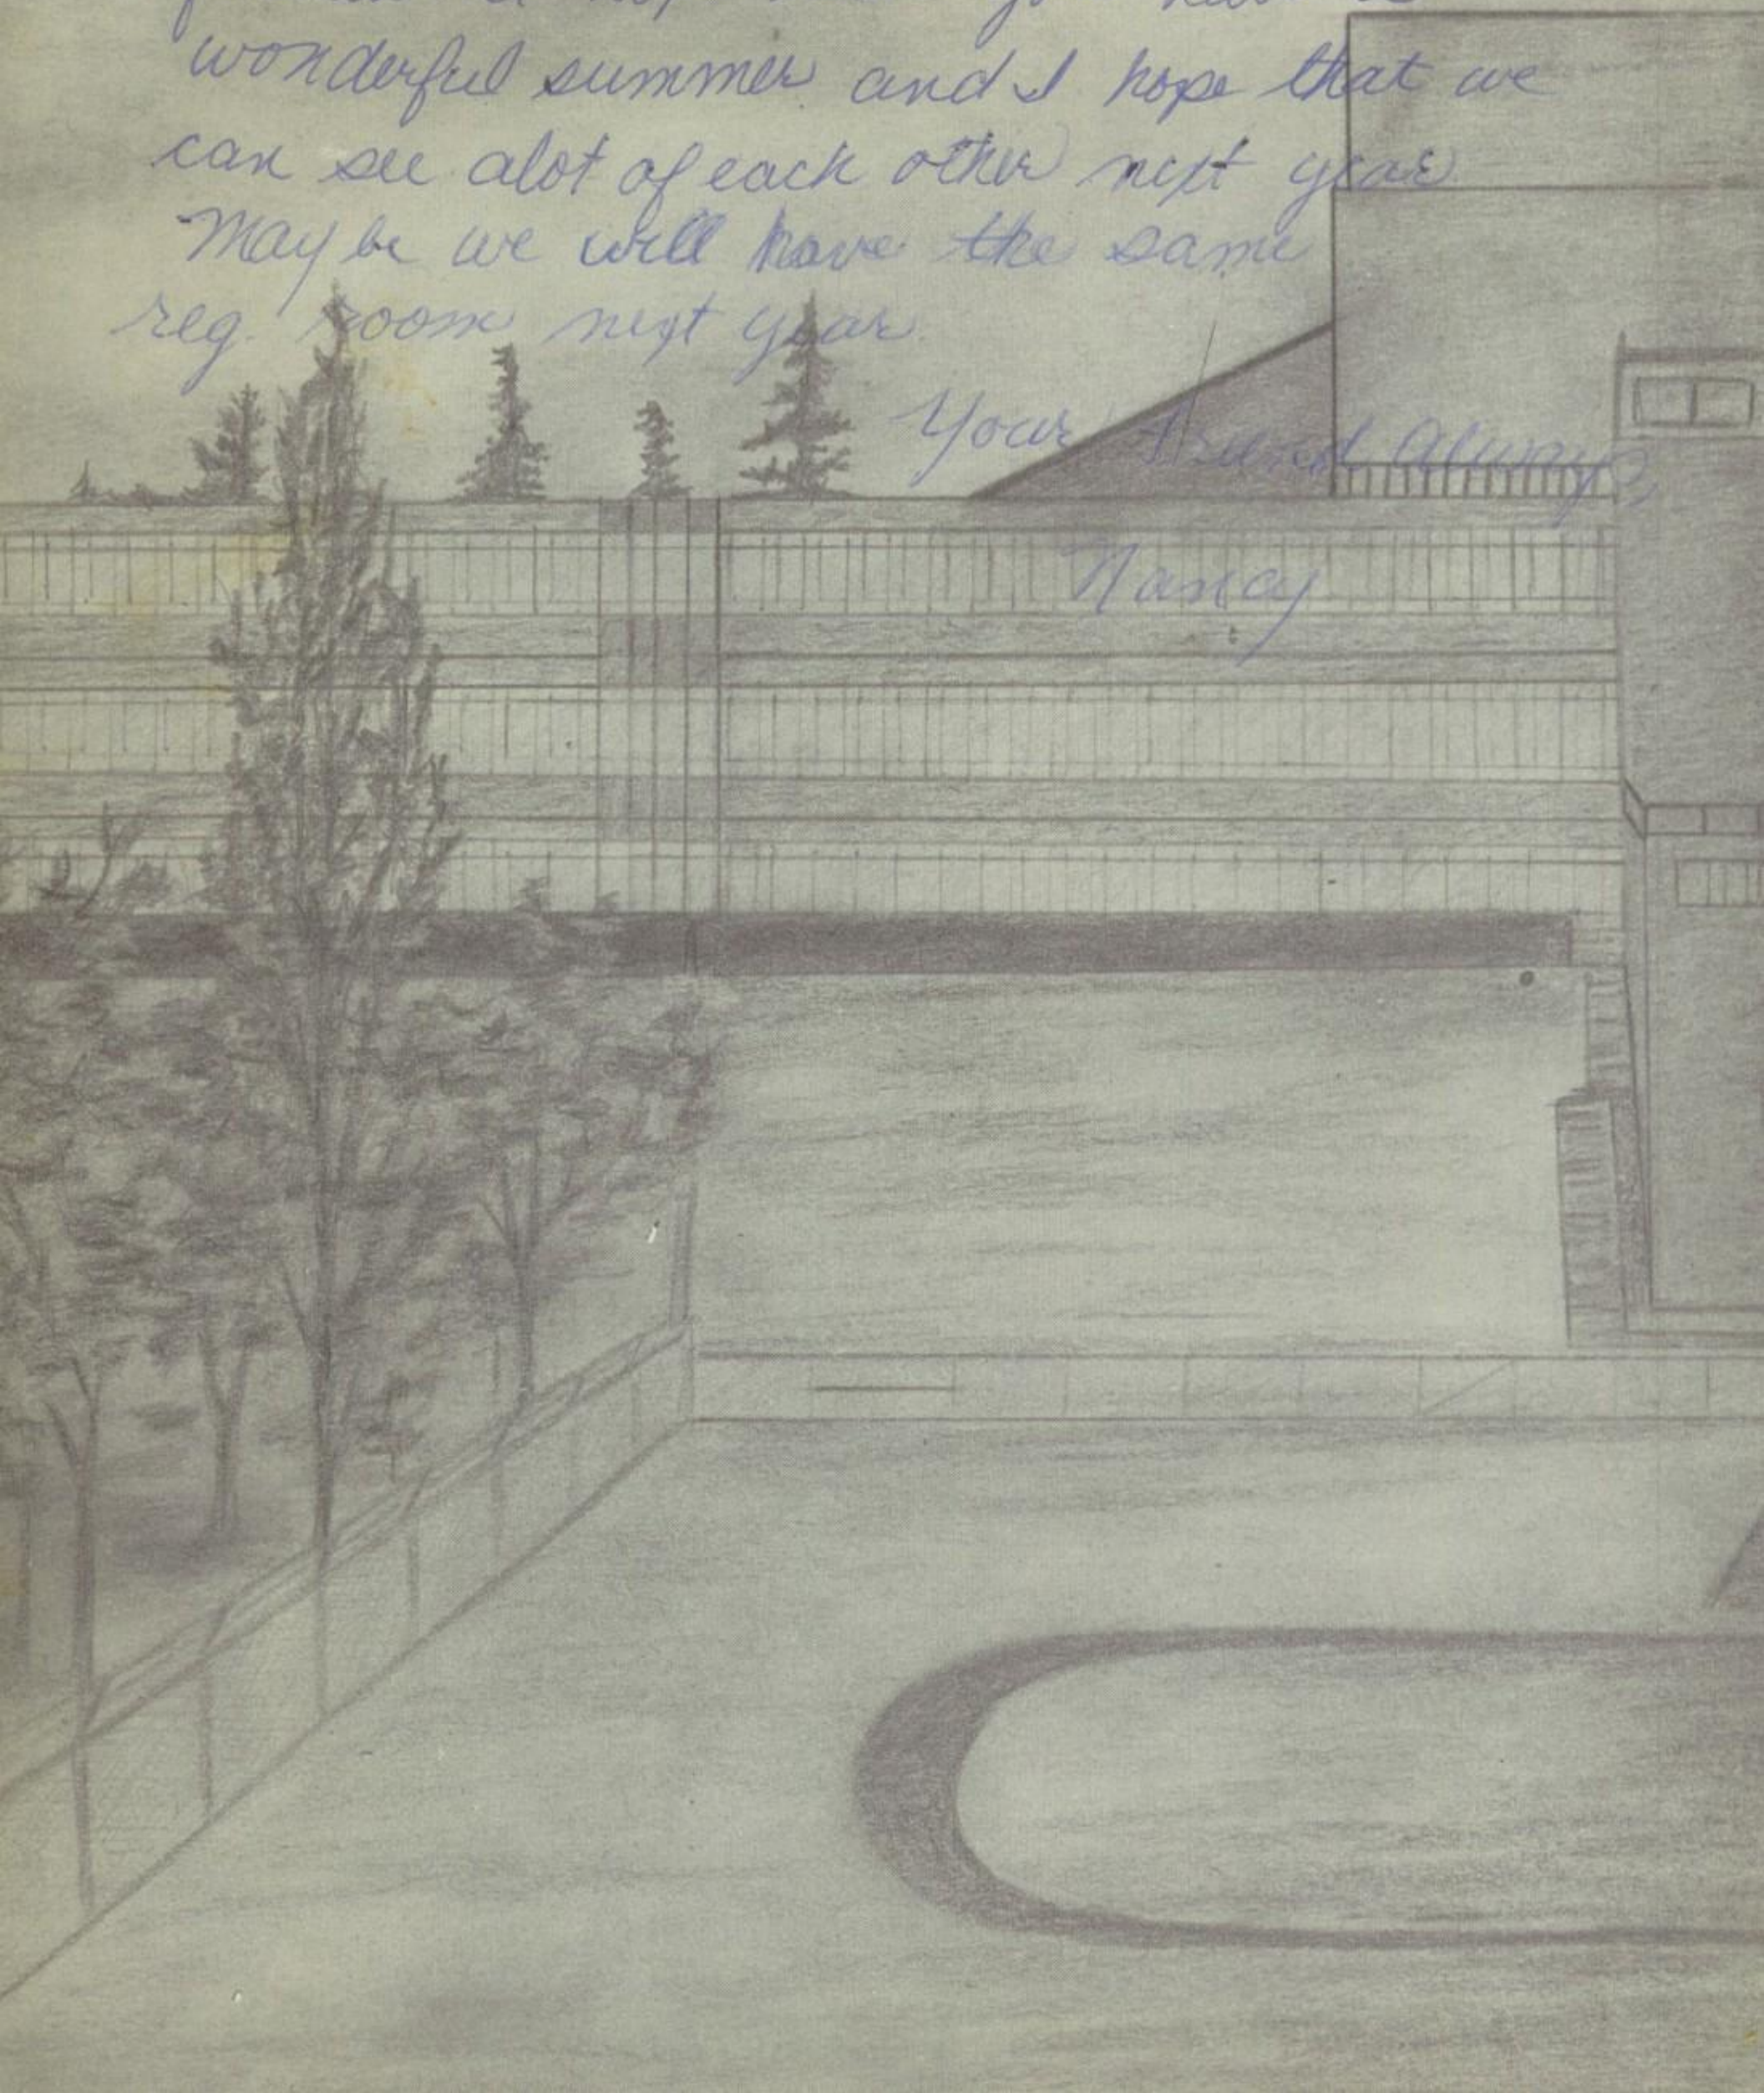
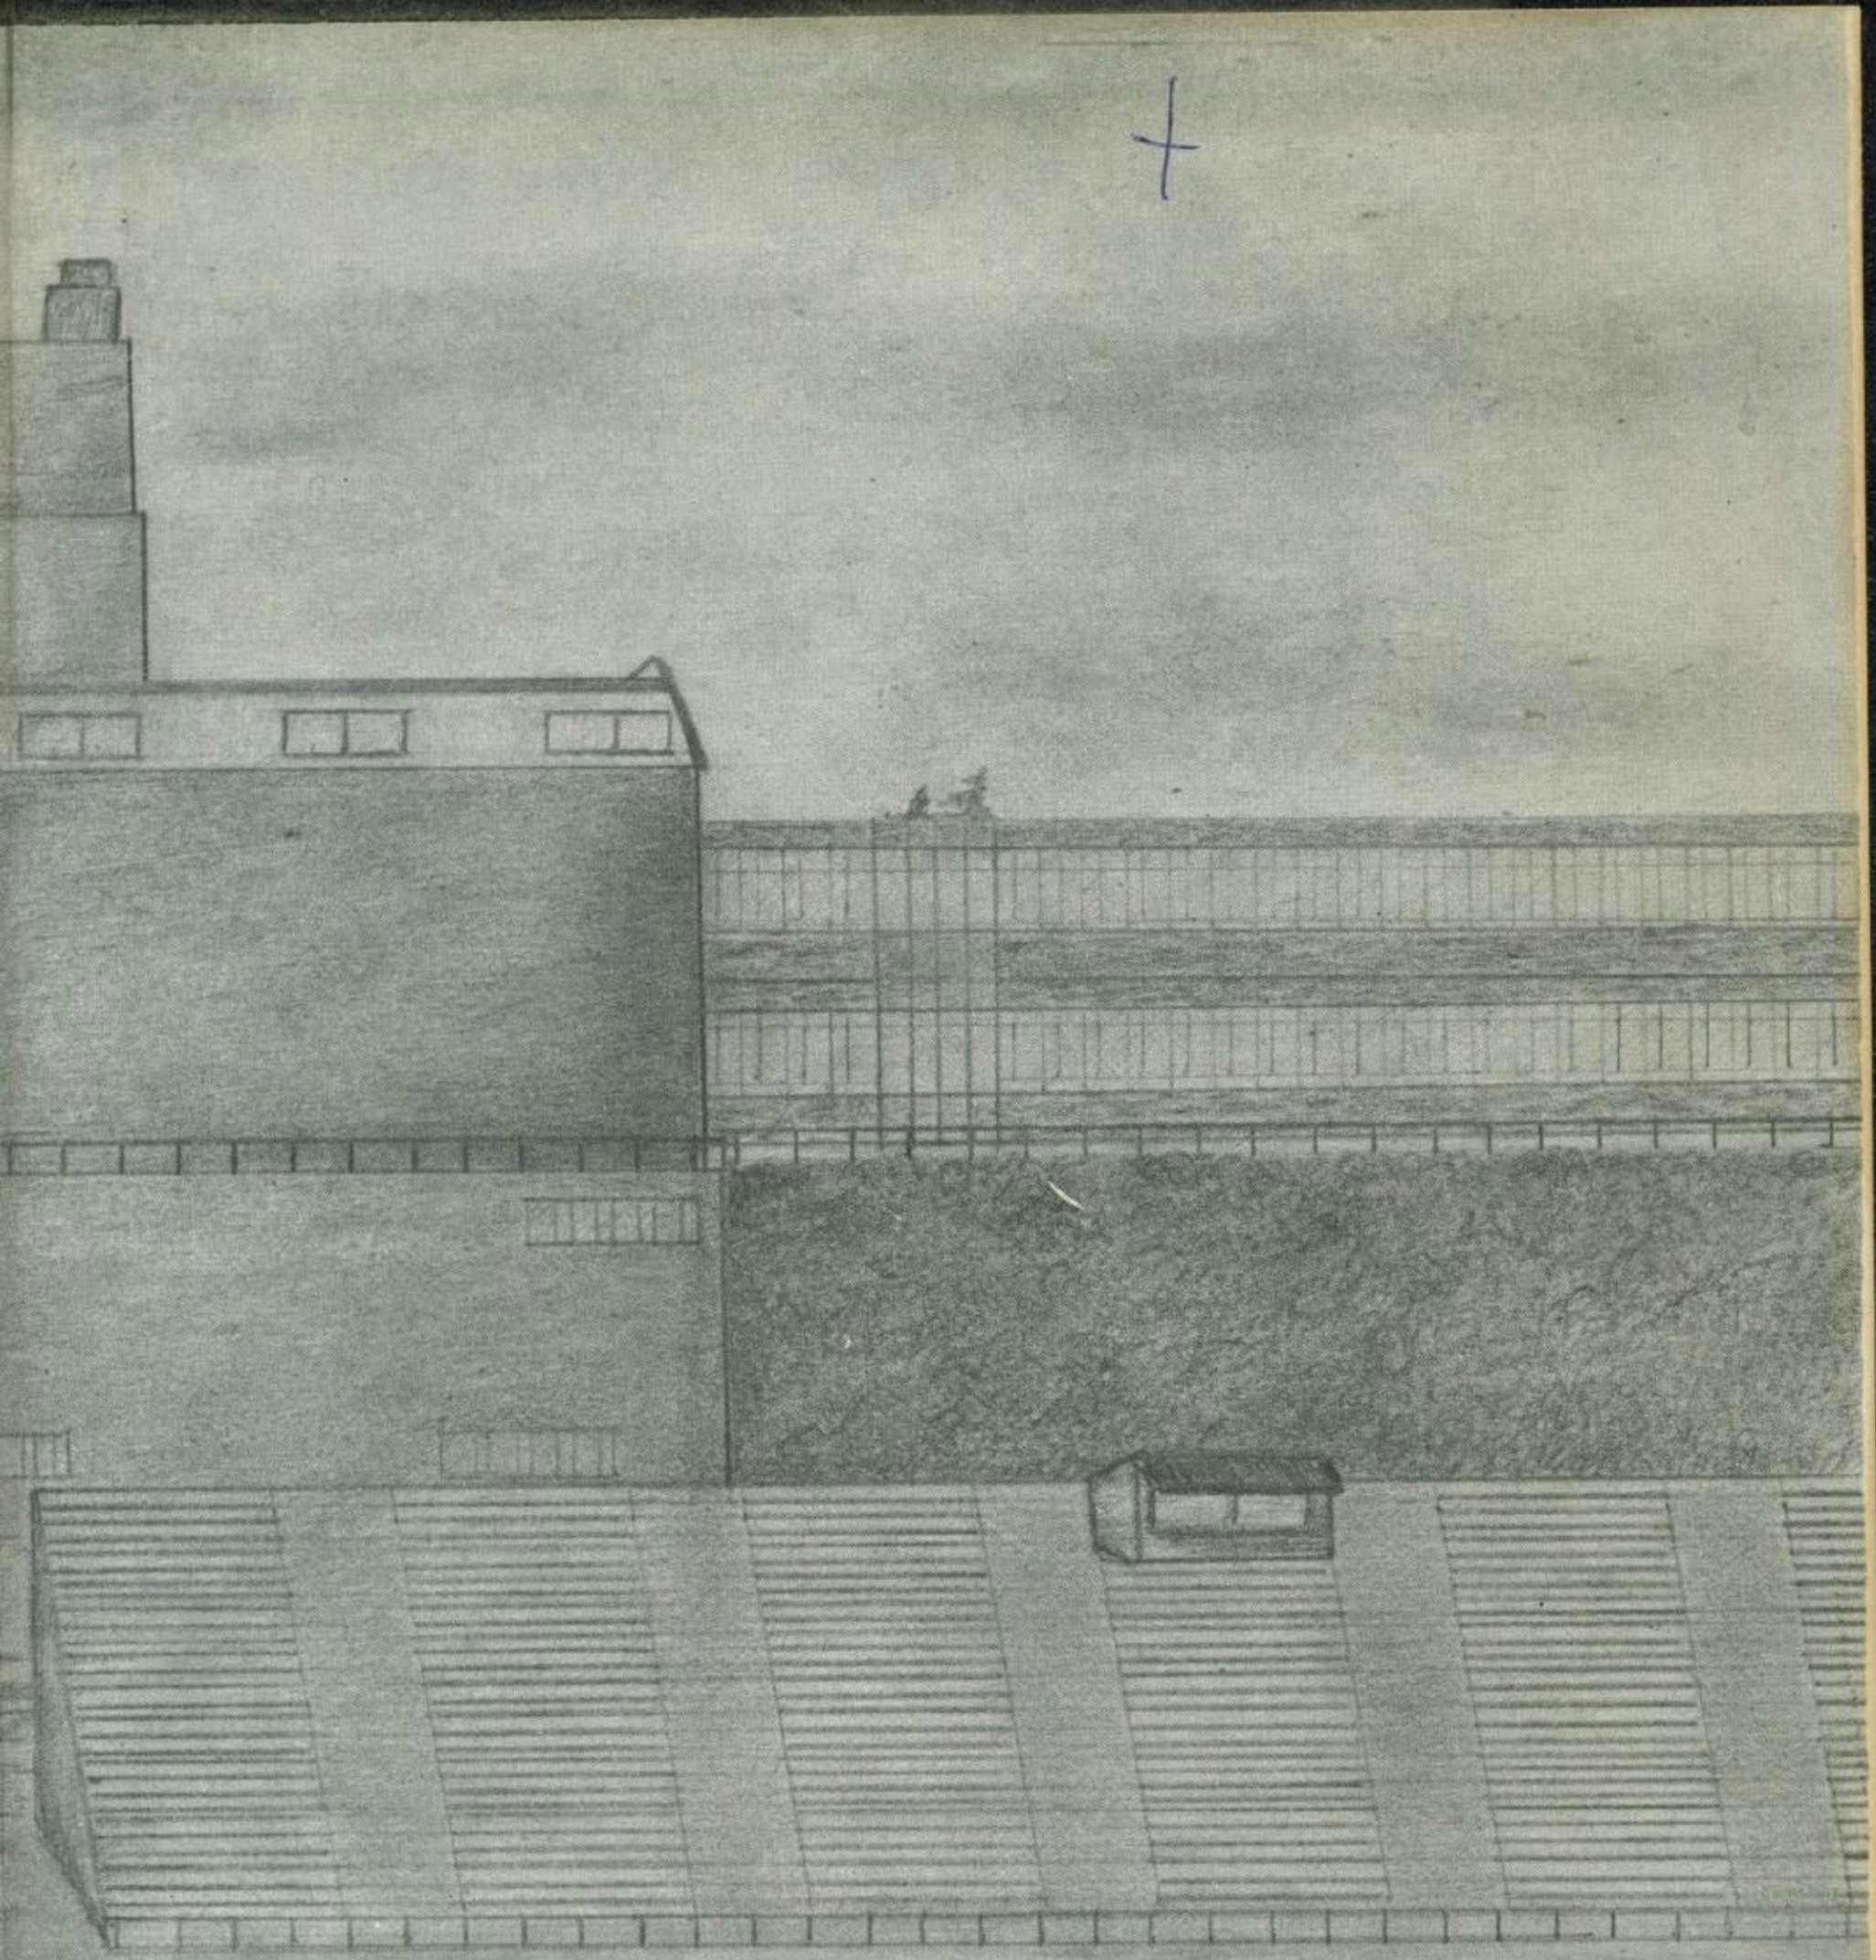
I have more memories than if I were a thousand years old.

Dear Ronnie,

May we always be the best of friends. I hope that you have a wonderful summer and I hope that we can see alot of each other next year. May be we will have the same reg. room next year.

Your Friend Always,




Nancy
